25,000 of This in Allegheny and 105,000 in City of Philadelphia.

ENORMOUS LEAD IN LEGISLATURE

Republicans to Gain Congressmen and Concede but One to Enemy.

OTHER GUESSES LARGER

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Public Ledger Building, PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.

Chairman M. S. Quay tonight, by wire to Republican state headquarters here from Beaver, made public his estimate by counties of the vote which will be polled tomorrow. After liberally discounting reports received from the 67 Republican county chairmen, making personally a careful and conservative analysis based upon actual sentiment as it exists today, he predicts that Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker's majority over ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison will not be less than 163,435.

Insurance Commissioner Durham and other Republican leaders predict even larger majorities than Col. Quay, Mr. Durham's bed-rock figure being 175,000.

That the fight is over and a great Republican majority won is conceded by the Democrats and insurgents here. Mr. Wanamaker's organ, the North American, threw up the sponge this morning, and the others have accepted the situation with painful resignation.

There are many surprises, to the outsider, in Chairman Quay's estimate. W. F. Wright, the senator's secretary, who gave out the figures, said they were very conservative.

Gave Democrats Every Doubt.

In all counties where the chairman had seemed to be doubtful as to results, or where, apparently, there was an exaggeration due to enthusiasm, the Democrats had been given the best of the estimate.

Col. Quay expects big Republican majorities in Philadelphia and Allegheny counties. Here he makes the margin 105,000 and Allegheny is credited with 25,000. There will be no disappointment in the Quaker city, and as both factions in Allegheny agree as to the count, the senator is confident he has not been too optimistic there.

Democratic leaders in Philadelphia have lost heart. They were never sincerely for Pattison. Judge Gordon gave the signal to sulk, and they will sulk to the limit. Pattison's election would eliminate for all time the Wanamaker-Gordon faction, and as they have for this campaign annexed Donnelly and Ryan, it is easy to anticipate why the ex-governor will not make much of a showing in his home city.

Judge Pennypacker is given the solid northwest, in Quay's estimate. Armstrong, Beaver, Blair, Butler, Crawford, Fayette, Somerset, Franklin, Mercer, McKean, Venango, Warren, Washington, Indiana, Jefferson and Westmoreland are bunched in the prosperity group. Where losses are expected they are noted; but the gains are more in evidence.

Pro-Elkin Coolness Discounted.

The same policy is followed throughout by Quay. In Chester, Lancaster and Dauphin counties, all strongly Republican, an allowance is made for alleged disaffection due to the disappointment of those who so earnestly supported the candidacy of Attorney General Elkin. Quay does not believe the ticket will be cut anywhere by Elkin's friends, and Gen. Elkin says he knows it will not be; but this is a campaign contingency, and with all others of like character evidently has been considered in the final estimate.

In the anthracite group material gains are claimed. That the returns will justify them is generally conceded. The miners know of the work done by President Roosevelt. Senators Quay and Penrose in their behalf, and it is only natural that they should reciprocate at the polls tomorrow.

The congressional and legislative forecasts, made by Chairman Quay, also are most inspiring to Republicans. He concedes but one Democratic congressman—that in the Lehigh-Berks district—and regards as most hopeful the chances of the Republican candidates in the other three districts contested. While the senator gives no figures on the next legislature, he is absolutely confident it will be decisively Republican, a two-thirds majority in each branch being claimed. This result would insure the election of a Republican United States senator to succeed Penrose.

Chairman Quay's Statement.

Chairman Quay's analysis is as follows:

In 37 counties, outside of Allegheny and Philadelphia, the estimates received from the respective county chairmen show a net gain of 21,858 votes for Pennypacker over the total vote cast therein for Barnett. In the remaining 28 counties, outside of Allegheny and Philadelphia, the estimates show a net loss of 12,884 votes compared with the number received by Barnett, making a total net gain for Pennypacker, outside of the counties of Allegheny and Philadelphia, of 8,104 votes.

Barnett's majority in the state was 116,488, of which Philadelphia contributed 39,604 and Allegheny 15,493. The other 63 counties gave Barnett a majority of 24,331. Add to this the total net gain just mentioned, 8,104, as estimated for Judge Pennypacker, and our ticket will come to the counties of Philadelphia and Allegheny with a majority of 32,435. These are conservative estimates, and the total Republican majority outside of the counties named may largely exceed the figures given.

Add to this estimate that of 25,000 majority reported from Allegheny and 105,000 in Philadelphia, and you will see that the total majority in the state for Judge Pennypacker is likely to be in the neighborhood of 165,000 votes.

As to the congressmen, we will hold our own and are likely to gain several districts. But

CITIZENS WILL WIN WITH EASE

County Ticket Will Lead by a Majority of at Least 30,000.

FIGURES OF LEADERS

The people of the county will today decide whether their government is to be wrested from machine control. There is every indication that the gang is to pass out of power and at the same time a handsome majority will be given to the Republican state ticket.

The following estimates of the probable result of the voting were made last night:

Dr. Evans, Citizens party county chairman—"The fusion ticket will have a majority in the county of at least 30,000. Pittsburgh will contribute one-half of that majority."

Recorder Brown—"Samuel W. Pennypacker, the Republican candidate for governor, will have a majority of not less than 30,000 in this county. The whole Republican ticket will win in the county."

Samuel J. Graham, chairman of the Democratic campaign committee—"The Democratic-Citizens ticket in this county will win out by a big majority. I look for a majority for Pattison in Allegheny county."

A Few Reminders.

While personal violence from the police need not be expected, the thugs hired by the ring may seek to provoke violence, but all that will be necessary is to inform the two headquarters of the fusion forces and the arrest of intimidators will follow. These are a few reminders which the fusion campaigners desire to impress on the men who will cast their ballots today:

Don't forget to vote as early as possible.

Don't wait until you have finished your day's work before voting, for the street car lines may break down and the voter find himself miles from his district just before the closing of the polls.

Don't let any unauthorized person handle your tax receipt. None but overseers and election boards have a right to see your receipt. Watchers and heelers have a right to challenge, but they are not the judges of your qualifications as a voter. That matter rests with the election board.

Don't listen to ring emissaries who may tell you that your tax receipt is not genuine. All the tax receipts obtained from the Citizens and Democratic headquarters are genuine, having been issued either by the county delinquent tax collector or the county treasurer.

Don't fail to prove your right to vote, if you are challenged. Swear in your vote, if, although not registered, you have lived in the district 30 days and have a tax receipt.

Don't bet on the election at the polls. It may be reported to the election board, which may try to disqualify you for betting.

Don't scratch your ticket. Vote straight. Intelligent voters know how to scratch a ticket, but election boards are often stupid and may throw out such ballots when the count is made.

Pay No Attraction to Circulars.

The "campaign circular" of the ring has not ceased. It is likely that voters will receive by mail or messenger this morning notices tending to intimidation, but these should be disregarded. In addition to the circulars issued by S. P. Conner, the delinquent tax collector, and to which the name of John C. Haymaker, the district attorney, was attached, other circulars were distributed yesterday. No names are signed to them, but they emanate from the machine headquarters in Sixth avenue.

One circular was sent to the machine watchers. It illustrates the truth of the charges that treachery to the state Republican ticket will be condoned and even approved by the ring. It reads as follows:

A hint to Republican watchers.

You will find on election day many Republicans who will want to vote for Pattison. You should persuade them to trade their votes with Democrats, thereby securing an extra vote for the Republican county ticket by both voting in the Ballot Reform column.

Such trade between Republicans and Democrats will secure many votes for the Republican county ticket and make its election certain.

Then in heavy, black type is the following:

If you are sincerely interested in the successes of the Republican county ticket, as you should be, you will pay close attention to this suggestion of trading votes.

The other circular is as follows:

Suggestions to Democratic watchers:

As a Democratic watcher it will be your duty to get all the voters you can for the Democratic state ticket. If you will do your duty as a loyal Democrat you will find aid in electing Robert E. Pattison governor, whose election unquestionably depends upon the result in Allegheny county.

You hold the key to the political situation in Allegheny county, as the factional fight between the Citizens and Republicans makes Democratic votes valuable. We are not so much concerned whether the Citizens, Bigler Republicans, or the organization Republicans win, but we are interested in the success of the Democratic state ticket. You should compel the Citizens to vote for the Democratic state ticket and it will be your duty to do so.

You will also find many Republicans more anxious for their county ticket than for their state ticket. Trade with the Republicans by giving them a Democratic vote for their county ticket in exchange for a Republican vote for Democratic state ticket. This can be done by both voting in the Ballot Reform column, which contains the names of Pattison, Guthrie and Nolan.

By the aid of your great influence Pattison can and will be elected.

He who reads these two circulars will hardly doubt the charge made by the Citizens party that the ring is solely interested in the success of the county ticket and is willing to cut the state ticket in any way that may insure votes.

ON THE BRINK.

LAURA BIGGAR IS NOW IN JAIL

She Gives Herself Up, but Is Unable to Find Any Bondsmen.

A LAWYER WITH HER

Freehold, N. J., Nov. 3.—Laura Biggar, the former actress and chief legatee under the will of the late Henry M. Bennett, accompanied by her counsel, Samuel Frankenstein of New York, arrived here this afternoon. The party proceeded to the sheriff's office and found Deputy Sheriff Myers in charge, to whom Mr. Frankenstein said:

"Sheriff, I have brought Miss Biggar to surrender herself."

The deputy was taken by surprise and at first refused to receive the woman. No warrant had been issued to the county authorities for her arrest.

It was ascertained, however, that a local warrant was in the hands of Constable Hullek of Asbury Park, which had been issued at the time of the sensational developments in the case at Long Branch last August. That officer was telephoned for and arrived with the warrant at 5 o'clock.

Miss Biggar in the meantime was taken to the county jail and assigned quarters in the hospital ward. She bore herself with more or less outward composure; but close observers detected considerable suppressed excitement. She was dressed in a becoming gown of black and wore a black picture hat and veil. She carried a small leather grip.

Considerable curiosity was expressed here over her surrender. No indictment is yet on file against her, although the grand jury is expected to return one next week.

Lawyer Frankenstein, in explanation of the woman's action, said:

"We understand that there was an indictment against the woman, and inasmuch as she did not desire to be a fugitive under the alleged conspiracy charge, she concluded to give herself up. She will not be able to give bail, but we did not want to subject her to the indignity of an arrest."

It is not believed here that the authorities would have attempted to arrest the woman. There has been no disposition to do so.

Dr. Hendricks and Justice Stanton are looked upon as the chief actors, it is said, in the alleged conspiracy, and the authorities, it is believed, would have been satisfied with their arrest. These men are still in jail, being unable to procure bail.

Miss Biggar's action in surrendering is said to be an effort to arouse sympathy in her troubles. It is thought she will be released on her own recognizance on Thursday.

The trial of the criminal charges against the alleged conspirators will take place here next month.

THE LAW PROTECTS ELECTION OFFICERS

The ring may try today to have election officers arrested on warrants sworn out before ring magistrates. The law plainly says that no election officer can be arrested except on a warrant issued by a county court or judge, and the Citizens will see that the law is observed.

NO ORDER FORWARDED TO PROSECUTE QUAY

District Attorney Merely Instructed to Probe Civil Service Charges.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 603 Fifteenth St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.

At the department of justice today an emphatic denial was given to the Democratic report in Philadelphia that the district attorney there has been instructed to proceed criminally against Senator Quay for alleged violation of the civil service law as set out in President Roosevelt's recent circular on the subject.

The district attorney at Philadelphia has simply been instructed to investigate the charges in order to determine whether or not criminal proceedings would be in order. No report has yet been received from him.

The friends of Senator Quay feel no alarm over the investigation. An attempt was made about a year ago to obtain an indictment against Representative Dick, state chairman of Ohio, for an exact similar affair, but the grand jury declined to regard his action as an offense against the civil service law and did not return a true bill.

Mr. Dick held that he did not solicit contributions, but simply notified Republicans that subscriptions would be received; and that is exactly the action taken by Senator Quay as chairman of the state committee.

DYING MAN WEDS.

Immediately After Ceremony He Wills $1,000,000 to His Bride and Awaits the End.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Knowing himself to be almost at the end of his life, John Gibson of Cincinnati was married yesterday to Henrietta C. Wolfe of Providence, R. I. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. Gibson made a will, by which he leaves to his wife most of his estate, valued at more than $1,000,000.

When the sufferer signed the will it was not believed by those about him that he would live through the night. The excitement, however, seemed to give him renewed strength and today he was stronger than before in a month. The rally can hardly be more than temporary.

Lulu Glaser Ill.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Miss Lulu Glaser was seized tonight with an attack of acute indigestion and was unable to appear in "Dolly Varden."

EARLY AND RELIABLE RETURNS TO BE GIVEN BY THE GAZETTE

Interest in the election today, after the polls are closed, will be centered in the result. It is in this that The Gazette will excel, as usual. Elaborate arrangements have been made for giving this information to the public in the form of early and reliable bulletins. Special wires will furnish the news, which will be bulletined on The Gazette building in Fifth avenue, the telegraph companies and press associations being employed in this service, which will be supplemented by The Gazette's trained correspondents in all the news centers of the country. In addition, The Gazette's leased wires to New York and Philadelphia will fully cover the situation in those cities. If you want to know all about the election results you must read The Gazette bulletins tonight and The Gazette tomorrow.

REPUDIATED BY FELLOW-PASTOR

AT PUBLIC MEETING

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cincinnati, Nov. 3.—One of the most sensational scenes that ever occurred in any meeting of the Evangelical alliance, a body composed of every minister of every Protestant church of Cincinnati and vicinity, was enacted today.

The Rev. Dwight L. Pratt, pastor of the Walnut Hills Congregational church, was elected the new president of the alliance. Shortly after he took his place on the platform the Rev. Dr. David McKinney, acting secretary of the organization, pastor of the First Reformed Presbyterian church, rose and asked of the Rev. Mr. Pratt:

"Much emphasis being laid on the claim that the leading candidate on the state ticket of one of the political parties (Democratic), the Rev. Herbert Bigelow, is a member of the Congregational church, to which denomination you belong, will you kindly tell this alliance what is his relation to the Congregational church of which you are a member?"

The Rev. Mr. Pratt rose quickly and responded:

"The present pastor of the Vine street Congregational church was never a Congregationalist. I do not know if he is even a Christian. I concede that he is great in argument. When he became the pastor of the Vine street Congregational church he subscribed to the creed, and as soon as he was made pastor he denounced the creed from the very platform of the Vine street Congregational church.

"He remains pastor of the church, because the greater part of the old congregation have withdrawn and left the church in the hands of a new constituency. The name Vine Street Congregational church is retained because the body was incorporated under that name and does business under that name.

"I publicly repudiate any relation of the congregation of which I am a member with the Vine Street Congregational church as it now stands. Its pastor was never affiliated with any congregation of this denomination in the state, so far as I am aware of, and never was a member of our church.

"I am glad to make this public repudiation. I am pleased to be allowed to make it."

The Rev. Dr. John Pearson, Cincinnati agent of the American Bible society, said:

"I would be glad to have you say that in a way so that it would reach the world at large. Say it to the press."

"I shall be glad to do so," responded the Rev. Mr. Pratt.

There was complete silence and no dissent was expressed by the large body of ministers representing every denomination of Protestants in the city, who showed the approval with which they regarded the whole denunciation. Not a man rose to defend the Rev. Herbert Bigelow.

The Rev. Mr. Bigelow, when informed of the remarks of the Rev. Mr. Pratt, was not disturbed.

"If it was done for political effect," said he, "I think it very poor politics. The Rev. Mr. Pratt has had plenty of opportunity before this time to make similar utterances. Yes, I think he reflects the opinion of Congregationalists generally."

"You are not disturbed about it?"

"Oh, I do not care for what any minister thinks about me and my work here, especially when I remember that 19 out of 22 ministers in Springfield, Ill., the home of Lincoln, voted against him when he ran for the presidency."

BANK STOCK SOLD FOR GOOD PRICE

ANOTHER MERGER

A majority of the stock of the Tradesmens National bank has been sold. The deal was made yesterday and the papers will be signed this morning. One of the large stockholders of the institution is said to be the purchaser of the stock sold. The price paid is $200 per share. The Tradesmens National bank may possibly be consolidated with the Columbia National bank, as the purchaser is said to be favorable to this proposition.

The deal made yesterday is the termination of one of the many rumors which have been afloat in Pittsburgh's Wall street for the past few days relative to the consolidation and sale of several financial institutions.

Just how many shares of the Tradesmens stock have been sold could not be ascertained last night, but an authoritative statement was made to The Gazette that the greater part of the stock was included in the deal. The officials of the Tradesmens bank positively refused to say anything about the deal or give the name of the new purchaser of the stock.

The first rumor that became current the latter part of last week was to the effect that the Columbia National bank was after the stock of the Tradesmens, but this was denied.

An official of the Columbia National is authority for the statement that the new purchaser is favorable to his institution, and that the stock of the two banks may be combined. Another rumor has it, however, that several other banking institutions of Pittsburgh are after the stock of the Tradesmens National and that as yet it has not been decided which bank will get it.

One reason given for the sale of the Tradesmens is that one of the largest capitalized financial institutions ever organized in Pittsburgh will in a few months' time occupy the present quarters of the Tradesmens bank. The formation of this new institution is as yet incomplete, but an application for a charter is expected to be made in a few days.

The new institution, it is said, will include several of the Pittsburgh trust companies and at least two down-town national banks. The jump in the price of the stock of the American Trust Company yesterday afternoon is said to be partly due to the rumor that this organization will be taken into the new merger.

On change yesterday $475 was bid for stock of the Columbia National bank and a small lot of stock was offered for $500 per share. The bid is $40 per share higher than the stock has ever sold for and the jump in price is said to be due to the rumor that the Tradesmens National bank would be consolidated with the Columbia.

The Tradesmans National bank is one of the soundest financial institutions in Pittsburgh. It was organized in 1865 and reorganized in 1885. The present capital is $400,000 and according to the last report to the comptroller of the currency made September 15, the bank has a surplus fund of $200,000 and an undivided profit fund of $50,729 16.

The present officers of the Tradesmens National bank are: President, J. N. Pew; vice president, S. S. Crump; cashier, H. M. Landis. The board of directors includes John F. Dravo, Sullivan Johnson, Oliver F. Scaife, S. S. Crump, L. M. Plumber, William M. Dunlap, J. N. Pew, Jesse R. Leonard, William N. Tayler, W. H. Colvin and Francis J. Torrance.

WEALTHY YOUNG MAN FACES MURDER CHARGE

Accused of Assault Upon a Woman at Waverly, Mass., Ending in Death.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Nov. 4.

A special from Boston to the World says:

The greatest sensation this city has seen for years is likely to be sprung at any moment as a result of investigation into the assault upon Miss Clara A. Morton, who was attacked in the grounds of the McLean hospital, Waverly, Saturday night and died yesterday from the injuries received.

In his luxurious home, surrounded by every comfort money can purchase, with a good social position and every apparent incentive to an upright life, a prominent young Bostonian sits tonight face to face with the knowledge that the police are preparing to arrest him for the murder.

Every avenue of escape but one is cut off, and his friends hope that he will take the only means to save his family the disgrace of his arrest and the subsequent exposures.

The suspect is a comparatively young man, a graduate of Harvard, is connected with a prominent Boston commercial concern and commands great wealth.

Mayor Johnson's Son Arrested.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Loftin Johnson, son of Mayor Johnson, was arrested tonight for exceeding the speed limit with his automobile. He was released on his own recognizance.

SOLELY IN NEED OF A GOOD REST

SEEMS IN GOOD SPIRITS

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.] (Copyright, 1902, by New York Herald Co.)

As Mr. Schwab releases me from the observance of le secret professional, and authorizes me to give you my opinion in regard to his health, I declare that his organism is in excellent condition; that all his organs are sound, but that having worked hard without respite during several years he is solely in need of rest which will permit him to take up the heavy burden of business as formerly. After a period of intense continuous physical exercise, rest dissipates all fatigue and allows of work being resumed with one's strength renewed. It is the same with regard to physical labor. The assertions that have appeared in several papers on the subject of Mr. Schwab's health are, consequently, absolutely incorrect.

ALBERT ROBIN.

Correspondent Visits Schwab.

GENOA, Nov. 3.—(Copyright Cable.)—Such an epidemic of pessimistic paragraphs has lately developed in the columns of the "sensation at any price" section of the American press in regard to Charles M. Schwab's health that, in the interest of truth I have come here to see, on behalf of the Herald and Gazette, what really is the matter with the man whose well-being is of such importance. Newspaper readers in these days tire of "reports." What they want is facts, and the one and only way to get the facts was to see Mr. Schwab in person.

Mr. Schwab had arrived at Genoa on Friday, having put up at a hotel and diligently done the sights of this interesting old town. On Saturday he had for the first time boarded the splendid steam yacht Margarita.

It was a lovely morning when, after a long drive, I reached the Melo Galleta. There the Margarita was moored. In spite of a rough passage from Cowes, the Margarita looks very smart, her sides painted white, her keel and the lower part of her hull picked out with green.

Ideal Place for Resting.

Aboard she was, as I have always known her, clean and neat, her brass flashing back the rays of the brilliant morning sun, and her great, long decks as white as scrubbing could make it.

Yes, Mr. Schwab was aboard, and would be up directly."

While waiting for him I had time to realize what an ideal resting place this is for a man who sought complete repose of mind and body, and how the peace of the place must appeal to a man whose nerves had been racked by the infinite details of gigantic commercial and financial problems. There was not a sound aboard, beyond the peaceful rumbling of an electric dynamo, like the droning of a vast swarm of bees.

"On other occasions we have had a berth further in under the town," said the captain. "We never were so far out before."

But that very fact of being far out accounted for the glorious, refreshing sea breeze which welcomed Mr. Schwab, who so much needed it when a little later he came on deck. And, as the captain had said, it was noisier further in.

A gay party, principally composed of picturesque Italian girls and youths in gay colored Sunday costumes, came out in a sort of worn-out looking felucca, chattering, laughing and exclaiming "Che grande che bella," and so on, and sailed around his yacht.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwab Appear.

The clocks of the distant town were just chiming a quarter before 11, and I was thinking what a wonderful "cure" Mr. Schwab could take here (for, as Prof. Finsen holds, the sun's rays and light are the greatest restorative of vitality and energy known), when a gentleman who reminded me forcibly of Thomas Edison in his younger days emerged from the main saloon, accompanied by a lady in whose kindly features I recognized Mrs. Schwab, who reluctantly quitted her husband only when he came to me to speak.

Mr. Schwab deprecates very much the idea of an interview, but it was an interview we had in any sense—merely a little chat; but above all in importance was the point of seeing him and conversing with and judging of him, mentally and physically.

In view of what has been stated of his condition, his "utter collapse" and so forth, I watched him most closely. My verdict, given with total impartiality and without the slightest fear, is that Mr. Schwab is quite one of the sanest men it would be possible to meet and that within six months he will have recovered his full energies.

"Yes," said he, "I know the papers say alarming things about me. I quite agree it is time those reports were put a stop to once for all. I hope you, through the Herald and The Gazette, will now find means of doing so. Tell me what do they say?"

Insisted on Hearing the Worst.

I replied that the truth might be unpleasant, but that it seemed to me necessary to repeal what had been said.

"Go ahead," Mr. Schwab replied. "I believe in that way of dealing. You can't insult me."

Upon this, without further preamble, I told him as delicately as possible those reports which described him as being in a condition of collapse, mentally and physically, and spoke of "softening of

BETTING FAVORS FUSION TICKET

Judge Penrypacker's Plurality Is Admitted to Be 100,000.

ING'S MONEY IS SCARCE

en Money on Shiras Against Graham Finds No Takers. Citizens Ticket Backed for 10,-00 Majority—Odds for Porter.

Whether the betting on the result of an ction indicates the probable result f the may be among different classes of ens a mooted question. The man op- to betting may allow his prejudices state the mental prejudgment that use to which the bettors incline may e morally the better cause; the man bets may argue that the side which acts the gamblers' money is the one t will win; he who has no bias either y, will be apt to consider the mental state of the better and size up the situation without regard to the morality or immorality of the transactions involved. Men have bet from time immemorial on propositions of all kinds.

Take the present political campaign in Allegheny county: The trend of the betting done by the gamblers shows that they are backing the movement of the forces of morality to win. Men do not bet for sentimental reasons; they stake their money on the chances that promise financial results, whether or not they personally approve the policy of the side on which they bet. That is why the trend of the betting on the election of today is of especial interest, and that is why the non-sporting element may behold with amazement that the cause which they advocate for moral reasons is the favorite of the men who wager money.

Bets Made by John Staley.

One of the best known sporting men in Pittsburgh is John Staley. Staley won a heap of money on the result of last February's election, and he has already wagered $50,000 that the Citizens-Democratic fusion movement will win. In the same way he won money in 1896, by backing the regular organization to win.

"It was very fortunate for me that I bet my $50,000 before the certain result of this election was known," said Staley. "That was three weeks ago. Since that time I have had $25,000 on deposit here at Newell's, to bet that the entire Citizens-Democratic ticket, barring the judge of common pleas and the judge of the orphan's court, will win by 10,000 majority. I have found takers for only $150."

This is a fact: Up to midnight Staley's little fortune stood in Newell's with no takers, except for two little bets, one of $100 and one of $30. Nobody could be found to bet that the machine's county (barring the judges), legislative and congressional nominees would not be beaten by 10,000 majority.

Heavy Odds Against Burke.

To secure takers Staley was obliged, last night, to offer odds, and he bet $4,000 to $700 that the entire Citizens-Democratic ticket, the judges barred, would be elected. Another man bet $500 to $200 that H. Kirke Porter would defeat James F. Burke, the organization candidate for congress. Later Staley offered still better odds, and bet $1,000 to $400 that Porter would defeat Burke.

Organization money seemed to be scarce. One man offered to wager $200 to $100 that Arch Mackrell, the machine candidate for sheriff, would be beaten. There were no takers. One man who believed in the organization's chances to win, put up $5,000 against $6,200, betting that the organization's county, legislative and congressional tickets would win. S. S. Leslie, Jr., bet $200 even that Porter's majority over Burke would exceed that of Larkin over Lewis in the Third legislative district.

Wagers on the State Fight.

Bets were also made on the result of the state election. T. N. Barnsdall, the oil operator, bet $5,000 even with a prominent citizen, that Pennypacker would not have 100,000 plurality in the state, and followed this up by betting $5,000 that Pennypacker's majority in Philadelphia county would not reach 80,000. Fred Newberry took the latter bet. Newberry is betting on Pennypacker, but he is also backing the Citizens party in the county, and he is ready to wager that all the Citizens candidates, except the judges, will win over the organization's nominees.

Democrats have been saying that Pattison will have a majority of votes in the state outside of Philadelphia, but last night Charles McFeely made a good-sized bet that Pennypacker would go down to Philadelphia county with more votes than Pattison.

Even money was offered at Newell's that George Shiras III would be elected to congress over W. H. Graham, but there were no takers. Fred Newberry bet $500 even that Shiras would carry Allegheny city over Graham.

THREE MILLIONAIRES NARROWLY MISS DEATH

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 3.

A six-ton iron column, which was being hoisted to the eighth floor of the Land Title building, slipped from its chain lashings this afternoon and in its plunge to the ground killed one man, injured two others and came near crushing to death a score of persons who were walking along Broad street beneath it.

William L. Elkins and George D. Widener, the traction men, and George A. Huhn, the banker, had narrow escapes.

It was during the luncheon hour when the column began its ascent. A hundred or so persons stopped on the opposite side of Broad street to watch it go up. Nearly half that number were walking directly under the wooden shed covering the sidewalk on which the new building fronts.

The big column slipped and fell against the side of the building high up. John Nodell, a Chicago ironworker, was jolted off a girder on the sixth floor and thrown to the third, striking his head and body against each floor as he fell. The column came down the remainder of the way end first; ripped through the shed over the sidewalk and fell across the street.

The three millionaires were within a few feet of the spot. Mr. Elkins nearest. He turned quickly and ran into an opening in the skeleton front of the building. Mr. Widener and Mr. Huhn followed him. Had they made for the street they probably would have been killed.

Mr. Elkins was badly shocked, but after a half hour's rest in the Union league he recovered.

CALLED SPEAKER LIAR IN CHURCH

Stranger Started an Incipient Riot in Baptist Missionary Meeting.

ROMANISM ATTACKED

C. W. Briggs, Returned Missionary, Denounced Catholic Methods in Philippines—Man in Audience Called Him a Liar.

One of the most sensational scenes ever witnessed in a local church took place during the closing session of the Pittsburgh Baptist association in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church last night. An excited man stood up in the center of the big audience and called the speaker, the Rev. C. W. Briggs, a liar. "You are a liar," he shouted several times in a most excited and bitter manner as he shook his clenched fists at the speaker.

The outbreak came when an allusion was made to the Catholic church and its policy in the Philippine Islands. An auditor took offense at this and sprang to his feet. Several men tried to silence him and make him sit down, among them W. E. Gray of Allegheny, a white-haired man, who sat in the same pew with the disturber. This caused the man to raise one of his fists as if to strike the old man, and others rushed to the scene. Time and again he drew back his arms in a threatening manner and the men who had surrounded him did the same, but no blows were struck.

Resented Speaker's Words.

For several minutes the participants stood in a dramatic tableau and the audience waited with bated breath until the tension was broken by the starting of a hymn in which all joined and the irate individual hurried in spite of vain protests out of the church.

The dramatic incident occurred during the address of the Rev. Briggs, a missionary who has been engaged in the Philippine Islands. This session being the last of the association's missionary campaign, the big church was filled. The exercises passed off quietly. In his address Mr. Briggs was describing the admission of Protestantism into the new possessions and referred to Romanism and its religious supervision of the islands in uncomplimentary terms.

He spoke in a quiet, incisive manner and the big audience was quite still, when the stranger arose and roared his epithets. He was a man of large physique, well dressed and intelligent looking. His outbreak struck the audience like a thunderclap.

Hymn Sung During Ejection.

The speaker hesitated at the first attack and attempted to resume, but the repetitions of the strong remark and the increasing fury of the stranger caused him to falter, turn pale and take a seat.

C. A. Ardsall, who was presiding, stepped to the platform and called on the audience to keep their seats, but they had already arisen to their feet and a panic was imminent. As he shouted "You are a liar! It's God's church; it's the only church!" the stranger made repeated efforts to go toward the speaker, and looked as if he meant violence.

The interference he met with from those around him caused him to raise his fists and exclaim: "I'm outnumbered, or I'd ——" and concluded with a black look at Mr. Briggs.

At this juncture some one on the platform started singing a familiar hymn and the efforts were taken up in different parts of the church. This had a soothing effect. While the first verse was being sung the stranger was bodily moved down the aisle, resisting with all his strength and forcibly ejected from the church.

Wanted to See Finale.

This was too much for the congregation and it rose en masse in the midst of a verse and almost ran outside to witness the disturber's humiliation. This also was too much for the stranger, for he fled, shouting that he was a Dr. Morris or Morrison of Sewickley.

The audience returned to the church as the stranger went muttering up the street. Without any reference whatever to the incident the meeting was resumed and Mr. Briggs went on with his address.

The afternoon session of the association was presided over by the Rev. John M. Moore, pastor of the Wilkinsburg Baptist church. He made a short address, outlining the missionary work at home and abroad and called upon all the churches in the Pittsburgh association to contribute to the cause. Other speakers were the Rev. L. W. Cronkhite of Rasselu, Burmah, and Miss Ella D. McLaurin. The same speakers addressed the association in the evening after Mr. Briggs' address.

COL. QUAY KNOWS WHAT THIS COUNTY WILL DO

Visits Pittsburgh and Gathers Some Information About the Local Situation.

Senator Quay spent several hours in Pittsburgh yesterday. His principal political caller was Recorder Brown, who assured him that this county would give Pennypacker a majority of 25,000.

Quay is thoroughly familiar with the situation here, as in other counties, but he has no personal opinion to express. The state chairman is not being fooled by the attempts of the Ballot Reform to cut down the Pennypacker majority. He knows their strength and is confident that their efforts will not make a material change in the result. The lowest possible majority that he places to the credit of the Republican ticket in the state is 100,000. From his own knowledge of the situation, he believes that this will be increased from 50,000 to 100,000.

Quay went to Beaver early in the afternoon. His vote will probably be the first one cast in that town tomorrow. It is his desire to be in Philadelphia in the evening to receive the returns. To do this he will have to come to Pittsburgh by special train and leave on the 8 a. m. train for the east.

WEST VIRGINIA CLAIMS.

Dovener's Re-Election Seems Assured, Although Other Congressional Districts May Be Close.

WHEELING, W. VA., Nov. 3.—The chairmen of both sides in the First and Second congressional districts give encouraging reports. Everything indicates that a large vote will be cast. The Republican managers claim Dovener will be returned to congress from the First district with an increased majority.

In the Second district John T. McGraw, the Democratic candidate, has made an excellent campaign and his managers feel that Mr. Dayton, the Republican candidate for re-election, will have a close call. In the Third district, Miller, Democrat, has been making a hot fight against Gaines, Republican. The Fourth and Fifth districts are claimed by both sides. The next legislature will, in all probability, be Republican, but the majority in both senate and house will be considerably reduced.

THOUSANDS OF TONS OF CEMENT WILL BE USED IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF ELEVATED TRACKS IN ALLEGHENY.

This illustration shows one of the many large gangs of workmen employed on the extensive improvements the Pennsylvania Company is making in Allegheny—the elevation of the Ft. Wayne tracks and the building of a new passenger station. All the retaining walls for the elevated tracks are being constructed of cement and thousands of tons will be used. The men shown in the illustration are mixing concrete and shoveling it into the wooden frames which give the composition form.

one district, that the Berks-Lehigh, is conceded to the Democracy.

No figures on the legislature are given, but I am confident that the Republicans will control both branches by a two-thirds majority.

The Figures by Counties.

The following is Chairman Quay's estimate by counties. In the first two columns are given the Barnett-Creasy majorities, November 7, 1899, Barnett's total majority over Creasy being 110,488. In the second and third columns are given the majorities which Quay predicts will be received tomorrow by Pennypacker and Pattison. He estimates that Judge Pennypacker will have a majority over Pattison of 103,435.

In the fifth and sixth columns are given Pennypacker's gains and losses, based upon the vote of 1899. According to Quay's figures, Pennypacker's net gain over Barnett will be 52,947, or a total majority of 163,435 for Pennypacker.

Commissioner Durham's Guess.

Insurance Commissioner Durham said tonight: "The Republican majority in Philadelphia will be what I have predicted before—not less than 100,000 for Pennypacker and the entire state ticket. This prediction is based upon the returns received from each of the wards as the result of a careful canvass. The Republican majority in the state outside of Philadelphia should be at least 75,000. The Republican ticket will be elected by 175,000 majority or more over the vote polled by the Democratic candidates.

"We also will elect a solid Republican delegation to the general assembly. The only districts in which there is any semblance of a contest are the Fourth senatorial and the Twentieth representative. In both of these we will elect the regular Republican nominees."

All of the leaders will receive returns here tomorrow. Chairman Quay will arrive from Pittsburgh at 6:50 p. m. Quay, Penrose and Durham will be in touch with state headquarters all night. Chairman Creasy will also be here. The news of Pennypacker's big majority will be broken to him at Democratic city headquarters. Even Charles R. Jones, Prohibition state chairman, will get the news at the state headquarters of the party.

Judges Auderrix, Biddle and McCarthy will be in chambers from 10 a. m. until the polls close tomorrow to hear any election complaints.

"Clear and cool" is the weather forecast, the final prerequisite for Republican success. CHESTER D POTTER.

SWALLOW'S FINAL BLUFF.

Pattison Will Win if Election Is Fair, But He Says Election Will Not Be Fair.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 3.—(Special)—"With a fair count Pattison will win, but you know that such a thing as a fair election in Pennsylvania is out of the question," said Dr. Swallow, Prohibition nominee for governor.

Swallow has been on the stump since last July, and he professes to believe the Prohibition party will poll a very large vote. He declines to furnish an estimate of his vote, although it is known he will be satisfied if he does as well as he did four years ago, when he polled 125,000 votes.

Swallow closed his campaign with a meeting in this city tonight, at which the "Fighting Parson," Lee Grumbine, of Lebanon, nominee for lieutenant governor, and Homer L. Castle of Pittsburgh were the speakers.

"Pattison will have 40,000 plurality and an anti-Penrose legislature will be elected," said Chairman Creasy today, before starting for his home in Catawissa to look after his campaign for representative. The chairman says the former governor will have a majority in the country outside of Philadelphia and Allegheny counties large enough to overcome any majority which may be polled there for the Republican state nominees.

Gov. Stone and the rest of the Allegheny county contingent left at noon for Pittsburgh. The governor predicted that tomorrow would see the entire Republican state ticket elected by a large majority.

BIG VOTE FOR ACHESON.

Congressman's Friends Claim His Election by at Least 3,000 Majority.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Prominent Republicans of Washington, who are closely associated with Congressman E. F. Acheson, claim that he will have no difficulty in securing the election tomorrow. They claim that he will receive at least 3,000 majority in the district, and that his majority in Washington county will be even greater than two years ago. Many bets have been recorded here that Mr. Acheson will be elected by at least 2,000, and the local Republicans are confident over the outlook. There seems to be no doubt that the Washington county Republican ticket will carry by a large majority, and the Democrats in many cases have conceded the election of the Republican candidates. The indications are that the largest vote in the history of the county will be recorded.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—The Hon. E. F. Acheson will carry this county by fully 2,000, according to the ante-election statement this afternoon of Chairman John B. Brown. He also estimates that Acheson will have a plurality of 7,000 in the district. Chairman Brown predicts 2,500 plurality for the county Republican ticket, which is about 1,000 short of the usual majority on presidential years, but above the normal in off years.

HUFF'S ELECTION SURE.

The Colonel's Majority in Westmoreland County Is Placed at Four Thousand.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—County Chairman E. B. McCormick tonight predicted that the Republican ticket will be elected by the usual big majorities. According to his estimate, based on the reports that have come to him from the committeemen of the various precincts, Col. George F. Huff, the candidate for congress in the Twenty-first district, will have a majority of at least 4,000 in this county over Editor C. E. Heinman of Butler. Chairman McCormick expects the county ticket to have FAIR WEATHER PREDICTED FOR RING'S LAST FIELD DAY.

The Washington weather bureau predicts an ideal election day for Allegheny county and Western Pennsylvania generally. A beautiful autumn day and the interest of the campaign together promise to bring out the largest vote in the history of the county and seal the fate of the ring. The machine would get its vote out anyway, and the fair weather adds greatly to the chances of the fusion ticket in the county.

The fair weather in this state is also predicted for Ohio and West Virginia and it is a most satisfactory condition of affairs for the Republican party. The farmers are riding on the very crest of the wave of prosperity and hundreds of doubtful votes will be cast this time in the support of the party that has brought this about.

the brain," "mental derangement," etc. He replied promptly:

"I ask you: Do I look like a deranged man?"

He braced himself up and laughed.

"Could any one seeing me say so?"

Indeed, beyond a certain tired look in the eyes, which was very marked at first, but several times, when he became animated, almost left them, a noticeable coldness of the hand which might have come from a bath recently taken, and a slight languor in his movements, there was nothing in Mr. Schwab's appearance or outward condition to suggest grave trouble.

"Why can't they leave me alone?" he demanded. "Why have they ever criticised my private expenditures? That can be nobody's business but my own. As for my illness, it was merely exhaustion from overwork. I do not know if I am any better, but I certainly am not worse. I am in the hands of Dr. Erb, the nerve specialist of Liederberg, and Dr. Robin of Paris.

"Half my time has been passed at Aix-les-Bains. The other half is to come now. I have just chartered this yacht and slept aboard her for the first time last evening. I am doing what my medical advisers order. I have only just got up. I went to bed soon after 9."

This meant that Mr. Schwab had slept the clock around.

"I am going about in the quietest possible manner," he continued. "You will see I have no party aboard, beyond a family one, and I don't intend to."

Mr. Schwab appeared to be in good spirits. He was constantly smiling as he talked. He said he proposed cruising about the Mediterranean for some time to come. He had been all over the Margarita and expressed himself highly pleased with her. He thinks himself lucky in being able to charter so up-to-date a yacht.

With that Mr. Schwab went off to take his first meal of the day. Before going, however, he sat down and scribbled me a note on the back of a card.

No better proof of a man's condition can be furnished than by his handwriting. I have that note before me as I am writing. It is strong, firm and full in character and not marked in any way by those infallible signs known so well to graphologists as indications of mental failure on the part of the writer. It is the writing of a man of perfectly normal condition of brain. Such I take Mr. Schwab to be whatever his nerve troubles may be.

The Margarita left this morning at 9 o'clock.

CANNES, Nov. 3.—(Copyright Cable.)—Mr. and Mrs. Schwab and a family party have arrived here aboard the Margarita, all well.

CUBAN CONGRESS MEETS.

President Palma Is Hopeful for Commercial Treaty With the United States.

HAVANA, Nov. 3.—The Cuban congress, which adjourned October 20, reconvened today. President Palma in his message to congress takes an optimistic view of the future of the republic. He refers to the remarkably good order that has been preserved throughout the island, which he says is proof of the peaceful nature of the Cuban people. The president says also that the sanitary condition of Cuba is today even better than it was during the period of American intervention.

"Our relations with the United States," continues the message, "are especially cordial; proof of this is found in the negotiations between Cuba and the United States for a commercial treaty on a basis of mutual tariff concessions." The special object of this treaty is to obtain positive advantages for our products, particularly sugar.

"It can be hoped from the sympathy with which the American people regard us and from the manifest interest which President Roosevelt entertains in the prosperity of Cuba that a reasonable arrangement, by means of this treaty, can be arrived at.

Held Up Gambling House.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 3.—Klondike advices say Barney Hughes and another robber held up the Douglass City opera house gambling room at Juneau on October 26. Sam Glus, the proprietor, who was closing up, made his escape with the greater part of the money and the robbers secured only $175.

Keeping down the millage by resorting to extravagant valuations is a ring trick. Vast sums of the people's money are being spent for inferior service just the same. When the Citizens party candidates are in office the taxpayers will get full value for the taxes. Advt.

FAST TRAVELING BETWEEN CITIES

A. J. Cassatt Promises 90 Minutes from New York to Philadelphia.

TUNNELS WILL ASSIST

Proportionate Time to Be Made from the Metropolis to Baltimore and Washington—Trains Must Run a Mile a Minute.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 3.

From Herald square, New York, to Broad and Market streets, Philadelphia, in 90 minutes; to Baltimore, in three hours and a quarter, and to Washington, from the heart of Manhattan, in four hours.

These are some of the promises made in Philadelphia today by A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, in the course of a long interview with a reporter. They are not mere dreams. They are realities, contingent now only on the consummation of the $50,000,000 plan, which has been obstructed hitherto by an obstinate board of aldermen.

To Philadelphia in 90 minutes means sustained running at a mile a minute rate, but under the conditions that will prevail between the two cities in a short time that will be practical.

President Cassatt makes it perfectly clear that the tunnels will not be used for freight. Incidentally he laughs at the idea of transatlantic steamships docking at Montauk Point and so shortening the ocean voyage. By cold figures he reduces the proposition to an impractical absurdity.

It is the intention of the company, once obstructions to the beginning of work are removed, to prosecute the task of tunneling the New York terminal day and night, and to hasten its completion in every possible way.

"When will the franchise agreement probably be returned to the rapid transit commission with the approval of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company?" was asked of Mr. Cassatt.

"The amended franchise was formally accepted by the board of the tunnel company this morning," he replied, "and I intend going to New York on Wednesday to execute the acceptance, which will be forwarded at once to the rapid transit commission."

"Has the Pennsylvania railroad reason to believe that the franchise will meet a more favorable reception when the New York board of aldermen next takes it up than when that body last voted upon it in July?"

"We hope it will, in view of the fact that the conference committee of the rapid transit commission approved the franchise in its present form, and also for the reason that the project seems to be better understood by the members of the board of aldermen."

DEATH IS CAUSED BY LOCOMOTIVES' CRASH

Fireman Killed, One Engineer Missing and Another Injured.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 3.—Speeding down the mountain a fast freight on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad struck two helping engines which were standing on the west-bound track at Meyersdale this evening. In the crash Fireman N. Nicholson of Pinkerton, Pa., was killed. Engineer Clifton D. Curtis of Meyersdale is missing, and Engineer George D. Ingham of Connellsville was slightly injured.

The helpers were on their way back to Connellsville after helping trains up the mountain. At Meyersdale they were flagged by the Cumberland drag, and they, in turn, sent back a flag to stop the fast freight. The flag, it is thought, was not back far enough to give the train time to stop.

All three engines and four cars of merchandise were demolished, both tracks being blockaded by the wreckage. Just after the body of Nicholson was rescued the wreck took fire. The Meyersdale fire department was called out, and after a hard fight, the fire was subdued. Wrecking crews from Connellsville and Rockwood and Cumberland are on the scene, and it is thought the wreck will be cleared up before morning.

READY FOR A FUNERAL EXCEPT THE CORPSE

Joseph Lyons, of No. 1422 Jenny Lind street, McKeesport, who is lying critically ill of smallpox at the pest house of that city, has a weird and grewsome state of affairs staring him in the face. His grave has been dug in the Versailles cemetery, an undertaker was employed and the death certificate made out. All that is lacking for a funeral is the death of the patient.

The case is one of the most peculiar in the history of the health board. Lyons was thought to be at the point of death Saturday, and as A. C. Wallace, secretary of the health board, was called out of the city, he stationed John Dolan at the office of Dr. J. V. Harsha, the physician in the case, to receive the news of Lyons' death. Dolan was then to communicate with Health Officer C. A. Walker, who would make arrangements for the burial.

Late in the night Dolan received a telephonic communication from the pesthouse, and his understanding of it was that Lyons had died. He immediately informed the health officer and Walker routed out the grave digger and notified an undertaker. In the course of the night the grave digger informed the undertaker that the grave was ready, and the undertaker went to get the body. Meanwhile Walker had filled out the death certificate and all the details of the burial had been arranged.

At the pesthouse the undertaker discovered that the patient was still alive and he returned to town much perplexed. The relatives had also been notified and they mourned all night long before they received word that the report was false. Secretary Wallace is much vexed over the affair, especially because of the unnecessary grief it caused the members of the family. The real blame cannot be located.

SOME LIVELY BETTING ON RESULTS IN OHIO

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 3.—Betting on election results has not been so lively in years as it was today and tonight, thousands of dollars having been put up at many of the sporting resorts.

Republicans have a shade the better of the odds, though a bet that is being generally made is $100 to $25 that a majority of the Democratic county ticket will be elected. The odds are $500 to $100 that Burton and Beidler, both Republicans, will be returned to congress, and there are few takers.

The largest single wager of the campaign was $2,000 to $1,500, made today on Barry, Republican candidate for sheriff, who is being opposed by Coughlin, a member of Johnson's delegation in the last general assembly. The odds have been four to one in favor of the Republican candidate for probate judge all along, but Loftin Johnson, son of the mayor, put up $1,000 against $2,000 today, not being posted on the market quotation.

The betting is even that Bigelow, Johnson's candidate for secretary of state, will carry Cuyahoga county. Loftin Johnson's offer of $500 even on this proposition has so far failed of takers.

The indications are that there will be more scrutched ballots cast in Cleveland tomorrow than ever before.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 3.—Democratic managers persist that there may be a surprise in the vote on the state ticket, and that they will gain three congressmen, surely two. The present Ohio delegation in congress consists of 17 Republicans and four Democrats. Chairman Dick, before leaving for Akron this afternoon, said he expected a Republican gain of one, I. A. H. Jackson defeating Congressman James A. Norton in the Thirteenth district.

Republicans express more confidence tonight than usual, and offer bets at such odds as were never heard of in Ohio heretofore.

Although the talk of the campaign has been about Johnson succeeding Hanna and afterward becoming a presidential nominee, no bets have been made on Johnson as Hanna's successor in the senate.

FRIENDS OF CROKER ARE KNIFING COLER

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 3.

Both of the great political parties in New York state are going to the polls tomorrow, professing the greatest confidence, even if they do not feel it. The betting closed at a slight variation, odds of five to three being offered on Odell.

Republicans insist on 40,000 plurality; Democrats swear they will have 35,000 for Coler. Frank Campbell, chairman of the Democratic state committee, when he got to his home in Bath, Steuben county, tonight, marked up his figures for Coler to show 65,000 plurality, but Mr. Campbell has not been right as an election guesser since 1892.

Richard Croker has been in London several days, and was reported today to have been in communication with his friends in this city by cable. He refused to talk politics. Some of Mr. Croker's friends have said they would not permit the election of Coler except over their dead bodies.

The vote of Greater New York will decide this election. The Democrats who are supporting Mr. Coler loyally believe he can get more than 100,000 plurality in the greater city. This is twice as much as Gov. Odell is willing to concede them.

PAINE'S
Celery Compound
Makes Permanent Cures in Chronic and Complicated Cases of Rheumatism.

It Gives New Life to Helpless and Crippled Men and Women.

Professor Edward E. Phelps, M. D. LL. D., has given to his profession a positive and permanent cure for all forms of rheumatism from which so many suffer in the autumn season. To the rheumatic this truth should prove encouraging and comforting. Men and women suffering intense agonies from a disease that frequently stiffens the joints, cripples the limbs and renders its victims quite helpless, can be restored to activity, vigor and health, if Paine's Celery Compound be used for a few weeks. There is every reason why sufferers should place their faith to this best of medicines. Your friends and neighbors have used it with success; the honest physician is prescribing it every day in cases where all other means have failed, and they are delighted with the happy results. Why hesitate, or doubt the powers, virtues and efficacy of the medicine that is curing thousands today? It is your only hope; your safety and life depend upon its use. Lizzie Pierce, Folger, Penn., who is helpless and in a critical condition from rheumatism, writes thus:

"I had rheumatism so bad that I could not walk and could not bear to have my legs moved; I often thought the disease would kill me. I commenced taking Paine's Celery Compound; I used two bottles and have not had the slightest symptom of rheumatism since. I wish I could tell the whole world the good your medicine has done me. My mother, who had rheumatism for years, was cured by Paine's Celery Compound after using a few bottles. She can run now like a child and says she feels ten years younger. I could tell you of a dozen or more people who were cured by Paine's Celery Compound."

HOW THE POLICE WILL WORK TODAY

Further Orders, in Which There Is a Threat, Are Issued.

McALEESE TELLS DUTIES

Intimates That Alleged Repeaters Will Have to Be Dealt With—Says Duty, Not Politics, Is the Watchword.

More orders were issued to the Pittsburgh police yesterday, relative to the work that is expected of them at the polls today. Certain passages in these orders indicate that the police are expected to "rough house" things under certain conditions, and other passages indicate that the machine has not full confidence in all the force, and that it fears some of the patrolmen will throw off the yoke of the ring and refuse to carry out its orders. Punishment is threatened for all such.

All the day men are ordered to report at the polling places to which they have been assigned in full uniform at 6:45 this morning, and remain until released at 7 p. m., when they will be allowed one hour for supper. They will then report back to the police, get the election return and send it in from engine houses or patrol boxes until 9:30 o'clock, when they will be released. Night officers will remain on their beats this morning and report at the polling places at 7 a. m. and remain there until 9 a. m., when they will be excused until 3:30 p. m. At that hour they will go to their own polling places in uniform, cast their votes and remain there until 7 p. m., after which they will be excused until 9 p. m., when they will report to their stations for regular duty.

A reserve force of 20 men is detailed to report at No. 1 station at 6:45 a. m.; three men at No. 3 station; seven men at No. 4; five men at No. 5; seven men at No. 6; five men at No. 7; five men at No. 8; three men at No. 9, and three men at No. 10. They will remain on duty until 7 p. m.

Instruction was issued in writing to each patrolman as to his duties as an officer. In this Superintendent McAleese says:

From reliable information we are led to believe that there will be a concerted effort made to vote repeaters and to create trouble and interfere with the free exercise of the rights of franchise on election day, and we have deemed it proper that we should give you this general instruction as to the duties and rights of police officers on election day. Your first duty is to preserve peace and to see that every man entitled to cast a vote is protected in the exercise of that right without interference or molestation. It is your duty to arrest any and all persons who, by any method of intimidation for the improper use of money, or by any other means that will interfere with the voter or improperly influence those desiring to vote.

On the demand of the overseer or of the election officers, it will be your duty to arrest persons designated by them and to clear the polls of any persons who may congregate and interfere with the free passage of the voter, bearing in mind that the election board, the overseer and the watchers are the only persons permitted to be within the table except the voter who has entered there to secure and cast his ballot.

Any officer neglecting or refusing to perform his whole duty or who may for a consideration, political or otherwise, turn his back or be blind for the time being to any improper conduct by the representatives of any party, that has a tendency to corrupt, interfere with or molest a voter in casting his ballot as he may desire, or any officer who is detailed at the polls and absents himself without sufficient cause, will be disciplined upon submission of proper proof before the chief board, either with fines, reprimand or discharge. Duty, not politics, is required!

TWISTING A WARNING.

Caution to the Police Perverted by the Ring as an Attempt to Bribe.

The leaders of the fusion movement were amused yesterday at the twist given by a machine organ to the warnings to policemen given by some of the workers of the Citizens and Democratic parties. When it was learned that the policemen had been instructed to adopt old ring tactics and intimidate fusion voters today, they were told that it would be a good thing for them to behave themselves on election day, as any intimidation or violence they might be guilty of they would be prosecuted and punished.

Thereupon the ring organ says, the citizens party attempted to bribe policemen to "fail to do their duty," by saying that it would be a "good thing" for policemen to "do right." It is a fact that the police were told that it would be a mighty good thing for them to conduct themselves lawfully during the election.

WATCHERS RUN AWAY WITH TAX RECEIPT

Voters Warned to Show Credentials to None but Election Officers.

In the case of the 18 residents of the Fifteenth ward arrested Friday charged with irregularities in voting at the municipal election last February, whose hearing was set for yesterday, all waived hearing. The case was to have been heard yesterday afternoon before Alderman McMasters.

Attorney W. B. Rogers, for the defendants, asked that the case be postponed until Wednesday next, saying that the defendants and others interested in the case were busily engaged in the work incident to the eve of an important election, and for that reason the case could not conveniently be heard. Alderman McMasters refused to grant the request of Attorney Rogers and each of the 18 residents was held under bail pending the action of the grand jury at its next meeting in December.

W. A. Brown swore that the defendants had used or handled bogus tax receipts and other fraudulent paper during the municipal election, had no comment to make after the request of Attorney Rogers was turned down.

Mr. Rogers said yesterday, in speaking of tax receipts and the attempt of outsiders to inspect a voter's credentials at the polls,

"It is a good thing for every voter to know just to whom he must show his tax receipt, in case his status is questioned. The only persons authorized to be shown the receipt are the overseer and the election officers. The trick of watchers, who demand such a privilege should be guarded against. These watchers have no more right to see a man's tax receipt of any citizen who may be standing near the voting place.

"In Philadelphia these watchers frequently hold up a voter, who is not sure as to their real powers, and who produces his receipt immediately he is challenged. In a great many cases these watchers, or alleged watchers, as they sometimes are, simply run away with the tax receipt and the helpless citizen, as a result, loses his vote."

LAST CALL TO ARMS OF FUSION FORCES

Chairman Evans of the Citizens Party Epitomizes the Issues Before the Voters.

Dr. Cadwalader Evans, chairman of the Citizens party committee of 32, made this statement yesterday:

"The desperation of J. O. Brown is shown by his issuing unusual and uncalled for orders to the police force of the city regarding the election. These orders are clearly intended to intimidate voters. Delinquent Tax Collector Conner joins with Brown, by issuing a letter, which, like other pronunciamentoes issued during the past year, is an insult to the voters. The name of John C. Haymaker, district attorney, is also used to further this attempt to intimidate voters by deliberately misquoting the law. Like all moves of the ring, it is a futile attempt to stay the onward march of the voter.

"Fortunately the ballot has upon it two important columns, the second and sixth, so that every voter, be he Republican or Democrat in national politics, can deliver a blow for freedom, for honest government, and for relief from brute force in local politics. All the indications show that this blow will be an overwhelming one.

"The people will have an opportunity tomorrow to say what they think of the arrest of voters who are against the ring, and railroading them to the workhouse, to say whether they approve of shameful, unchecked extravagance in the county offices, of representatives in the legislature who grab part of the appropriations for blind asylums, deaf and dumb institutions, and other charities, or else deny them support; of a jury wheel stuffed with unknown people, and open, shameless violators of the laws; of boss government or government by the people.

"The Citizens candidates are pledged to remedy all the abuses of ring government, to give a ballot on which the voters can express their preferences without danger of being disfranchised; to give them a plan which the bosses cannot use for nominating candidates, for the publication of the proceedings of the county salary board, for a 'good road' law, that will give good roads, and give honest contractors a chance to bid on them; for laws to prevent jury wheel stuffing and to investigate and punish bribery of councilmen. It is a grand opportunity for this ring-ridden county to consign to oblivion all ringsters, great and small, and teach them that the people are competent to, can and will rule."

BURKE'S LITTLE SCHEME.

Handbills were distributed yesterday in profusion throughout the Thirtieth congressional district, urging everybody to vote for James E. Burke for congress. On all these bills the mark of the cloven foot was plainly imprinted.

The friends of Burke, who wished to vote for Pennypacker, were directed to put a cross at the top of the first column on the ballot, and his friends, who wish to vote for Pattison, were advised to put a cross at the top of the last column. That column contains the ticket of the Ballot Reform or "Muddy Water" party. These handbills, with their double-faced advice, bear every indication of having come from machine headquarters.

DUNCAN TO BE RELEASED.

District Attorney Announces That Heavy Bail Will Be Demanded.

Dr. Ellis S. Duncan, who shot Bruce Head at the Wabash camp at Greentree, will enjoy his freedom probably before the end of this week. District Attorney Haymaker stated yesterday that the attorneys would hold a meeting within a day or two and arrange for Duncan's counsel to go into court and ask for bail.

"Head is improving rapidly," said Mr. Haymaker, "and there seems now to be no possibility that Duncan will be confronted by a charge more serious than of felonious shooting. His bond will be fixed high."

Dr. Duncan has had few callers since his uncle returned to Louisville, and passes his entire time reading and answering a large correspondence.

WEAK KIDNEYS AND BLADDER TROUBLE

Had to Pass Water Very Often Day and Night.

Cured by the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp Root.

DR. KILMER & CO., Binghamton, N. Y.

About two years ago I had a very severe case of kidney and bladder trouble. The pain in the small of my back was so severe that I could not stand it to stay in one position more than a moment or two, and was obliged to pass water very often day and night. I tried medicines and doctors without getting relief. Noticing an advertisement in the TOPEKA STATE JOURNAL, of Swamp-Root, I determined to give it a trial and bought a bottle. By the time I had finished the first bottle the pain had entirely disappeared from my back. The pain and frequent desire to pass water ceased. However, I continued to take the medicine, using about six bottles in all. That was over a year ago and I have had no return of the trouble since.

THUGS HAVE BEEN GIVEN ORDERS

MUST WORK FOR GANG

Recorder Murphy Admits That Machine Will Not Have Over 2,000 Majority in Allegheny. Citizens Will Sweep the Town.

Thieves, gambling house proprietors and speakeasy owners of Allegheny have received final instructions as to voting, and an effort will be made by the thugs and toughs to keep all persons in the North Side who wish to vote the Citizens ticket from so doing.

Recorder Murphy, whose expression, "to hell with reform," has been a catchword in the present campaign, sat on his throne in Allegheny City hall yesterday afternoon from 2 o'clock until 6 and the machine men passed in review before him.

Police Superintendent Muth was the recorder's right bower and helped in the throne room toward lining the gang up and giving its members the parting instructions to defeat the Citizens candidates at all hazards.

Thugs Think of Their Future.

It seems an assured fact that the thugs will carry out their instructions. If they do not and the Citizens party wins the election in the North Side, they realize that they will be ousted from Allegheny, and residents of the two cities may not live in continual terror of being held up and robbed.

After getting the direct instructions the thugs were told to get away as soon as possible, and they lost no time in clearing to their resorts and trying to line up their friends for the Allegheny ring.

Methods only used by crooks will be indulged in at the election today in Allegheny, and the Citizens party last night sounded a warning note against the nefarious system to get votes that will be carried into effect by the gamblers, "guns" and speakeasy men.

Besides issuing orders to vote properly and stop an ....zens from casting their ballots, the lower element has been heavily taxed for campaign purposes. The list of these assessments were paid in yesterday, and as a result no little amount of money will be expended for votes by the ring people today.

One of the North Side ring schemes to confuse voters was discovered yesterday afternoon when Assistant Superintendent Glenn asked John M. Reynolds, judge of the election in the Fourth precinct, Second ward, to handle the tickets for a new bond issue.

Want to Fool Voters.

The bond issue has just been sprung, and no one seems to know what amount is to be voted on or what the additional bond issue means. The scheme is to get the issue passed without contest.

"The scheme is an outrageous one," said Dr. Woodburn, when he learned of it last night. "It is being thrust upon us this time to annoy the voters as much as possible and complicate the count. Instead of bringing the matter up next February, at the municipal election, it is presented now in order that it may be shoved through with small notice. The bond issue must be defeated.

Even Murphy is nervous over the election. He feels that a great Citizens landslide is coming. He yesterday afternoon gave out the following statement:

"If I am not badly fooled, Allegheny will give a majority of 2,000 votes for the organization ticket. We have done good work in the last three weeks and the Citizens party in the city will be badly defeated. Graham, for congress, will be elected easily."

Several doors above the Murphy instruction palace the Citizens' workers put in their final licks in the closing hours of the campaign in Kenyon's hall. It was an enthusiastic crowd that passed in and out of the building all day, and the leaders of the party were perfectly willing to rest their case with the voters last night.

Shiras an Easy Winner.

Preparations are on foot to have the returns removed and read in Kenyon's hall tonight, and it is estimated that one of the largest crowds that ever filled the place will be present.

George Shiras III. made this statement: "The Citizens party will undoubtedly carry the Twenty-ninth congressional district by a majority of 5,000 votes. This is a very conservative estimate, and it is made only after a thorough canvass of every precinct in the district. We do not expect so much in Allegheny on account of the many legislative fights."

Dr. Woodburn, chairman of the North Side Citizens' committee, said:

"Out of 11,000 votes in the 15 wards of Allegheny the Citizens already have 7,481. The Citizens' vote will run greatly in excess of these figures, but they have been made up after a careful canvass.

"Our entire legislative ticket will be elected by a surprising majority, and the Citizens' victory in Allegheny will be one of the greatest in the history of the city."

Members of the machine party roll in Allegheny have within a few days boasted that Shiras would be counted out. They base their claim on the fact that most of the election boards are controlled by the gang. The Citizens are prepared to see that ballot box stuffing, repeating and crooked counting will not be tolerated.

WHOLESALE ARRESTS RING'S LAST RESORT

Citizens and Democrats Have Lawyers Ready to Protect Voters in Their Rights.

The ring, in its desperation, has planned to arrest voters on all sorts of trumped up charges. The police have been instructed by their superiors that overseers and watchers have rights and privileges which are not granted to them by law, so that even if an officer is desirous of obeying the law by making no unjust arrests his mind will have been prepared to believe that the word of ring watchers and overseers is gospel, and to make arrests on their order.

Dr. Evans, chairman of the Citizens county committee, had this to say yesterday regarding these latest tactics of the ring:

"If any one attempts to interfere with your voting go to the office of C. S. Crawford, in the Bakewell building, corner of Grant and Diamond streets, where lawyers of the Citizens party will be found to take the matter into court at once. We will defend all honest voters at the polls, in court or any other place, not only on election day but afterward. Stand up for your rights and end this reign of terror."

Attorneys D. T. Watson, W. J. Brennen, D. F. Patterson and Charles A. Fagan will remain at the Democratic headquarters, in Diamond street, all day, after voting, to act on complaints that may be made of intimidation by the ring.

TWO MORE CITIZENS CANDIDATES WHO WILL SHARE IN TODAY'S TRIUMPH.

JAMES PURCELL,
Citizens-Democratic Candidate for Director of the Poor.

GEORGE H. STENGEL,
Citizens-Democratic Candidate for Register of Wills.

RECORDER PUT ON GUM SHOES AGAIN

Kept Out of Way of Six Decapitated Detectives by a Strenuous Effort.

AX-VICTIMS REPORTED

Say They Will Not Abide by Recorder's Decree Until They Have Hearing and Can Refute Charges.

The six members of the Pittsburgh bureau of detectives who were summarily dismissed from the service yesterday by the orders of Recorder Brown refuse to abide by his decree until they have had a hearing and a chance to refute the charges of incompetency made against them. They will report for duty at the front office each morning and demand their salaries.

Superintendent Demmel immediately set to work to fill the vacancies and at noon yesterday announced the appointment of Edward Kennelly and James Delehanty, police patrolmen, to positions on the detective force.

The sextet of ax victims were anxious to meet the recorder yesterday. At 10 o'clock in the morning they went to his office in city hall and asked for an audience. The recorder was not in. After growing tired waiting they went downstairs and stood in the corridor near the door, where they could catch sight of their man the moment he entered the building.

Recorder in Gum Shoes Again.

Late in the forenoon the recorder came down town. He suspected a stormy interview with his victims and approached the hall on the opposite side of Smithfield street. In front of McIlon's bank he stopped to reconnoiter. He eyed the crowd on the steps carefully. The coast seemed clear and he ventured across the street. Just at this moment one of the minions of the machine, who had seen the little group of detectives in the corridor and suspected their mission, darted out of the building and made a mysterious sign to the recorder, who was then upon the city hall pavement.

The sign of distress was instantly understood. The recorder turned on his heel as though he had forgotten something and dashed along the street toward Sixth avenue, where he boarded a Center and Negley car and went—nobody knew where. The detectives remained in the building until after 4 o'clock and then went home.

"We will come here every day until we see the recorder," said Charles C. McGovern. "We will demand a hearing. We have been dismissed without trial and will not abide by any such hasty edict. We will report to headquarters for orders as usual and will expect to receive our salaries until a hearing is granted."

Will Report for Duty.

The men who were dismissed have not returned their badges and other effects. They maintain that they are members of the bureau in as good standing as the other men who were not affected by Brown's order. Among the friends of the men the opinion prevails that several of their number will be reinstated. It is argued that their discharge was effected with a political weapon that will prove in a few days to be a boomerang and smite the original wielders with terrible force.

"Oh, yes; we're willing to serve the city," said one of the detectives, with keen sarcasm; "but our return to permanent duty will be with the stipulation that an intelligent man is placed in charge of the bureau as its superintendent."

When Jones, Malley, McGovern, Bradley, McElroy and Shore gathered at the public safety building in the morning they did not attempt to conceal their feelings. Demmel had nothing to say when he came in except that he simply had obeyed his instructions. McGovern was not particular in his choice of polite language when he met his superintendent and told Demmel in words that could not be misunderstood what he thought of the action.

McGovern Was Angry.

It looked as though a serious clash would occur, when Roger O'Mara happened in. The big detective cautioned McGovern to keep silent, but his work as a pacificator did not prevent McGovern from saying that he disliked to have his ability passed upon by a man who knew nothing even about his own business.

Kennelly, who was appointed yesterday afternoon to fill a vacancy in the bureau, has been serving as a sub for several weeks. He has had 10 years' experience on the police force and is rated as an intelligent officer. He was a patrolman in the Wylie avenue region for three years and was subsequently on beats in Ferry and Water streets. He had a strenuous career in that troublesome region and figured in the arrest of a number of dangerous men. He lives in the Twenty-first ward.

Delehanty comes from the Twenty-third ward. He has been on the police force about five years and at present is patrolling a beat in Penn avenue.

Woman Victim of Politics.

Superintendent Demmel last night was not ready to announce the names of his other appointees. "I have the names of several good men and will make deliberate selections," he said. "All will be Pittsburgh men, who have experience in police work. I shall be ready to name some of them tomorrow and will request them to report for duty on Wednesday morning."

Another victim of politics in the safety building yesterday was Miss Margaret O'Mara, who was a clerk in the office of the bureau of health. She is the daughter of Roger O'Mara and had been in the employ of the bureau a number of years. In requesting her dismissal, Director Leslie notified Superintendent Pitcairn that her discharge was "for the good of the service."

"It is right that J. O. Brown should do this after all I have done for him in the years we have worked together," was O'Mara's ironical comment on the dismissal of his daughter.

COURT REFUSES TO REMOVE APPOINTEE

Hugh Callahan Remains Judge of Election in First District of Fourth Ward.

Judge Shafer yesterday dismissed the petition for the revocation of the order appointing Hugh Callahan judge of election of the first district of the Fourth ward, Pittsburgh. It was alleged that proper notice was not given, and that the appointee was not a man of good character.

Judge Shafer says that the action of the court in appointing such an officer is substantially a judicial action, and is not to be disturbed or overturned, especially after the term is ended, unless it appears there was a want of notice to proper parties or that the court has been deceived by some of the parties, and thus the action of the court has been procured by fraud.

As to the want of notice, the court says that in these cases the court has reason to suspect the notices posted have not been allowed to remain very long under the public eye. It would, perhaps, be an improvement on the practice, the court suggests, if evidence were required, not only on the posting of such notices, but also that they remained posted and legible for at least some days thereafter. In the present case, the court says, there were no indications that the notices were not put up.

Judge Shafer then says: "As to want of qualifications of the appointee as not being a person of good character, we think that it is not a matter which can now be inquired into. An applicant for a liquor license must be a man of good moral character, but certainly after a license has been granted it would be a very strong and peculiar case in which it could be revoked for that reason."

In refusing the petition, the court says that if it possessed the information that it has now, the appointment would not have been made.

Worked to the Very Last.

The Citizens party kept up its vigorous campaign of speeches until the very last moment and last night several meetings were held by Citizens and Democrats. The Citizens' meetings were in Zimmerman's hall, Grandview avenue; the Fifth Avenue opera house, Homestead; Mechanics' hall, West Liberty, and the Millvale opera house. The closing Democratic meeting of the campaign was in Turner hall, Thirteenth ward, Allegheny.

As soon as McClain was released he stated that as he was on his way to work at the Colonial steel works, he stopped in front of the hotel window to look at the office clock. As he did so a man thrust a revolver in his face and told him to keep still. Two other men then approached and the three gagged him and tied him securely. LIGHT BRANCHES SUFFER THE CUT

Prices of Tin Plate and a Few Other Things Reduced by Over-Production.

BIG ARTICLES THE SAME

Continued Heavy Demand for Pig Iron, Coke and Steel Products Shows That There Is No Ebb in General Prosperity.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square. NEW YORK, Nov. 3.

The United States Steel Corporation today announced that the American Tin Plate Corporation made a reduction in tin plate of 40 cents a box, or from $4 to $3.60.

The action of the Tin Plate Company did not come as a surprise, as it has been known for some time that the operating department was working on a new schedule. Then, again, the inactivity of the tin mills for several months has pointed to a shading in prices.

There is no disputing that over-production is directly responsible for the reduction. Following this, the falling off in demand, which usually occurs at this time of the year, resulted in a scramble for business by the independent companies. In order to keep their mills in operation they cut prices, and the combine naturally followed suit. In the event of a continuance of an inactive market, quotations may go even lower.

The reduction in the price of tin plate follows reductions in sheet steel, small tubes, wire nails and a few classes of wire goods. The cut in sheet steel was made early last September and is equivalent to $5 a ton.

Heavy Branches Not Touched.

Steel Corporation interests today took particular pains to point out that the lowering of prices was confined to the lighter branches of finished products, adding that the demand for materials of this character is generally light at this time of the year. The decline does not indicate that the crest of the wave of prosperity in the steel business has been reached.

For example, the cut in sheets is confined to black and galvanized plates, two of many grades turned out by the American Sheet Steel Company. In tubing, the cut is confined to the small sizes the demands for the larger shapes being more pronounced than ever before. The demand for small tubing, it was said, always shows a declining tendency with the approach of winter. In wire, the inactivity is confined to wire nails, due to the fact that building operations are curtailed during the winter months. In tin plate, the demand has been light for several months, due largely to the partial failure of the salmon catch and pea crop shortage, thus requiring fewer tin cans for preserving purposes.

Had it not been for the new steel mills that have sprung into existence within two years, it is likely that no reduction in prices at this time would have been necessary.

Over-Production in Light Branches.

Representatives of the United States Steel Corporation do not attempt to conceal the fact that the inactivity of certain branches of the steel industry is due directly to increased production. At the same time, they point out that a reduction in prices will discourage the organization of new enterprises, and that in time the industry will adjust itself to these conditions.

A representative of the United States Steel Corporation made this statement today:

"People are simply making a mountain out of a mole hill in attempting to make capital out of the reduction in certain finished products. It is an interesting fact that the United States Steel Corporation has not advanced the price of one article since it was organized. If we had done so, a howl would have been raised. Now that we cut prices to meet new conditions, inexperienced people get it into their heads that the top notch. So far as steel is concerned, has been reached.

"The activity of the steel rail mills, structural plants, armor plate works, steel plate mills, in fact all classes of heavy material, is sufficient to offset the falling off in the demand for light finished products. When the demand for the products of certain mills subsides, we devote our energies to products for which an immediate outlet can be found.

Heavy Consumption of Iron and Coke.

"That there is little foundation for the reports that the decline in tin plate and sheet steel foreshadow depression in the iron and steel industry, is evident from the fact that the consumption of iron ore, coke, pig iron and other products that make up the foundation of the iron and steel industry was never more pronounced than at present.

"The fact that the furnaces have sold their possible production until July 1 of next year, and have opened their books for the last half of 1903, is sufficient proof that the iron and steel situation is sound." E. W. HARDEN.

ROBERTSON'S ODD VOTE.

Wants Names of Machine Men to Put Into Jury Wheel—Surmises Are Rife.

That the ring will try to pack the jury wheel again is proven by the following circular letter, which has been received by a number of machine workers. Whether the intention is merely to furnish two-bucks' jobs to ring adherents, or to pack the wheel to prevent the indictment and punishment of fraud, committed by ring agents at the election today, is not known. The circular has the heading, "Headquarters Allegheny County Republican Executive Committee, No. 418 Sixth Avenue," and is signed "A. C. Robertson, chairman." It is dated "Pittsburgh, Pa., October 18, 1902," and reads as follows:

My Dear Sir—Will you kindly send me the names of two prominent Republicans of your district to serve as jurors. By complying with this request at once I will be able to have them placed in the wheel. Answer on this letter. Enclosed please find stamped envelope for reply.

HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

Five smallpox patients were sent to the municipal hospital yesterday.

Eleven cases of typhoid fever, five of scarlet fever and 11 of diphtheria were reported to the bureau of health yesterday for the preceding 48 hours.

Harry Campbell, aged 5, of Virginia and Grey avenues, Allegheny, was struck and fatally injured near his home at 2 p. m. yesterday by a Perrysville avenue car.

A meeting of the wage committee of the Bricklayers' Union was held last night at the residence of Calvin Wyatt, in Lorgan street, for the purpose of formulating a wage scale.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company has arranged to have all the cars run only as far as Grant street tonight, so that the crowds watching the election returns on Fifth avenue will be in no danger of injury.

A SURPRISE SPRUNG AT ROOSEVELT'S HOME

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Nov. 3.—President Roosevelt reached Oyster Bay this evening at 7:20 to cast his vote tomorrow. It was a surprise. About the depot 1,000 persons were gathered with a band; big bonfires blazed and fireworks were discharged.

When the president appeared at the door of his special car he was greeted with cheers, and in reply raised his hat. As he passed across the depot platform on his way to his carriage he shook hands with many of those who, despite the efforts of the secret service men, pressed forward to greet him. No demonstration of this kind had been anticipated, the whole affair being planned today.

The president was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Dr. Lung, Secretaries Cortelyou and Loeb, F. C. Travis of this village, Messenger Delaney and Stenographer Latta.

The president's special from Brandy, Va., arrived in Washington at 11:20 a. m. After a brief wait he and his party left the capital by special train for Oyster Bay.

The president will vote before noon tomorrow in the Fifth district. He will probably be accompanied by the secret service men. Mr. Loeb lives here and Mr. Cortelyou in Hempstead.

UNIVERSAL POSTAGE STAMP.

Recommended by Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.—The annual report of William S. Shallenberger, second assistant postmaster general, recommends parcels post conventions with various European governments.

Mr. Shallenberger also recommends agreement with some European governments on a universal postage stamp scheme in advance of the postal congress in Rome in 1904. His plan requires that every letter shall have on it the stamp of the country in which it is mailed, and yet a stamp that may be conveniently paid for in the country which has invited the reply. Byers has been appointed postmaster at Alverton, Westmoreland county, Pa., vice John Ober, Sr., removed.

MADE CARS AT RATE OF 111 A DAY

Pressed Steel Car Co. Surpassed All Records in October.

GREAT WORK OF YEAR

Improved Facilities Make It Possible to Exceed Already Wonderful Records—More Families for McKees Rocks.

Reports completed yesterday show that the Pressed Steel Car Company built and shipped during October, 3,000 cars. This breaks all previous records, the average for the 27 working days of the month being 111 cars per day. The daily average for the last four months was 107 cars. So far this year the company has turned out 22,402 cars, which, if made up into trains of 50 cars each, would make 448 trains.

If all these cars were coupled into one solid train, it would stretch from Union station, this city, to a point half way between Harrisburg and Altoona, or about 175 miles. There was consumed in the erection of the cars, 350,000 tons of steel. The cars turned out last month were mostly for the Pennsylvania railroad, and are part of the 15,000-car order placed several months ago.

Work on the new building being erected by the company at McKee's Rocks is about done. This building is 320 by 400 feet, and in it will be made the car trucks formerly turned out in the Fox plant, in Lawrenceville, which was sold. By the removal of this plant and concentrating the machinery at McKees Rocks, the company will be able to save freight, rehandling, etc. In the past trucks were made in Lawrenceville and shipped to McKees Rocks, where they were placed under cars. Now they will be made right on the ground, with the cars.

The removal of the Lawrenceville plant takes 500 men and their families to McKees Rocks, and there is an unusual demand for small homes in consequence. Other changes the car company is making includes the enlargement of the power plant and paint shop. When these improvements are made the daily capacity will be pushed to a higher point than 111 cars per day.

THE KING INTERESTED.

Likely to Send the Prince of Wales to Head the British Commission to St. Louis Exposition.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.—Maj.-Gen. Corbin has received a letter from Sir Thomas Lipton, which says that Sir Thomas has greatly interested himself in the St. Louis exposition. He informs the general that he has had an interview with King Edward, and that the king has indicated that he will name a special commission to attend the exposition. It is expected that the prince of Wales will be named as head of the special embassy.

The matter already has become the subject of diplomatic correspondence between the British and foreign office and Ambassador Choate.

COAL ROADS ATTACKED.

Hearst's Attorney Files Complaint With the Inter-State Commerce Commission.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Clarence A. Shearn, acting as attorney for William R. Hearst of New York before the inter-state commerce commission today filed complaint against the anthracite coal carrying railroads for violation of the inter-state act. Notice was sent to the defendants that they must make answer within 15 days. The Pennsylvania railroad is one of the defendants.

These railroads are charged with violations of the inter-state commerce act, particularly those sections which prohibit pooling and making discrimination in rates.

How Would You Like to Own A Phonograph or Gramophone?

Mellor's are selling a great many small goods nowadays, such as Phonographs, Music Boxes, etc. The Edison Phonographs range from $10 to $100. Victor Gramophones, $15 to $50. There is a complete variety of Edison and Victor records fresh from the factories and comprising many new songs, speeches, etc.

No end of fun can be got out of one of these talking machines, as they are called, and every home is made merrier by such a device. The children do not by any means monopolize the fun, either, for their elders get as much enjoyment from Phonographs and Gramophones as the youngsters can possibly derive from such a source.

One of the advantages of having a Phonograph or Gramophone is that it enables one to produce dance music, songs, marches and numerous other musical pieces, therefore it is always a source of delight on the occasion of a party or other like entertainment in the home.

Mellor's control the sale in this territory of such famous instruments as the Steinway Piano, which all the world acknowledges to be the prince of pianos—the one by which all others are measured. In addition to the Steinway there are such favorites as the Mason & Hamlin, Krakauer, Ludwig and Chauncey pianos, all of which are high-class. New instruments of these makes cannot be bought in any other store.

"Mellor's Stands for Melody" is a phrase which has become familiar to the music-loving people of this vicinity, and it is a phrase which gains in import from the fact that Mellor's store is headquarters for the best class of musical goods. You will find no difficulty in getting what you want at Mellor's, and the terms will be made to suit you.

GRIMES ADDS TO JOKE BOOK LITERATURE

Writes a Letter to His Tenants, Telling How Deeply He Loves Them.

James "Muddy Water" Grimes has shown a wonderful interest in the welfare of his Knoxville tenants on the eve of the election. At the same time he has added to the joke book literature of his master, William Flinn. Last night each of the voters who live in Grimes' houses, burn his natural gas, use his electric light, drink his muddy water and cool it with his ice, received a letter asking him to vote the Ballot Reform ticket. After reciting the alleged ills which will follow if the machine is driven from power, he makes these amusing statements:

Having felt deeply over the sad condition of affairs and being anxious to do what little I could toward eliminating from our public life the corruptionist, the villifier and slanderer, I have been instrumental in organizing the Ballot Reform party, which has adopted the principles of the initiative and referendum, which when put in force will give back to the people their untrammeled right of suffrage, and will eliminate the boss and the ring and the boodler from our public, and for this we all ought to strive and pray.

I do not seek to control any man's vote. Anyone who may have represented to you that I would use any influence that I had unfairly to induce you to vote in any other way than in your judgment you deemed best, makes a false statement. I am interested in your welfare, comfort and happiness. I am at all times willing to the extent of my power to do what I can to make you comfortable and so help you maintain your independence and freedom without restraint of any kind.

Come out and vote early if you can. If you can see things as I see them, I would be very happy to have you vote as I would vote. If you see them otherwise, so vote. Your judgment may be better than mine. I may be wrong, you may be right, but remember, I am your friend and I will be glad to have you be mine.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

Wide divergence appears in the latest estimates of the campaign managers before the voting begins. At the headquarters of the Citizens and Democratic county committees from 25,000 to 40,000 majority is claimed for the candidates on those tickets. Chairman Evans says 30,000. Recorder Brown, who is city chairman of the old organization, said last night Pennypacker will have 30,000 majority for governor in Allegheny county, while the organization county ticket will have "a majority." From Republican state headquarters the estimate by counties foots up a plurality of more than 164,700 for Pennypacker and Brown. This estimate is made from the latest returns from county chairmen, revised. Chairman Creasy of the Democratic state committee estimates a plurality for Pattison of 15,000, but has to put some strong Republican counties into the Democratic column to get his result. From the two congressional committees' headquarters at Washington there are conflicting claims, though a fair average between them leaves the house Republican by from 15 to 25 members. The actual vote will soon be known, and it may surprise the prophets. There is no reason why Pennsylvania or any of the congressional districts should weaken in their Republicanism, and there are reasons why they should make it more emphatic.

So far the conditions in Cuba have not been so bad as might have been expected when the United States made a present of the country to politicians whose sole training had been in the practice of revolution. Fortunately, conservative influence was started in control through the election of President Palma, who has lived long in this country and is imbued with aspirations of industrial development. Exclusion of Cuba from its natural market in this country has, however, weakened his influence and has produced an economic situation tending to disorder. The strength of orderly government under elective rule rests upon the existence of strong interests demanding the maintenance of order and exerting a steady moral influence throughout the community in favor of order; but there is no chance for such interests to develop in Cuba while enterprise is stagnant and industrial activity depressed, and at present the drift is toward anarchy. A leading Havana paper, El Comercio, recently published a timely article in which it declared that "the situation is assuming a graver aspect in the interior every day. There are regions where brigandage has come to constitute a regular scourge." The responsibility for good government in Cuba rests upon this country, for the governmental conditions there are of our making. Signs multiply that unless we meet our responsibilities frankly and decisively the last state of Cuba will be worse than the first.

Apart from our responsibility for Cuba's welfare we have a vital concern in its future on our own account. A glance at the map shows that it covers the entrance to the Gulf of Mexico like the stopper of a bottle. The power that holds Cuba commands the Gulf of Mexico. Cuba also possesses great strategic importance from its relations to the Isthmian canal and the Caribbean sea, which must be made an American lake if American control of the Isthmian canal is to be completely assured. Not only have we renounced direct control over the government of Cuba, but our treatment of the government we set up has been such as to inspire a resentment which, if allowed to become permanent, might have very serious consequences. We have been so long a nation without neighbors that considerations of this sort do not at present make much appeal to public opinion, but in the days when Spain held the mouth of the Mississippi there was no lack of popular appreciation of the importance of commercial communications free of foreign duress. The western country was aflame with indignation at any suggestion of treaty recognition of Spain's right to control the navigation of the lower Mississippi. The security of the trade of the Gulf of Mexico and the prospective sea route via the Isthmian canal will be just as vital to our national welfare.

The importance of national control over the routes of national commerce is perfectly well understood by public opinion in Europe, and there is an active popular interest in all questions bearing upon the subject. In France at present there is a lively interest in regard to the relative strength of the various powers in the Mediterranean. In order to offset the advantages enjoyed by England in the possession of Gibraltar, at the western entrance to the Mediterranean, and of Malta, midway on the route to Suez, France has established a fortified harbor at Bizerta, on the extreme northern point of Africa facing Sicily. At that point there was a narrow isthmus between the sea and a lake, and France has cut a channel across the isthmus, so as to provide an internal harbor, absolutely protected from attack by the sea, and equipped with drydocks and naval repair shops. A system of fortifications is being constructed which is expected to make the place an impregnable basis of operations, outflanking the English positions and making it possible for France to compel considerate treatment of her commercial interests in all matters involving Mediterranean transit.

A matter which is a standing subject of discussion in the press of England, Germany and Russia is the control of the Persian gulf. Russia's position will be roughly illustrated if we compare it to what would be the position of the United States if our seacoast were limited to Maine and the Pacific slope, and that we had extended our continental domain so that only a single tier of states separated us from the South Atlantic and the gulf. Turkey stands between Russia and the Mediterranean. Persia lies between it and the Persian gulf. The trade of north Persia is in Russian hands now and the internal development of the country has been financed by Russian loans. The Russian railroad system in the Caucasus and the trans-Caspian regions would find the nearest sea outlet in the Persian gulf. Germany is, however, aiming at the same point, as the sea outlet of the railroads built in Asia Minor by German capital. The Turkish government has granted concessions for an extension of this railroad system through the valley of the Euphrates to the head of the Persian gulf. But the point selected as the terminus is not under the direct sovereignty of the porte, but is in the domain of an Arab potentate, who, backed up by England, will not cede the desired territory. An attempt on the part of Turkey to seize it by force was stopped by British gunboats, and the control of the Persian gulf is now the burning question of European diplomacy. The importance of the issue is obvious, for if another Bizerta is established in the Persian gulf, British control of the Suez canal route is outflanked both east and west of Suez.

Questions of international control have a direct bearing upon our national interests. The open markets where our commerce prospers are those of the British empire, while the acquisitions of other powers are promptly reserved to their own trade. Russia has absolute control of the all-rail route between Europe and the Pacific coast of Asia. Mutual connections of interest will probably bring about some agreement between England and Germany by which an all-rail route from continental Europe across Turkey to the Persian gulf will eventually be established under German control, making a part rail and part water route to the far east apart from the Mediterranean. That would certainly seem to be a safer arrangement than to allow Russia to control the only all-rail route, and at the same time flank the Suez route, but no matter what accommodation of interests may be reached commercial interests connected with the Suez route are exposed to the conflicting ambitions of the European powers. We are about to open a new route between the Atlantic and Pacific, and it is manifest wisdom on our part to neglect no precaution to secure absolute control. We made a bad start in relinquishing possession of Cuba apart from the wrong inflicted upon her people in turning her out to shift for herself. Our own interests as well as her interests require that the two countries shall be firmly united, if not politically, then commercially.

IN THE VOTER'S HANDS.

The time for argument is past, and the time for action is here. The voting will be done today, and then comes the counting and the shouting. It may be presumed that every voter has his mind made up by this morning, if he has any mind, how he will vote, and there is nothing to do but wait for the results. Here in Allegheny county the issues have been presented very fully and are clearly marked. The vote must be for or against ring management of local affairs. The outcome will have a permanent influence upon the material progress of the community, for it will decide whether it is to go forward to a new life or not. This election day is the opportunity of a lifetime for the people to declare for a progressive government that will urge public improvements on an honest basis and that will hold public franchises as valuable property to be paid for and used for the public benefit. The old regime is principally conspicuous for the despoilment of privileges for the private enrichment of a few who have been in control of the machine. If the opportunity to get the control in the hands of the people for a better system is neglected, the effect will be lasting and a like opportunity may not soon present itself again.

In respect to the state campaign, the issue is quite as clear. The nomination of Judge Pennypacker created the opportunity for the reform of official abuses within the Republican party. All who know him concede his honesty, integrity and firmness. If elected, he will be governor without a master and without a partner for "mutual political and business advantage." He will serve his party by serving the people first, and that will be the best service he can render it. This assurance is in accord with the record of the man in his public and private life. He was made an unwilling candidate, because he preferred the sphere in which he was serving the people, and he has no political ambitions to cater to. He can no more be cajoled than he can be driven. His opponent is a politician who would go higher if he could.

Such are the issues before the voter as he goes to the polls. Upon his collective judgment rests the fabric of government state and local; yes, and national, for his vote for members of congress is highly important. National issues, state issues and local issues are involved, they are plain, the voter has decided what he will do and the majorities will be of vital significance to everybody.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP.

The announcement of the Prussian government's plan for the "nationalization" of six of eight eight remaining private railways of consequence was a surprise to the bourse at Berlin. The roads have an aggregate of 550 miles length and a combined capital of about $19,050,000. The government takes them over at nearly the prices quoted for their securities upon the bourse at Berlin and so pays approximately $35,000 a mile. Considering the quality of the roads and equipment this is said to be a good price, and as they will be paid for in consols the stockholders are regarded as obtaining a very safe investment on a profitable basis.

This Prussian government transaction recalls a prevalent belief in high financial circles that the Northern Securities Company was intended as preliminary to a movement for the "nationalization" of an important group of American railroads. There was not much said publicly about the matter but there were many whispers among men close to the heart of things just after the Northern Securities Company was organized that the men behind the scheme were preparing to unload their properties upon the national government. In the course of the various mergers and transfers of ownership liberal increases of capital were planned, as it was expected the government might be induced to take over the whole thing at its ultimate face value, issuing in exchange interest paying bonds. The promoters figured that the government could make the properties earn interest on the bonds and that even at 2½ or 3 per cent they might secure the equivalent of 7 or 8 per cent upon the original investment.

The belief is common among American financiers that Prussian "nationalization," or government ownership, has been on about the scale outlined for the Northern Securities. The actual cost of the roads has been represented by two or three times as much capitalization, so when the government issues low rate consols for something near par value of the securities, it is really guaranteeing a high rate of interest upon actual investment and giving the stockholders a much higher class security than the stock issues. It is a fact that Prussian roads, operated by the government, return costs on ton mile movements three and four times as great as those of leading American systems, though wages of German employes are not more than two-thirds as great as those of train hands here. As the American roads used for comparison are highly capitalized and pay good dividends and interest on their securities the inevitable conclusion is that Prussian government roads must meet unreasonable fixed charges and that political management is not very efficient. The extra cost may, probably, be equally distributed between the two factors.

Facts like these are not calculated to promote the popular demand for government ownership of railroads in this country, but the socialist element appears incapable of appreciating economic realities. That element is not dangerously large by itself, but is made so when reckless politicians like W. J. Bryan and D. B. Hill commit great parties in the hope of catching a few votes to such ideas as government purchase of over-capitalized railroads and coal mines. It is mischievous policy.

THE TROUBLE IN FRANCE.

The conclusion of La Patrie, a Paris publication, that "the French people suffer from a reign of parliamentarism" is interesting because it is reached after contemplation of the attitudes of President Loubet and President Roosevelt toward the miners' strikes of their respective countries. President Roosevelt, it finds, brought the American strike to an end because, "elected by the people," he "represents the people," whereas the president of France "waits the slow process of parliament." It is quite true that France suffers from the defects of the parliamentary system, but perhaps only because the French people have not yet learned to rise superior to those defects. England, which has the parliamentary system, gets along fairly well with it because the people dominate it. The American people have similarly made the national governmental institutions their own. The framers of the American Constitution did not contemplate election of the president by the people any more than they contemplated election of United States senators by the people. In form of election procedure the president of the United States is not elected by the people, and not a few presidents have not had a majority of the popular vote. As a fact, however, presidents of the United States are the popular choice by means of the extra-constitutional action of party conventions. La Patrie seems to be ignorant that to the popular initiative operating on constitutional forms rather than to the constitutional forms themselves is due the circumstance that our presidents are "elected by the people." If the French people become strong enough they can do as the American people have done. The real trouble in France is not so much parliamentarism as it is that the people have been unable to free themselves from the monarchical traditions that have been influential likewise in molding the governmental forms and procedure of the French republic.

THE TENNESSEE CAR SHORTAGE.

While coal miners in the vicinity of Knoxville, Tenn., are said to be suffering and almost on the verge of starvation the demand for coal was never greater. If the reports from Tennessee be true, the car shortage there has taken on the aspect of a real famine. It is represented that because the operators on the line of the Southern railway cannot get cars, the miners have had but six days' work in six weeks, and would be actually starving but for the action of their employers in making advances in the form of food. The condition as related is truly deplorable, but it is remediable, and there is the consoling thought that though there may be real distress there is a market for coal that will relieve it if the cars are hurried along. It is late in the day to use the incident for political effect, but it is just as true as it would have been weeks in advance of the election that if the times were Democratic there would be no car shortage for the reason that there would be no market to call the cars into such active use as to put them beyond the reach of people who needed them in their business. But there ought to be a better car service in Tennessee. It can hardly be that the shortage is wholly attributable to the great demand for cars, for we have not heard that the business of the Southern railway is so much in excess of the business of other railways that a better distribution of cars cannot be made by intelligent direction of the resources of the company, in answer to a persistent demand from shippers. Doubtless if the matter could be sifted to the bottom there would be something besides prosperity to blame in part.

After all is said and done the question of deepest significance involved in the voting today concerns the man who occupies the chief executive office of the nation. President Roosevelt's administration is to be indorsed by the votes of American citizens today almost as directly as if those questions were really upon the ballot. President Roosevelt has just brought to a peaceful conclusion one of the most threatening industrial troubles that ever hung over this country. His administration has been able, clean and reflective of the highest type of American manhood and statesmanship. The voters of the various states will today have an opportunity of putting the seal of their approval upon the man and upon his acts as president of the United States. And we believe they will do this by a large and convincing majority.

No doubt several distinguished candidates will be very much surprised tomorrow morning to find that the sun still shines and that the earth is still doing business at the old stand.

Richard Croker says that politics is ancient history with him. There is something sphinx like in the way Richard has treated that question, "Where Did You Get It?"

The Hon. Tom Johnson's Ohio circus will positively go into winter quarters today. The weather in Ohio will hereafter be too chilly for the animals.

Voting is a great and glorious privilege which should not be neglected by the intelligent citizen nor forgotten by the busy one.

Should the king of Siam decide to bring his wife to America there is going to be some embarrassment. There are 162 of her.

This is the day when the American citizen is supposed to hand out a few bumps and jolts and uppercuts.

After today the Hon. David Bennett Hill's mail may be safely directed to Wolfert's roost.

ELECTION NIGHT TO BE A HOWLER

The Tin Horn Vender Gets in His Work and the Crowd Will Do the Rest.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Nov. 3.

There is an ominous stillness in the air. This is the night before election, and, with the exception of a few futile Tammany meetings in different parts of the great city, there is nothing to disturb the mute anticipations of the various political leaders. Preparations for the business of the morrow can be seen on all sides. At many large stores bulletins will be posted. The newspaper offices are erecting bulletin boards, building stands for the accommodation of stereopticons, and arranging extra tables for an army of telegraph operators, while nearly all the theaters announce election day matinees. It is common remark that this has been a very quiet campaign. This is true in regard to mass meetings and processions with torchlights and red fire, but it also has been an earnest fight. Interest in the issues at stake and the men struggling for public positions has been greater than in many years of political battling, and there is every indication of an immense vote. This evening no one can say what the indications really are. Coler men insist that he cannot help being elected, while Odell men offer to bet 2 to 1 that the present governor will succeed himself. Conservative observers, with long years of political experience to their credit, admit that no one can tell how it will be. The men that sell the cigars were in the streets tonight, vending some of their instruments a little ahead of time, and suggesting the terrible noise there will be tomorrow, when the young men of the town, released from factory, store and office, gather for the carnival of clamor which is their conception of election night hilarity. They will be all out for fun. Curiosity as to the outcome of the vote is not stronger than speculation as to which newspaper office will afford most entertainment in the way of comic stereopticon pictures between the bulletins. Each office will have its crowd, and the question of where to go is of first importance. Whatever may be the result of the vote, there is no doubt that tomorrow night will be a howler in Broadway.

Roosevelt as a Common Citizen.

President Roosevelt was in New York this afternoon, but did not stay long. He was on his way from Washington to Oyster Bay. He will vote early in the morning, according to his custom, and is expected to stay in the town all day, watching the progress of the balloting at the various voting places. The president of the United States has as much local pride when he is at home as any citizen in the Union.

The Leader's Forecast.

Col. Dunn, the Republican leader, is tonight confident that his estimate of 37,600 plurality for Odell will prevail. He smiles as he says this. In the Democratic camp there is an equally positive prediction that Coler will carry the state by 50,000. This is the final word, and while it may have a dramatic value, the average voter is making his own calculations.

Wall Street Waiting.

As usual before election there was a slump in the stock market today. Things were dull on change, and brokers talked more about the political probabilities than stocks, many bets being made on the floor at the prevailing odds of two to one on Odell. The "curb" reflected the dullness of the stock exchange, and there was much less noise opposite J. Pierpont Morgan & Co.'s offices than there is as a rule. It is expected that there will be a reaction by Wednesday, when the battle is over, but today Wall street, like every other district of Greater New York, was simply waiting.

Prospects of Ructions at the Polls.

"Big Bill" Devery and his henchmen will be busy tomorrow. McCullagh, state superintendent of elections, announces that he will have his men on watch in the lower east and west side districts and elsewhere where fraudulent registration has been reported. He says men have authority to arrest offenders without obtaining warrants, and there will, doubtless, be some ructions to make the day interesting. Devery's district will get its full share of attention. This will mean clashes between "Big Bill" and the McCullagh forces, most likely, for Devery will always stand by his own men, and he does not care much for McCullagh, anyhow.

Bim Opens His New Theater.

"Bim, the button man," in a brand new clawhammer coat and carrying an opera hat, beamed upon an immense audience at his new theater, the West End, tonight. It opened for its season of performance with Alice Fischer and company in "Mrs. Jack," and "Bim" was there to see the people come in. The house has a pretty interior, as well as architectural beauty outside, and "Bim," who has made a large fortune selling photograph buttons for political campaigns and celebrations generally, is largely interested in the theater financially, besides having a great deal to do with its management. It is said that he made a tremendous sum of money by selling Dewey buttons when that hero came in triumph to New York three years ago. It looks as if the West End theater would be a success, judging from the comments of its first audience.

Schwab Helped Him to Fortune.

Gossip tells that John G. Underhill, who is much in the public eye at present because of a sensational suit for separation brought by his wife, made $100,000 last year by the help of Charles M. Schwab. Thus goes the story: Mr. Schwab one day went to the office of the real estate broker who at that time attended to his business. He was not in, and the steel man got into conversation with Underhill, who had just entered the broker's employ. Mr. Schwab was attracted by the clerk's manner. So impressed was he that he said: "You come with me and I will make it worth your while. I shall have large investments to make. You won't regret the change." Underhill accepted the new place. First he looked after Mr. Schwab's real estate investments and soon had acquired control of other affairs. He took advantage of the inside information from his employer, and today he is a rich man, with prospects of becoming still wealthier, and all from a chance that with Pittsburgh's brilliant young steel president.

Molineux Expects to Vote Next Year.

Ronald B. Molineux is taking a lively interest in the election, the Tombs keepers say, and has declared that he knows he will be able to vote at the next one. His confidence that he will be acquitted is infectious and every one that is permitted to go near him shares his belief in his ultimate release. His mother spent an hour with him in the Tombs this afternoon. She went alone in a cab and after the interview drove away as she had come. Molineux seemed brighter than ever afterward.

A Swagger Sporting Event.

As tomorrow will be a legal holiday and many business places will be closed there will be a large attendance at the American Newmarket, to take place over the course of the Meadowbrook Hunt club. A special train will leave New York shortly after noon. This will give New Yorkers time to vote and to attend the races afterward. The meeting will be a swagger affair, society being there en masse, and August Belmont, H. K. Knapp and Andrew Miller acting as stewards.

Tammany Prepares for Today.

When Tammany hall cleaned up the war chest today for the election it distributed 902 gunnysacks full of election paraphernalia for the 902 election districts and gave to each of the 902 captains $100. Tammany's position will be made clear to voters that want to know it by tons of campaign matter distributed over the city and sample ballots are so plentiful that the average brave is in danger of getting bewildered, particularly as the election laws are stringent in forbidding too much help to be given to a groping voter in the booth.

The New Musical Star.

A large and brilliant assembly of artists and friends filled Mendelssohn hall this afternoon to hear Miss Helen Henschel in her song recital, under Henry Wolfsohn's management. She was warmly received and in many passages, especially in the high notes, her voice was strong and pleasing. As it was her first appearance in public unusual interest was manifest in her venture. Miss Henschel comes of a noted musical family, being the youngest daughter of the Henschels, who were popular singers in London before coming to this country. She began the concert with a recital and aria from Handel's "Judas Maccabaeus," followed by "Knowest Thou the Land?" from Beethoven, and then Goethe's "Love's Unrest," with Schubert's musical setting. Then she sang from Mozart, Schumann and Brahms, supplemented with traditional songs of England, France, Scotland and Italy. A feature of the afternoon's entertainment, aside from the star, was the superb violin playing of Miss Winifred Smith, whose deep, haunting haunting tones won her hearty applause. Miss Henschel and Miss Smith will appear in Pittsburgh in the course of the winter.

The Critic Who Knew Brahms.

I heard a story at Mendelssohn hall this afternoon in the intermission of the concert, told by one of the best-known musical critics on a brother critic. Some years ago there was a pianoforte recital by the famous pianist, and one of the big New York papers was represented there by a man who had a high reputation as a musical scholar and writer. Particularly he prided himself on his knowledge of Brahms and his music, whose works were prominently on the program and who was a personal friend of his. One number was a long composition by Brahms which was regarded as exemplifying the master's style and his bitter detestation of the Wagnerian school more than anything else from his pen. At the last moment, however, the music of this composition was mislaid and the pianist substituted something else by Brahms, without any announcement being made. The critic that knew Brahms went to his office and wrote a deeply analytical and technical disquisition on the pianist's rendering of the piece he did not play and it was printed in his paper the next morning. Then, as he looked at the other papers, which told of the change in the program, he gasped for breath. He hurled himself over to the room of another critic and upbraided him furiously for not saving him from the horrible blunder. "Well," was the calm response, "you said you knew Brahms so well, and were so thoroughly familiar with his music that I did not think you could listen to one of his compositions for a good half hour without knowing what it was." Then, as every one in the lobby laughed, word came that the concert was about to resume, and all went inside.

Silversmiths Quit Work.

Now it is the silversmiths that are on strike. Three hundred of them went out of the Whiting Manufacturing Company's works in this city today. This was half of the entire force. The strikers want a nine-hour day and say they will stay out until they get it. The day before election is regarded as a good time to strike, because there will be plenty of fun tomorrow, and some of the silversmiths may make an odd dollar or two working around the polls. No pronunciamento has come from the employers. Probably they think it would be idle to say anything until after election, anyhow.

Election Night Bulletins.

There will be no election bulletins displayed in Park row on account of the torn-up condition of the thoroughfare by subway operations; but newspapers that are not in Printing House square will show the returns as they come in. The Herald will announce the result by an enormous searchlight from the tower of Madison Square garden, the direction in which the shaft of light is sent telling the people which man or ticket is ahead. This has been the custom of the Herald for several years on election day and it is the most prominent bulletin that could be displayed, or it can be seen from all parts of the city, and from Jersey City, Hoboken and other towns along the north side of the Hudson river as well.

Devery Must Vote for a Republican.

It is said that "Big Bill" Devery will have to cast a vote against his own candidate for assembly, Richard Butler, because he lost a game of pinochle today. Devery is said to be the best pinochle player in his district and when a Republican challenged him to play on condition that the loser should vote for his opponent's man, Devery winked to the crowd and sailed in. He was beaten and now he has to vote for the Republican candidate, Allen, although his heart is with Butler. His only hope now is to find some Republican who can be persuaded to vote for Butler, so that he can "break even;" but if ever the "Big Chief" was chagrined he is tonight over that game of pinochle.

Cleveland's Sophistry.

From the Baltimore American.

Mr. Cleveland may rail at the Republicans as he pleases, may plead for revision of the tariff by Democrats, and may evade fact and argue sophistically in his endeavor to overthrow Republican administration, but those facts remain as indubitable: The Republicans have handled the tariff question capably and to the enormous enrichment of the nation, while, by their party record, the Democrats are so incompetent as frame and pass a tariff law that their president—Mr. Cleveland himself—would neither sign nor veto it. By that act Cleveland condemned his own party on this question, and present-day arguments cannot wipe out that condemnation.

PERSONALS.

A. E. Salwen, general manager of the Gatraengeshberger iron ore mines, Sweden, accompanied by Claes Landin of the same city, E. Roth of Stockholm and A. Hanson of Kuapoing, Sweden, are at the Hotel Duquesne. The last three gentlemen are connected with the engineers' department of the Swedish plant, and their visit to America is for the purpose of inspecting the coal and other mines of this country. While in Norway, Mich., Mr. Salwen said he had been entertained by 200 of his former employes. They gave him and his friends a dinner and took them through the mines. "I have over 1,700 men in my employ in Sweden," he said, "and have installed a great deal of labor-saving machinery. I have come to America to make a study of the different mines and the machinery in use. It is possible that I will purchase some machinery before I return to Sweden." Mr. Salwen is a personal friend of King Oscar of Sweden, and last night showed many decorations given to him by the king.

The Rev. Father T. E. Sherman, son of the late Gen. William T. Sherman, arrived here yesterday and will remain until tonight, when he will leave for his home in Chicago. While here he is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Fitch, of East End. Father Sherman is the head of a Catholic publishing house in Chicago, run under the auspices of the Catholic Truth Society. He was met in the Cathedral Lyceum in Fifth avenue last night by members of the local Truth society. The Rev. Father Regis Canevin, rector of St. Paul's Cathedral, introduced Father Sherman to the members. He made a short address.

East and west-bound passenger travel was heavy last night, as many of the commercial men were going to their homes to cast their votes today. Business at the hotels was below the limit, and only those who were compelled to stay in the city over the day were registered.

C. M. Bennett, superintendent of the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley railroad, arrived at Union station last night in his special car, on a tour of inspection. He will leave Union station this morning for Mingo Junction, Mansfield, Toledo and Cleveland.

George Linderman, former superintendent of the City Farm, at Marshalsea, Mrs. Linderman, Councilman Evan Jones and his daughter will start for California next week. They will be absent from two to four months.

J. Acres, a business man of the City of Mexico, is at the Hotel Duquesne. His visit to Pittsburgh is for the purpose of inspecting the large industrial plants.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Mrs. E. R. Donehoo.

Mrs. Georgiana Maria Jones Donehoo died yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Donehoo was the wife of the Rev. Dr. E. R. Donehoo, pastor of the West End Presbyterian church. She was a native of Charleston, S. C., her ancestry being among the most distinguished in South Carolina. Her maternal grandfather was Dr. Edward Jones of Charleston, a leading physician and well-known for his contributions to the public press. Her father, the late George W. Patterson, a native of Pittsburgh, located when a youth in Charleston and became a prominent merchant in that city. Just before the outbreak of the civil war Mr. Patterson moved with his family to Allegheny. Mrs. Donehoo's maternal great-grandfather was one of the distinguished divines sent out by the bishop of Peterborough, England, to establish the Protestant Episcopal church in South Carolina. She received her early training in a select school in Charleston, kept by the distinguished southern poetess and novelist, Catherine Lee Alentz. Mrs. Donehoo was distinguished in her early years for her beauty of person and many graces of character. She was married to Dr. Donehoo in the ordination from the Western Theological seminary. The Democratic Limit.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

A congressional committee appointed by a Democratic congress in 1888 to investigate the tariff question reported to congress that, "owing to differences of opinion among the members of the committee, we are unable to make any recommendation." That is about as far as Democratic statesmanship ever gets.

Must Be False.

From the Philadelphia Press.

They say hoop skirts are coming in fashion again, but we don't believe it. If any such danger were impending the Pennsylvania Democratic platform would have mentioned it.

SMALL BITS OF LIFE IN THE CITY

SNAP shots at scenes in our crowded city streets, eccentricities, accidents, amusing encounters, snapped for the moment then gone except for the impressions they leave—such are the incidents that are daily forced upon us: the dots and dashes that relieve the day's message of responsibility and worry.

Two women, well dressed in country garments, hurried away from the station yesterday. Between them they carried a chip market basket filled with jars of canned fruit. "Where Mary lived" and "How surprised Joe would be!" revealed the nature of their trip—they were visiting. The luscious contents of the jars was intended for relatives or friends deprived of country luxuries. Suddenly the basket handle pulled out. Down went the basket with a crash. The women were dismayed. But as the tomato preserves oozed out, mixed with quince jelly, they rallied to the occasion. One rushed into a store and emerged a moment later with a four-quart pail and spoon. Down on her knees she went, and while the crowd stopped to observe the queer proceeding she deftly scooped up the fruit and broken glass from the pavement till her pail was full. Then with the pail in one hand and a jar of crabs in the other, she marched off in triumph, leaving her companion to carry the other jars in a big telescope.

A conspicuous pair of blondes they were—a man under a big sombrero and a woman with a smirk. Chained to them were two dogs of the ball pup variety somewhat more disgusting than the average poodle. Fourth avenue was crowded, but they ambled along serenely unconscious that they were monopolizing five-sixths of the pavement. The dogs ran in and out between legs and around children while their owners gently pulled on the chains or tried to guide them with the walking sticks they carried. Suddenly one pup dived under a fat man with a heavy bundle. The other pup followed. Each took the same direction. The chains tightened. The fat man's main support was jerked from under him and his other rheumatic leg refused to do duty. Down he came—fortunately on the taller pup. The dog yelped, the woman shrieked over her darling's fate, and the sombrero blonde pulled and tugged at the fat man denouncing his carelessness as outrageous. The burden was finally righted and the broken-legged pup extricated from his prison. The woman cuddled the muddy poodle next to her face and the man with the badly ruffled dignity walked off with the other pet. The fat man swore, the crowd grinned and the thoughtless small boy chirped in:

"Wouldn't that jar you?"

"Yer did, did yer? I'll fix yer fer it!" was the crowd's first intimation of trouble. Two newsies handed their papers to admiring backers and stripped for battle. Braced like two Sullivans, they glared at each other and sparred for openings. A bewildering array of fists followed. Then a rousing slap on the cheek of one brought a dexterous undercut on the jaw of the other. Big waves of tears rolled up into their eyes. The blows stopped.

"I say, wot's der use, Mickey? Maybe yer didn't," whined one.

"Yer kin hev them two fellers I sold to, anyway," was the response, uttered with a fierce gulp.

"Come on, it's my treat," chimed in the first speaker.

"Betcher life I will."

The backers blessed a little, but the pugilists started down Virgin alley on a run to divide a "dog" sandwich between them.

NOT long ago a Pittsburgh gentleman wrote an up-country friend that he had shipped him a valuable hunting dog by express. With pleasant anticipation the friend went to the express office to secure his prize, and received a crate containing a mangy cur that was so unprepossessing that the average small boy would have passed it in disgust and would not even thing it worth while to tie a can to its tail.

"Good joke!" he muttered to himself. "But I'll get even with Tom for such a mangy trick."

Whether he ever got even or not, it wasn't Tom's fault. It was through a combination of circumstances that a fine hunting dog was put in the crate in Pittsburgh and a discard was ta

UNCLE SAM RICH IN GOLD MONEY

Available Cash Balance Last July, $862,187,361, Largest in Our History.

EFFORTS TO REDUCE IT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.—Ellis H. Roberts, treasurer of the United States, in opening his annual report, says the magnitude of the available cash balances and the unprecedented holdings of gross gold are the striking features of the condition of the treasury at the close of the fiscal year 1902.

The net ordinary revenues for the year were $562,478,223, and the expenditures $471,190,857, showing a surplus of $91,287,376. In comparison with the previous year there was a decrease of $25,207,104 in the revenues, offset by a falling off of $38,776,405 in the expenditures.

While there was an increase of $15,859,-232 in the receipts from customs, the internal revenues, under the operation of new laws repealing the war taxes, fell off $55,599,541. There was a decrease of $32,243,481 in expenditures on account of the war department, and an increase of $7,296,149 in the cost of the navy.

Uncle Sam's Balance Sheet.

The total receipts of the year from all sources, including the public debt, were $1,092,134,067, and the disbursements $969,627,044. United States notes and treasury notes were redeemed in gold to the amount of $17,482,509 of the former and $1,274,500 of the latter without any impairment of the gold reserve of $150,-000,000.

The available cash balance in the treasury July 1, 1902, was the largest net balance in our history. It amounted to $862,187,361. The gold reserve is counted in as it is available for the redemption of legal tender notes. The sums in national banks to the credit of the treasurer and disbursing officers were $127,-876,656. The subsidiary silver $11,462,553, and the minor coin $519,404, could hardly be used for large payments, nor is the silver bullion to be reckoned for such purposes. With such deductions there remained in the treasury vaults, July 1, a little over $721,000,000. As $500,000,000 is deemed a fair working fund, about $221,000,000 could be spared. By October 1 this excess became $25,000,000 and justified measures to reduce it. By November 1 it was brought to a trifle over $1,000,000 below the working fund.

Large Proportion of Gold.

Nearly one-half of the available cash balance July 1 was in gold coin and certificates, $103,801,290 over and above the gold reserve of $150,000,000, and by October 1 it became $136,124,771. As a new measure of the financial strength of the government, the report says the fact deserves mention.

By October 1, 1902, the available cash balance, exclusive of the reserve, was $221,253,324; and owing to th large measures for the relief of the money market it was reduced by November 1 to $206,-421,879. Of this sum $146,855,012 was in national banks. Bonds of the face value of $56,071,230 were purchased during the fiscal year for the sinking fund at a total cost of $70,419,220 for principal, premium and accrued interest.

The interest due October 1, 1901, which amounted to $4,712,120, was anticipated on September 16. That due January 1, 1902, for $4,620,336, was anticipated on December 16. On September 13, 1902, the interest due October 1, $4,561,478.75, was anticipated, and on October 20, the interest due November 1, for $2,323,568, was paid in advance. During October interest to the amount of $3,518,397 was paid in advance, with a rebate of $38,443 under an offer of the secretary, covering all bonds and their earnings up to July 1, 1903.

State of National Debt.

While the accounts of the public debt, on their face, show an increase of $15,-285,512 in the total of the debt, if allowance be made for the increase of $37,624,-000 in gold certificates, the national operations will be shown to have been furnished by $42,340,888 during the fiscal the general stock of money in the try an addition of $80,108,681 was during the fiscal year. Of this $87,-37 was in gold coin and bullion. was also an increase of $19,755,250 standard dollars and of $7,360,891 in diary silver.

five years the ratio of gold in the try to total circulation has run up m 36.52 to 46.45 to the 100.

The growth in the volume of money in irculation during the year was $74,082,-59, the per capita from 27.98 to 28.42. he element of gold coin and gold certifi-tes was the largest part.

The advance in circulation in the vol-me of gold, including certificates, within 2 years by the large sum of $433,703,516, s the measure of the greater strength of our circulation. The addition during the past fiscal year was $61,980,171.

On June 27 the gold certificates outstanding, for the first time exceeded in volume the United States notes and were $347,179,089. By November 1 they were $367,078,369.

As a result of the movements which have been noted, our government paper currency is gaining in simplicity. Gradually all large denominations are becoming gold certificates, and the smallest silver certificates, while in time all $10, will be United States notes.

HOME OF MINER IS INSPECTED

Arbitrators Are Given Peep Into Family Life of One of the Diggers.

DARKNESS IN THE MINE

HAZLETON, PA., Nov. 3.—The anthracite strike commission spent the entire day in the Lehigh valley, visiting one mine and several of the mining villages. While most of the commissioners were looking over the territory, Recorder Wright was kept busy on the train attending to correspondence. Among the matters he disposed of was the sending of a copy of President Mitchell's statement of the miners' case to all the coal companies involved.

The commission's first stop of the day was at Upper Lehigh, where A. C. Leisenring, superintendent of the Upper Lehigh Coal Company, took the commissioners for a drive through the town. While in this place the arbitrators visited one of the homes of the miners, the first they have been in since they have been touring the region.

Drifton was the next place visited, and there a crowd gathered about the commission, as Supt. Smith of Coxe Bros. company, whose mines are located there, explained the trouble between the company and its men.

Strike Still Going on.

All the miners employed at these mines are still on strike, because the company insists upon them returning to work as individuals, and not in a body.

At Jeddo, John Markle, the independent operator, joined the party and escorted the commissioners to the mining village of Oakdale. Mr. Markle showed them the club house which he maintains there for the benefit of the men. On the run into Hazleton, where the breaker of No. 40 shaft was inspected, Messrs. Markle, Duffy and Gallagher had a spirited discussion over the differences existing at the Markle mines. None of the men at the Markle colliery has returned to work for the same reason as those which are keeping the men out of the Coxe mines. Mr. Markle told them he was running the Markle company and would maintain discipline.

Luncheon was served at the Central hotel here and the entire afternoon was spent in the Audenried mine. The commissioners were lowered into the workings, 350 feet below, through a 1,100-foot slope. One of the "new physical features" they saw was a vein of coal with a very steep pitch, which was difficult to mine.

When the Lights Go Out.

While they were inspecting this a blast was fired in a nearby chamber and the lights carried by those who remained in the gangway below were extinguished by the rush of air. Some of the party were timid for a moment, wondering what had happened, but they were quickly assured that there was no danger, by men familiar with the mine.

After the cage to the surface the arbitrators visited a "stripping," which is a place where the coal lies so near the surface that the earth can be taken off with a steam shovel, exposing the coal and thus making its mining an easy matter.

The commissioners spent tonight at the Central hotel, and will leave for Shamokin at 7:45 tomorrow morning. The day will be spent in that vicinity and Wednesday will find the commission in the Panther creek valley. On Thursday the arbitrators will visit the region around Pottsville, and that night the commission will adjourn until November 11.

WHITE MAN'S WAYS DEVASTATE ISLAND

Arctic Natives Don't Know What to Do When They Get Strange Ills.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—Thousands of natives of Herschel Island and along the Arctic coast are dying from measles. The news was brought by the whaling steamer Jeannette, which arrived yesterday. Captain Newth of the cannette, said today:

"At least 25 per cent of the natives along the Arctic coast have died from measles. They are dying off like rabbits and there seems to be nothing to check the death rate.

"When the natives began to wear civilized man's clothing and drink white man's whisky then began their decline. Diseases unheard of attacked them and, not knowing how to care for themselves, the people died rapidly. Pneumonia, rheumatism, grip and every conceivable malady made their appearance among them, and spread along the coast with appalling results."

ELECTION EVE IN PITTSBURGH THEATERS

Alvin—Joseph Jefferson.

For so many of the old theatergoers, and for scores of the new, who like their fathers and grandfathers have come to know and love both the player and his part, it is enough to say that Joseph Jefferson is in town and at the Alvin theater is playing for a large part of the week the character of "Rip Van Winkle." The announcement is in itself a review running back through 35 years of Pittsburgh's stage history—no criticism is necessary, for what Rip has been for all these years, he was last night, swollowed, possibly, and grown more familiar and, therefore, to many, more dear. Mr. Jefferson's personality grows more and more a factor in the characterization, and that it does not change, is due to the fact that all his ripened art has been put into it.

The famous old comedian is like a sheaf of rich wheat, every grain and blade made golden and ripe by the three-score years of service to his art and to the people who hold him in such high esteem and reverence. His Rip is the embodiment of genius and toil. Playing it so often the character has become merged in the man and the man is for the time lost in the old Catskill tippler. The audience last evening was not large, but it was composed of Mr. Jefferson's cordial friends, who held him to be the best and truest exponent of the best of American acting talent that has lingered amid conditions changed and altered by the advance of new ideals, whether better or not, must be left to the judgment of time.

Mr. Jefferson's company is but little changed. John Jack and Frohlleit Paget and Blanche Bender, George Denham and young Joe Jefferson are still with the company, and the two little tots, Iona Venata and Dolly Orweiser, played the childish roles of Little Meenie and Heinrich with engaging and precise winsomeness.

Last evening young Mr. Walter Ware, who was with the Grand stock company, played the role of Cockles and did it well. Wednesday night "The Rivals" will be played and on Saturday night the double bill of "Cricket on the Hearth" and "Lend Me Five Shillings" will be presented. In a brief curtain speech at the conclusion of the first act last night, Mr. Jefferson told his audience that he had been playing Rip in Pittsburgh for 25 years.

Grand—"The Little Minister."

In Barrie's quaint play "The Little Minister" the Grand Stock Company has this week an excellent medium for the display of the talents of the several members for light and deft comedy. The results as a whole are satisfactory. It will be remembered that this play was one of the big successes of last season at this house and the performances yesterday started off with every indication of something like the same interest. Miss Eva Taylor as Babbie, the daughter of Lord Rintoul, who masquerades as a gypsy and wins the heart of the Thrums preacher, is not quite so effective in the broad comedy part of the role as she is later on, in the first act, when her identity is disclosed. The scene in Nannie Webster's cottage, one of the most delightful in the play, is broadened by the three participants into almost farce, and this disposition came to the surface several times in Miss Taylor's playing, marring to some extent the artistic finish of the role. Later on, however, the actress seemed to fall more readily into the spirit and atmosphere of the part, and the concluding acts were made thoroughly pleasing. Mr. Ingersoll plays the "Little Minister" well, it being, indeed, one of the best things that he does. Miss Marion Ballou as Micah Dow, and Miss Emma Phillips in the small part of Prince, Lady Babbie's maid, add immensely to the delight and excellence of the performance. In strongly contrasted roles these two players give a performance equal to their original work in the Augustus Adams company. Mr. Beach's Rob Dow and Alice Gale's Nannie Fisher, were moderately well done only. Mr. Cooper is completely out of his element as Thomas Whammond, but Messrs. Abbe, Martin and Harris gave the same excellent interpretation to the roles Speedy, Sobbel, Andrew Maelmeker and Silva Tosh that we saw last year. Mr. Wishman's Joe Cruikshanes was also an excellent character bit, while Mr. Taylor as Lord Rintoul and Mr. Greenleaf as Capt. Halliwell kept pace with the general excellence.

In Act 4, except two, the effort to grapple with the Scotch dialect was a hopeless failure. Miss Ballou and Dennie Harris kept fairly well within the Thrums atmosphere, so far as speech is used to indicate it. Scenically the play is adequately presented.

Empire—Williams and Walker.

A packed house and a hearty welcome greeted Williams and Walker in their new musical farce, "In Dahomey," at the Empire last evening. The piece is well adopted to the purposes of these clever comedians, and they are supported by a large, competent and well-costumed company. The opportunities for good team and specialty work are not neglected, and the entertainment is full of good music, vim and dash from start to finish. The piece starts in Boston, where a colonization syndicate is formed, moves to Gatorville, Fla., where the emegrants are collected, and finally ends in the jungles of Africa. The lazy, ludicrous manners of Williams kept the audience in a continuous uproar, and the songs, with "All Coons Look Out" and "Comin' In," will never be successfully imitated. "When Sousa Comes to Coontown," sung by Geo. Walker, is one of the best things on the program. "I Want to Be a Real Lady," "Broadway in Dahomey" and "Das Girl of Mine" are all worth hearing. There is not one dull number on the bill. It is just the sort of show to steal dull care away and make one feel that, no matter what his troubles there is still some fun in life.

Avenue—Continuous Vaudeville.

It's an attractive program of varied high-class vaudeville acts that Manager Harry Davis brings to the Avenue theater for this week's continuous performance show. Maggie Cline, undoubtedly the most successful woman singer of Irish songs on any stage comes back to Pittsburgh this week. No one who has not heard her sing "Throw Him Down, McCluskey" knows the genuine Irish ballad in all its purity and fervor. She has been singing this for so many years it would be unkind of give the number, but as she sings it, the old song still stirs the fighting blood. Then she has some new ones, too. All received yesterday the heartiest applause from large audiences.

Gertrude Mansfield and Carl Wilbur in "61 Prospect Street" do a good comedy act. Some of the illusions of De Biere & Co. are new and interesting. Loris and Altina, especially the latter, who is a woman, show some good tricks in rifle shooting. Raymon Moore sings. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Barry and Mr. and Mrs. Swickard appear in comedies. Gorman, Proctor and Gorman call themselves the Caledonian Trio. Brooks brothers do well in the one-act comedy, "A $25,000 Production." Morris and Bowen do a comedy stunt on the triple bars. Particular mention is won by Mitchell and Cain. Cain's singing was so good that more was wanted and only the good comedy work of Mitchell stopped the demand. The Eastbrooks do a musical act, while Emily Edwards sings, does imitations and a monologue. The cinematograph ends the entertainment.

Bijou—Hanlon's "Superbe."

A decided innovation in this season's entertainments is offered this week at the Bijou in the form of Hanlon's "Superbe." In its variety of scenery and action and its grotesque stage effects it affords from start to finish a most interesting performance. The piece has been written by Herbert Hall Winslow and in its present form has many new features that are calculated to amuse an audience. Some of the tricks are worthy of a Keller, notably those of the second act, where the sudden appearance and disappearance of the actors in a marvelously small space is little short of miraculous to the looker. The stage effects are very successful and the intricate movements of scenery are executed with a skill and precision seldom excelled. Superba, or Violet V. Holmes, appears in the first act in the ghostly realm of Wallalia, where hissing reptiles vie with fiercely burning fires in producing a hideous effect. Robert Rossire as Pierrot, the clown, who is persistently duped, is the most grotesque, amusing specimen that has appeared on the Bijou stage for a long time. In his difficult role of making fun out of trouble he displays a quick wit and nimble action that keep him in favor with all around him. Two of the stage effects deserve special mention, the locomotive race, where two locomotives, apparently full size, go tearing across the stage with all the noise and glare of the real engine, and the volcano, which is no less real in its appearance. The artistic dancing of Milburn's beaux and belles is a striking feature of the entertainment, and the trick bicycle riding at the close is way above the average vaudeville act.

Duquesne—Vaudeville.

The Duquesne has another excellent vaudeville attraction this week in Ross & Benton and their stars, and the crowd which thronged the play house last night, regardless of the good things which most theaters have this week, thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated the entertainment. There is just enough variety to the character of the sketches to give a spice to the entire bill. George Frede and Sadie Forrest lead the bill, aptly calling themselves "The Musical Tramps" and the Electric Scudders, with several good dances and series of trick musical work. The three Delmore Sisters in a sketch called "The Bridegroom's Reverie," each show themselves in about nine different characters with very short words for each changes, while the bridegroom is scanning over his past life through the leaves of a stack of letters. It is a most pleasing act. Julian Rose, the Hebrew comedian, is equally as funny and clever as Jess Dandy. Charles J. Ross and Mabel Fenton, assisted by Laura Palmer, give a travesty on Sardou's "Cleopatra," in which they show the versatility of polished legitimate artists with the frosting of farce acting. Crane Bros. and Belmont, the "Mudtown Minstrels," are a blackface show of "Seventy people; count them," by themselves. The Musical Johnstons in their xylophone act display surpassing merit. Johnston and Buchanan are a pair of colored comedy artists and very entertaining. Montrel, the European juggler, has some amazing new tricks and his act is made very funny by the pantomime work of a burnt cork assistant. The Yosemonte Bros. are certainly a pair of agile Japanese, their work on a wire and other difficult equilibrist acts.

Academy—Bowery Burlesquers.

The Bowery Burlesquers opened at the Academy last night and proved a genuine surprise. This show is staged in a most elaborate manner and is costumed in such variety as to necessitate a constant change all through the performance. Indeed, the production is really a musical comedy with burlesque and vaudeville mingled from beginning to end, instead of having these two features separated as the bill. Much new and clever humor is interspersed in the different acts, which kept the audience in an uproar, and the singing and dancing numbers by the chorus were encored liberally. Good vaudeville specialty acts are introduced here and there in the program. The cast included the full strength of both of the Taylor trio, consisting of comedy, singing and music. Belle Veola, who is pretty and shapely, appeared in dancing and clever feats of contortion. Gilbert and Goldie as a "Gent and a Brute," produced a number of jokes which kept the audience in constant laughter. The Barrows in songs and dances were well received also. Altogether the show is a hummer.

A Novel Ballet.

The most striking ballet in the big glittering Drury lane spectacle, which Klaw & Erlanger will present to theatergoers at the Alvin next week, is the ballet of seasons, with which the second act terminated. This ballet is unique and novel throughout, presenting startling surprises with every movement. It begins with spring, which begins in February in England, so St. Valentine's guards come first, followed by shamrocks and nest hearers, primroses, daisies, crocuses and all the early blossoms. Then come lads and lassies with flower-twined Maypoles around which they dance, followed by all the roses—white, pink, yellow and red—then the poppies and wheat, the harvesters with scythes, the autumn leaves, the hunters with foxes and pheasants and, last of all, the holly and snow, accompanied by the swallows. This ballet is so arranged that as the various dancers enter from the wings, the preceding dancers group themselves on steps at the rear of the stage, so that by the time the snow maidens flutter on with the swallows and holly berries, there is a background of a hundred tints, melting into each other.

Mr. Meighan Leaves the Grand.

The Grand Opera House Stock Company, which has given to the theatrical world a number of exceptionally clever recruits, there being no less than five stars in the dramatic field this season who will regard the Grand opera house here as their alma mater. The latest recruit from the stock company to cast his fortune elsewhere is Mr. Thomas Meighan, the popular young Alleghenian, who has held the position of juvenile man with the stock company. Mr. Meighan has just closed a contract with Miss Elsie De wolf's company, opening in "The Way of the World," at New Orleans, November 17. He will join the company at Nashville, November 10, for rehearsals, so that his present appearance with "The Little Minister," will be his farewell performances in Pittsburgh. Mr. Meighan was engaged by Miss DeWolf for the part of Neville, in Clyde Fitch's smart society play, "The Way of the World." It is the next best part to that of John Mason and is of almost the same importance as the leading man. It is directly in Mr. Meighan's line, and his friends are sanguine that he will give a good account of himself. Miss DeWolf will open at Wallack's theater in January in a new English play, entitled "Mrs. Willoughby's Kiss," in which Mr. Meighan will have a prominent part, and his first opportunity to play before a New York audience.

BRYAN MEETS APATHY.

Close of His Supreme Effort to Wrest Nebraska from Republican Party Rule.

OMAHA, NEB., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—W. J. Bryan began his final flying tour of the Republican counties last Thursday morning and closed his speechmaking tour tonight. It is a supreme effort to wrest the state government of Nebraska from the Republican rule. He is talking both national and state issues. As to the former, his prophecies are pretty generally discounted because of the uniform failure of his predictions heretofore.

Mr. Bryan, as well as other speakers of both parties, is encountering a widespread indifference among the voters which foreshadows a light vote tomorrow.

Would-be-Burglar Caught.

Chief of Police Floyd Ross of Wilkinsburg yesterday afternoon arrested Gaz Vincenzo, an Italian, who was seen trying to effect an entrance to No. 1025 Penn avenue, after having previously been seen to make his exit from the home of Otto Otis at No. 1023 Penn avenue. Later it was ascertained that he answered the description of the thief who forced an entrance to the residence of Attorney John A. Keys, No. 721 South avenue, on Saturday afternoon. An information was sworn out charging him with this robbery and he was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Samuel Creelman and held for court. In default of bond Vincenzo was committed to jail.

Want to Build Three Bridges.

At a meeting of Braddock council last night the American Steel and Wire Company presented a request that an ordinance granting them permission to construct three overhead bridges at their Ninth street plant be passed. The matter was referred to the street committee. The report of the public works department showed that a saving of 13,000,000 gallons of water had been effected during last month by repairs to the borough water pipes.

An Up-to-Date Buffet

Those persons who have the time to trace the history of furniture are always interested in the successive stages by which the equipment of the dining room reached its present attractiveness. The truth is that there was a time when comparatively little attention was given the subject. But as soon as people began to have pride in their surroundings indifference gave way to a determination to make the dining room as bright and cheerful as possible.

The evolution of the Buffet marks this change with special emphasis.

And the Buffet shown in this advertisement is a noteworthy example of the best phase of the modern development.

Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Teams Ready for the Contest.

ARTHUR POE AT END

What will undoubtedly be one of the hardest football struggles of the local season will take place this afternoon at the Colosseum when the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Star elevens line up against each other for their first contest of the ... These teams are contesting for honors in the new football league, both only date, and for Nicholas ... the Philadelphia eleven has one of the ... in football in the country. ... Pittsburgh team is ... and the ... are wonderfully fast, and display a fine mastery of all the tricks of the game. The team is captained by Bert Kennedy, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania. Kennedy is a pupil of George Woodruff, one of the greatest masters of ... attack the game ever knew.

The Pittsburgh Stars had a long, hard practice on Point Breeze grounds yesterday afternoon. Had a turn in the line-up and all signals and formations were run through. The practice was secret and the men went at it hard and in earnest. The team has no fear of the guards' back formation, and the defense for it was perfected yesterday afternoon.

John Geiger, big and strong, 225 pounds, joined the team yesterday, coming on from Philadelphia. He is anxious to get into the game and may play in the second half. He caught on to the signals quickly and is already familiar with the formations. Long haives will be played and the greatest battle ever fought on a Pittsburgh gridiron will be pulled off at 3 o'clock. Lawler is entirely well and will show the Philadelphia guards a few ways to advance the ball. Ridloff will be in at left guard and 241 pounds of muscle is a hard proposition to stop. The team will line up as follows:

WATERBURY, CONN., Nov. 3.—Austin Rice, the pugilist who was arrested Saturday on a charge alleging intent to break the peace by engaging in a boxing match with "Young Corbett" next Tuesday night, was today bound over under $100 to keep the peace.

"Young Corbett," against whom a warrant was issued, did not put in an appearance, but was represented by an attorney. A bond of $500 was provided for him by Manager Crowley.

DENIES OPTION ON QUAKER CLUB

President Dreyfuss Says One Team Is as Much as He Cares to Handle.

President Dreyfuss, of the Pittsburgh club, returned home from the east yesterday, and simultaneous with his return came a report that his stopover in Philadelphia on Sunday had some baseball significance attached to it. It was given out in the Quaker city that Mr. Dreyfuss' stopover was to visit relatives, but this was not the exact truth.

The report which arrived here was that the owner of the Pittsburgh club had suddenly been summoned from New York to the Quaker city by the attorney of the Philadelphia national league club, and it was further stated that Mr. Dreyfuss was the holder of an option on the club in the Quaker city. This option was not procured for himself, but for some friends who were willing to invest their money in the Philadelphia franchise and take chances in a fight for popularity with Connie Mack and his Athletics. This report was emphatically denied by Mr. Dreyfuss, who said that he has one ball club now and that is all he cares to handle.

The Pirates' leader on his return found a lot of mail awaiting him. One letter was from Third Baseman Tommy Leach, who advised him to pay no attention to claims made by the American league so far as he was concerned, as he had signed with the Pittsburgh club for next season and would be on hand to carry out the requirements of his contract. There was also a letter from Manager Fred Clarke, denying a report sent here by Chesbro as to Clarke's avoiding him in Chicago. The manager writes that he saw and talked to both Tannehill and Chesbro in the Windy city.

President Dreyfuss announced that while in the east he had signed a new left-hand pitcher, who he things will make good in the big league, but he was not prepared to give out the new man's name. The Pirates' owner indorsed the statements made by Secretary Pulliam relative to the proposed invasion of this city by the American league. Further than that he did not care to be quoted.

GOLF MATCH FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Important Contest Between the Allegheny and Highland Clubs Takes Place Today.

One of the most important golf events of the year, which may decide the league championship of the local district, will be played this afternoon on the Allegheny Country club course, at Sewickley. The Highland Golf club team, which at present holds the championship, meets the Allegheny six, which previous to the present season, always stood supreme. Highland won the spring match and by a victory today would retain the honor. Allegheny's victory would mean a post-season contest on a neutral course. The teams will play as follows:

Highland.	Allegheny.
G. W. Templeton.	E. M. Byers.
W. C. Fownes, Jr.,	B. S. Horne.
H. Penn	J. E. Porter.
C. H. Fownes.	C. D. Thompson.
W. C. Fownes,	W. Thayer.
H. C. Fownes.	John Moorhead, Jr.

On the links of the Pittsburgh Country club there will be a mixed foursome for cups presented by D. McK. Lloyd.

FORBES BEATS TWO.

Bantam Champion Knocks Out One Man and Gives Another Hard Grueling in One Ring.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Harry Forbes, the bantam weight champion, met two men in the same ring here tonight and defeated both. His opponents were George Halliday of New York and Billy Finucane of Chicago. Each contest was scheduled for six rounds. Halliday met Forbes first and was knocked out after two minutes of fighting in the first round by a right swing on the jaw.

After Forbes had rested a few minutes Finucane faced him. Finucane managed to last the six rounds, but was in bad shape and Forbes was given the verdict. Finucane is young and had fully five pounds the better of the weights, but Forbes' cleverness easily offset this advantage.

Forbes used a left jab coupled with a right hook to the jaw that had his opponent in trouble before the end of the second round. Finucane was put down for a count of nine in the third round. The ball saved him from a knockout in the next round, as he was lying on the floor in a helpless condition at the end of the round.

Finucane was knocked down twice in the next round, but resorted to clinching and succeeded in lasting out the round. In the last round Forbes tried hard to finish him, but Finucane just managed to stay through the round. He was all but out when the final bell rang and had to be assisted to his corner.

MORE CRIPPLES FOR YALE'S TEAM

Kinney and Coffin, Two Strong Players, on Hospital List.

TEAMS SHAPING UP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 3.—Two of Yale's strongest football players, Ralph Kinney of Cleveland, left tackle, and Ralston Coffin of New York, right tackle, were knocked out during the afternoon practice, Kinney had his knee dislocated and Coffin was kicked on the head. After Kinney's knee had been snapped into place he wanted to continue playing, but was ordered to his room to remain quiet. Coffin was made senseless by the blow and was dazed for several hours. Both men expect to play tomorrow.

Eleven coachers were present today, one for each member of the team. They included Swan, Cuttens, Butterworth, Corbin, Bull, Thorne, Hubbell, McBride, Brown, Cochrane and Charles Chadwick, the Yale captain's brother. Several hundred undergraduates turned out, cheering and singing for the eleven for the first time this season at the practice. The first and second elevens were given the longest Monday practice of the fall, playing 25 minute halves, the 'varsity scoring three touchdowns and Metcalf dropping two field goals neatly.

Tigers Are Resting Up.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—The 'varsity, composed mostly of substitutes, lined up against the freshmen this afternoon. After kicking the ball to the first eleven's 50-yard line, the freshmen got it out of the heap on the next scrimmage and made a long run for a touchdown, which the officials would not allow. The ball was then given to the 'varsity, who rushed it down to their opponent's three-yard line and were there held for downs. The freshmen punted, and it was after this kick that Vetterlein made a pretty goal from the field.

Must Improve Formations.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—The stars were given a layoff this afternoon, as some of them are quite sore from the harsh whacks administered by the Carlisle boys Saturday. The subs came out and were put through a sharp formation drill. Coach Farley issued a statement tonight that formation work must be improved, and that close attention must be given by all the players. Harvard admirers are guessing now where they were predicting a week ago. The slugging which was so prominently displayed by the crimson also elicited a warning. Harrison, a sub, but a good player, was particularly castigated.

Pennsy's Final Hard Practice.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Pennsylvania's football committee and Coach Williams ordained that the barrier should be lifted from Franklin field this afternoon and the student body was allowed to witness the red and blue team take is final hard practice at home before leaving for the scene of the struggle with Harvard on Saturday next. Head Coach Williams was assisted by Dr. Bull, Hedges and Vail in his work with the 'varsity and second 'varsity and the manner which the squad went through intricate formations and rapid way they worked off the signals was a delight to the crowd of students.

Capt. Gardiner joined the squad in its work and seemed to instill new life into the practice. Quarterback Dale and Fullback Bennett worked with a vim and dash and Metzgar and Richardson showed that they have been thoroughly drilled in the importance of their end positions.

ARE SURE OF VICTORY.

Philadelphia Team Will Depend on Guards Back.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 3.—(Special)—Raymond Freed, a student in the University of Pennsylvania, and who plays guard on the Philadelphia eleven, was in Greensburg this morning on his way to his home in Mt. Pleasant to vote. It said that Coach Kennedy is confident of winning tomorrow's game.

All the Philadelphia aggregation are in the best of condition, and Freed said that the team play is as near perfection as can be. The guards' back is their best ground gainer, Roller being used almost exclusively. At least 500 Greensburg enthusiasts will accompany the Pittsburgh team.

Republicans Claim Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 3.—Republican State Chairman Akins says the legislature will be very close, but Republican on joint ballot. Democratic State Chairman Rothwell claims the state by 30,000 and a majority of 30 in the legislature. The Eleventh is the only doubtful congressional district, 14 being Democratic and one Republican.

THE HOSPITAL LIST GROWING SMALLER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 3.—College park is deserted by the football squad today. Besides the large number of players who are on the crippled list, others have gone to their homes to vote, and there were not enough players here to make it worth while to hold daily practice. The men are all having a good rest, and are expected to be in good shape for the contest with Cornell next Saturday.

Capt. Hayes, who went to his home at California last week suffering with a very sore leg, has not returned, and it is said that he will not be here until Wednesday. The management has received word, however, that his injury is much improved and with care he will be in fine fettle for the game Saturday. Nothing has been heard from Center Loucks, who is at his home at Scottdale, and it is feared that he may be very ill. His condition had been very poor for some time. Heimburger, the tackle, who had a very bad leg last week, is improving with his long rest.

Guard Murphy, who is acting captain in place of Hayes, has decided to go in himself at fullback and it is likely that Longwell and Welty will play the halves against Cornell. The line will be Sutter and McDivitt, ends; Hayes and Heimburger tackles, or Gibson will play tackle if Hayes is out. McCleary will be one of the guards, and a guard and center will be selected from the scrub team to replace Murphy and Loucks.

If a sufficiently strong line can be built up for the Cornell game the new back field should be able to show the Ithacans something about offensive playing. It is the heaviest back field ever on a W. and J. team.

SELECTED THE CAPTAIN.

Clarence Wible of Wilkinsburg Named for Position—Field Meet for Schenley Park.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the members of last year's track and field team at Washington and Jefferson college in the college gymnasium here this afternoon Clarence Wible of Wilkinsburg was unanimously elected captain of the team for the coming spring. Wible is one of W. and J.'s best sprinters, having won several events at the intercollegiate field meet in Pittsburgh last spring. He runs the 100-yard, the 220-yard and the quarter mile, and a year ago held the records in these events at Washington and Jefferson.

Capt. Wible stated tonight that in his opinion the team next year would be one of the best in the history of Washington and Jefferson college. In addition, all the members of last year's team, none of whom leave left school, a large number of good track team men have entered the freshmen class from the Washington and Jefferson academy and other preparatory schools, and it is expected that they will greatly strengthen the local team.

An attempt will be made to secure Schenley park for the annual intercollegiate field and track meet next spring, but if this cannot be secured it is probable that this event will be held in Washington as in former years. No manager for the track teams has been elected yet, but an election probably will be held at the close of the football season.

Another Victim of Football.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Roy Nail, son of John Nail of this city, is lying seriously injured at West Middlesex as the result of injuries received in a football game with the Middlesex team. During a scrimmage the ligaments of his right thigh were torn loose, making a wound that will keep him out of the game for the rest of the season.

Bishop Merrill Will Preside.

WILMINGTON, Nov. 3.—The board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church tonight announced the dates and presiding bishops of the conferences to be held throughout the world. Bishop Merrill will preside over the Central Pennsylvania conference at Altoona on March 25.

Democrats Sure of Seven.

LOUISVILLE, KY., Nov. 3.—It is generally conceded that the Democrats will elect seven congressmen and the Republicans one, while the remaining three districts are in doubt.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 1, 1902.

We, the undersigned, representing all the molders employed by the H. K. Porter Company, assembled at the shops this date, do hereby repudiate and renounce as absolutely false and misleading, the resolutions bearing on Mr. Porter's candidacy for congress, printed in the Pittsburgh Press, under date of Thursday, October 30. We wish to subscribe to the fact that we are receiving more than union wages, and are perfectly satisfied with the treatment which Mr. Porter has shown us in the conduct of our department at his shops.

We feel that this true statement is due him at this time, in recognition of his cordial and fair treatment of us in the past.

Foley Is Still Running.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—W. J. Foley, the Democratic candidate in the Eighteenth district, was announced to have withdrawn from the race, Saturday night, W. Q. Radcliffe, Democratic candidate for sheriff, making the announcement and advising Democrats to vote for T. J. Duffy, the labor candidate. Mr. Foley was indignant when he heard of this announcement, and says that he will stay in the race to the end, if he gets no more than one vote, and that vote is the vote of Foley.

Suspicion of Suicide.

NEWARK, O., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—Ex-Prosecuting Attorney T. W. Phillips, aged 51, died here this morning, after an illness of eight hours. The finding of an empty envelope which had contained morphine points to the theory of suicide, which is the opinion of one of the physicians who was called, while two others insist that his death was caused by apoplexy. The coroner is investigating. Mr. Phillips was a widower, and leaves one daughter, aged 11.

New Jersey Largely Republican.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 3.—There appears tonight to be no doubt that the legislature will be largely Republican. Democratic State Chairman Gourley expressed the belief that the Democrats would carry four congressional districts, the First, Third, Ninth and Tenth. The Ninth and Tenth districts are embraced in Democratic Hudson county.

Store Robbed for Eighth Time.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 3.—(Special.)—For the eighth time in two years the general store of the late Henry Gregory, at Beatty, was robbed last night. The burglars forced the front door and secured merchandise to the amount of more than $200.

B., B. & K. Will Again Lease the Narrow Gauge Line of P. & W.

It is practically settled that the narrow gauge line of the old Pittsburgh & Western, from Foxburg to Mt. Jewett, will be leased again to the Bradford, Bordell & Kinzua. This result follows a meeting of Baltimore & Ohio and B. B. & K. officials in this city, yesterday. The conference ended with substantial agreement upon the principal features of the new contract which will now go to the Baltimore headquarters for approval.

Those present for the Baltimore & Ohio or Pittsburgh & Western interests, were Capt. George W. Booth, assistant controller; L. G. Haas, general superintendent; Robert Finney, general agent, and S. P. Hutchinson, superintendent of the Pittsburgh division.

For the Bradford, Bordell & Kinzua there were present George L. Roberts, of Pittsburgh, president; J. C. McKenna, general manager and general freight and passenger agent, and A. B. Campbell, treasurer and auditor, both of Bradford.

The old lease was for one year, which expired last Saturday. On that day a meeting of the board of the Bradford, Bordell & Kinzua was scheduled in New York, and it is supposed that at this meeting the proposition was formulated which has now been laid before the Baltimore & Ohio.

The old lease provided that the Bradford, Bordell & Kinzua should operate the narrow gauge line of about 120 miles, from Foxburg to Mt. Jewett, for 48½ per cent of the gross earnings. As the road passes through a rich oil country, the gross earnings are very large, and the percentage paid for the use of the road is a handsome sum.

SHOWS BIG INCREASE.

FILLING T. & P. ROAD ORDER.

Improvement of Another Gould Road With Pittsburgh Material Begins Soon.

The order for several thousand tons of steel rails, placed with the Carnegie mills for the Texas & Pacific railroad, is now being filled. With this 80-pound steel it is proposed to maintain the line in the same fine condition prevailing on the best of the other Gould roads.

The Texas & Pacific will have direct connection with Pittsburgh upon the completion of the Wabash extension into this city. It reaches all the four great railroad gateways of Texas. Rapid progress is being made on the new line being built down the west bank of the Mississippi by which the Iron Mountain and Texas & Pacific will give a direct line from St. Louis to New Orleans.

Railroad Notes.

W. C. Arp, superintendent of motive power of the Vandalia, was in Pittsburgh yesterday.

The change of time of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie will be effective November 16. There will be several important changes, but the details have not been completed.

Samuel Sherman, who was for many years traveling passenger agent of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, with headquarters at Wheeling, has accepted a position in the traffic department of the Chesapeake & Ohio company.

General Manager G. L. Peck of the Pennsylvania lines west, and General Superintendent A. M. Schoyer of the Northwest system, spent yesterday at Columbus attending to matters pertaining to the absorption of the old "Short Line."

It is rumored that the office of general manager of the Lake Shore, made vacant by the death of P. S. Blodgett, will not be filled. The duties will be divided between C. E. Pratt, W. C. Brown and General Superintendent W. H. Marshall.

The Reading has at last found opportunity to use the belt line to be completed about the city of Reading, just at the time the anthracite coal strike started. It is found to be as satisfactory as was expected. About 80 trains a day are in this way kept from the delays incident to passing through the town.

SOME WARM CONTESTS

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—The Republicans claim that in tomorrow's election they will have 19 out of 25 congressmen and more than enough members of the state legislature to elect the next United States senator, who is to succeed William E. Mason. The Democrats claim that they will have a few more than a majority of the legislature on joint ballot.

Of the 25 congressmen to be elected in the state the Republicans claim that they will have 16 certain, and feel confident of getting 3 more. The Democrats claim 12. The present delegation in congress is evenly divided.

In Chicago there has been in some of the congressional districts a desperate fight. This is particularly the case in the Sixth district, where ex-Congressman William Lorimer is seeking to regain the seat he lost at the last election. Lorimer will not have the full support of the Republicans. In the First district there will be a warm contest between Madden, Republican, and Emerich, Democrat.

CHANCES FAVOR LA FOLLETTE.

MILWUKEE, Nov. 3.—While the chances seem greatly to favor the Republican state ticket, there are many things entering into the contest which render it hard to make an accurate forecast.

Party differences are expected to cut quite a figure on both sides. Especially is this the case among the Republicans, who have been divided for two years. Mayor Rose appears to be confident of being elected by from 12,000 to 17,000, and Gen. George F. Bryant, chairman of the Republican state central committee, estimates Gov. LaFollette's plurality at 40,000.

DEMOCRATS HAVE EXCUSE.

Heavy Gain of Socialists Will Cut Their Vote in Massachusetts.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Republicans claim the state by 25,000, while the Democrats believe they will elect their candidate for governor by 8,000. Under the new apportionment the Republicans assert that 12 of the party candidates for congress will win, while the Democrats claim they will elect at least six out of 14 congressmen.

The uncertain element is the Socialistic vote. A phenomenal increase is looked for, and it is generally acknowledged that that gain will be at the expense of the Democrats.

All Sides Are Confident.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 3.—Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge, who have delivered speeches in nearly every county, are claiming the state will go Republican by from 20,000 to 30,000, and that their party will have a majority in both houses of the legislature. State Chairman O'Brien and other Democratic leaders are equally confident of success.

Democrats Get the Core.

TOPEKA, KAS., Nov. 3.—A non-partisan view of the situation tonight makes it appear that the Republicans will elect their state and congressional tickets, though the Democrats are almost sure to make gains in the legislature.

Looks Well for Teller.

DENVER, Nov. 3.—It is generally conceded that the Democrats will secure a majority in the legislature and will reelect United States Senator Teller.

Democrats Concede Iowa.

DES MOINES, IA., Nov. 3.—Chairman Spence today claimed the election of the Republican state ticket by 65,000 and the election of all the Republican congressional candidates. Chairman Jackson of the Democratic committee concedes the state to the Republicans by not over 35,000, but claims the election of Wade and Craig, in the Second and First districts, and the probable election of two or three other Democrats to congress.

ADDICKS LOSES AGAIN.

Regulars Say He Will Not Control More Than Sixteen Legislators.

DOVER, DEL., Nov. 3.—Estimates from various sources indicate that Addicks will be unable to control the next legislature. William Michael Byrne, the Union (Addicks) Republican nominee for congress, predicts a combined Republican majority in the legislature, with a deadlock on the senatorship, but the ultimate election of two Republican United States senators.

The regular Republican and Democratic leaders say the Addicks faction will elect not more than 16 members of the legislature.

Outlook in Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3.—Republican Chairman Goldsborough predicts that the state of Maryland will go Republican by from 10,000 to 12,000 and that Maryland will again send a solid Republican delegation to congress. Democratic Chairman Vandiver professes confidence in the election of four Democratic congressmen, with good chances for a fifth. The safest forecast seems to be the election of four Republicans and two Democrats.

Michigan Safely Republican.

DETROIT, Nov. 3.—If the campaign in Michigan that closed tonight is any indication, there will be a rather light vote. Non-partisan estimates give the state to the Republicans by from 30,000 to 40,000. The legislature will be Republican. Nine of the 12 congressmen are conceded to the Republicans. The Democrats are predicting their success in the First, Second and Third districts.

The first case was that against Howard Nevin, 17 years old, charged with felonious assault and battery. He was accused of shooting Joseph Cramer, 19 years old, in the neck with a revolver at Kennywood park, August 19, last. The defendant testified that the shooting was accidental, while he was showing his revolver to Cramer. Judge Stowe took the case from the jury and placed the costs on the prosecutor, Nicholas Cramer, the injured boy's father.

Mike Sambo and three other boys were placed on trial for entering the store of George P. Vargo, with felonious intent. Sambo and Fred Boitscha pleaded guilty, while D. Cooley and Joseph Coracula went to trial. The jury in returning its verdict convicting the latter two, introduced a little spelling reform by writing this verdict: "Gilty as indited; mursey of cort."

Other convictions were: Arthur Jennings, larceny of $12 from Joseph Goldberg; Stanz Ferik and John Fisher, entering a car and taking a lot of celery.

John Miller and a number of other boys were acquitted of a misdemeanor. They were charged with breaking a $20 window of R. J. Fraser while playing ball. The jury placed one-third the costs on the boys and remainder on the prosecutor.

The case against Helen Hand, charged with assault and battery, was nolle prossed on the payment of costs by the county. The girl was accused by Mrs. Elizabeth Grunder of having "pushed a go-cart loaded with a 7-year-old boy over Louise, the 18-months-old child" of the prosecutor.

Several entered pleas of guilty, as follows: John Tobin, entering a building of J. H. Friday, with intent to commit a felony; William Loftus, Thomas Nester and James O'Dowd, larceny of grain sacks valued at $30 from Stewart & Co.'s elevator.

Judge Stowe made an order returning James Rodgers, aged 13, to the boy's industrial home at Oakdale. He was charged with larceny, but the charge was withdrawn at the request of Miss S. O. Eaton, a member of the advisory board of the home. The boy was left in charge of his mother, and was to meet Miss Eaton at 3 o'clock. When Miss Eaton went to the appointed place neither Rodgers or his mother appeared. The matter will be reported to Judge Stowe Wednesday morning.

Judge Stowe was besieged by 25 or more women during the recess hour, and they were much pleased with their reception.

How Expenses Will Be Met.

The Civic club of Allegheny county, which has been devoting its influence in the direction of a juvenile court in Pittsburgh for several years, has asked for subscriptions with which to pay the expenses of the juvenile court's probation officers. Judge Stowe having stated when appointing them that not one cent could be appropriated to pay for their services, nor even for their car-fare. The Civic club already has $300 pledged in sums of $50 each. This is but a beginning; at the end of the week a plan will be proposed by which further subscriptions will be secured for this purpose. Those who have carefully considered the matter believe $5,000 will be needed for this year. Philadelphia has 12 probation officers who are paid a salary of $50 a month each. The plan under consideration will take in all the benevolent and philanthropic organizations in Pittsburgh and Allegheny, including the Humane society, the Children's Aid society, the various societies for the protection of the poor and needy, the different church organizations, the women's clubs and all societies which are interested in the suppression of crime. The civic committee, Mrs. Richard Quay, chairman, is carefully considering the best means of raising the money necessary and on Saturday will hold a conference with Judge Stowe, when it is expected that some important result will be reached.

PARK APPEALS HEARD.

Condemnation of Land for Carnegie Institute Before Supreme Court, Famous Enright Case.

Supreme court yesterday heard arguments on the condemnation of property east of the Carnegie institute, for its extension. The proceedings grew out of the appeals of Milton T. Baird and Joseph W. Stenger, involving the right of the city to acquire the property by condemnation under the guise of taking it for park when it is actually taking it for library purposes. City Solicitor Carnahan and Assistant Gray represented the city, and Attorneys S. S. Mehard, A. W. Duff, H. S. Carmack and H. A. Miller the appellants.

The suit of Joseph Enright against the Pittsburgh Junction railroad was before the supreme court for the second time. This case has attracted the attention of the legal profession throughout the country, owing to the peculiar point of law involved, and the fact that the supreme court, by its decision in this case, reversed a former ruling.

The evidence showed that the plaintiff, Joseph Enright, who was 10 years old, with two other boys of about his own age, boarded a freight train of the defendant. While the train was in rapid motion the brakeman in charge, by force and threatening actions, frightened Enright so that he jumped from the train. His right leg was so badly crushed that it had to be amputated. The right of the plaintiff to recover was denied by the lower court on the ground that the plaintiff, being a trespasser, was not entitled to any redress.

Attorney J. Miller, attorney for the boy, contended that the act of the brakeman in such negligence as to render the railroad company liable, even to a trespasser, and took an appeal from the action of the court. Mr. Miller's appeal was sustained. The supreme court decided that the boy was entitled to recover, and granted the plaintiff a new trial. The new trial resulted in a verdict of $500 for the plaintiff.

The case was before the supreme court today on an appeal taken by the railroad company from this verdict. The boy's right to recover was practically admitted, but an attempt was made to reverse the case on technicalities.

Other appeals from Allegheny county were:

Sarah J. Minor against Hamil Minor and others, appellants, an action over property; appeal of Harry H. Reed from a decree in the estate of James Payne, deceased; Mrs. Jane Clayton against the Consolidated Traction Company, appellant, an action for personal injuries received; Mrs. Malinda Linn against the borough of Duquesne, appellant, an action for personal injuries received by falling down an embankment; Millard F. Baker and others, appellants, against Austin C. Bailey and others, an action in ejectment; Mary O'H. Serfist and others, appellants, against the city of Pittsburgh, an action in ejectment to recover property in the Twelfth ward.

Among the decisions were those in the appeals taken in behalf of Albert West from Delaware county and Frank Dudash from Armstrong county. Both were convicted of murder in the first degree, and the supreme court affirmed the judgment.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A bill in equity was filed by Stella Ross against A. J. Scorer, asking for an accounting. The plaintiff says she owes the defendant $800, and that he claims a balance of $1,200.

LOCAL GROCERS WILL NOT ENTER COMBINE

They Threw Cold Water On a New York Promoter's Efforts.

The efforts made by outside promoters to interest local wholesalers and jobbers in a national grocery combine appears to have failed utterly. George B. Hanford of New York, who has spent some time in the city endeavoring to draw the leading grocery merchants into the project, left last night in a non-hopeful frame of mind.

Mr. Hanford invited the representatives of a number of Pittsburgh concerns to meet him yesterday afternoon at the Duquesne club to discuss the matter, but leading wholesalers say that the meeting was a disappointment to Mr. Hanford.

Members of some of the largest firms were seen last night and all stated that they had not attended the meeting and did not know any person who did. Mr. Hanford would not make any statement. He would not say who, if any person, had accepted his invitation. Edward C. Jenkins, of Thomas C. Jenkins, said that his firm did not look upon consolidation with favor, and did not know of a large firm in the city that indorsed it. Similar statements were made by Lawrence Dilworth, of the firm of Dilworth & Co.; Fred Haworth, of Haworth & Dewhurst; James Flood, of Arbuckle's, and others. Mr. Haworth stated that he could not conceive how a grocery combine could be successfully operated.

Mr. Hanford, the promoter, was the organizer of the stogie combine, which was recently formed in this city, and has been identified with the organization of other combinations.

ORGANIZATIONS OF CARPENTERS AT WAR

Amalgamated Society Refuses to Submit to Absorption Into United Brotherhood.

Two organizations of the American Federation of Labor will shortly lock horns over a peculiar question that has bobbed up since the last convention. The United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America and the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners, affiliated with the parent branch in England, are at war.

At the convention in Atlanta last September, a resolution was passed forbidding the Brotherhood carpenters to work with members of the Amalgamated society. The Brotherhood organization left the Building Trades Council over a dispute on the standing of the Amalgamated society and on Saturday evening last made application for readmission.

A resolution was submitted dictating the terms upon which admission will be granted. This resolution will come up for final action on Saturday night.

Should the Brotherhood, with its 5,000 members, again be received into the Building Trades Council an effort will be made to break up the Amalgamated local and force its members into the Brotherhood.

SAFE BLOWERS GET NOTHING.

Attempt to Rob Colonia Hotel Not Successful.

Three men blew open the safe of the Colonial hotel at Colonia, the industrial town on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, about 28 miles from Pittsburgh, at 1:30 yesterday morning. Their work was in vain, as the safe was empty.

Peter McGraw, a waiter in the Colonial steel mill, saw the men going into the hotel and followed them. He attempted to frustrate their efforts, but they bound and gagged him and went ahead with their work. When the explosion occurred some of the guests of the hotel were awakened, but before they got downstairs the men had disappeared.

Charles Brown had a good look at the desperadoes on Sunday night. About 10 o'clock, while on his way home along the railroad tracks, the trio assaulted him. They found nothing of value on him. Brown's description of the men tallies with that of McGraw.

Cuban Children Still Held.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The treasury department has received information of the arrival at New York of 50 Cuban children en route to the Universal Brotherhood school at Point Loma, Cal. Assistant Secretary Taylor has directed that the children be detained in New York until the character and responsibility of the school can be ascertained.

Policeman Was Stabbed.

Magistrate Armstrong held Dominic Anthony and Frank Humbert under $500 bail yesterday for a hearing next Saturday on the charge of being suspicious persons. The men were arrested on Sunday night for fighting on a car at Franks-town avenue, near Lincoln. During the melee the arresting officer, J. B. Patterson, was stabbed in the back. The wound is serious.

Mrs. Anderson, a prominent society woman of Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Recorder of Deeds, West, who witnessed her signature to the following letter, praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—There are but few wives and mothers who have not at times endured agonies and such pain as only women know. I wish such women knew the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a remarkable medicine, different in action from any I ever knew and thoroughly reliable.

"I have seen cases where women doctored for years without permanent benefit, who were cured in less than three months after taking your Vegetable Compound, while others who were chronic and incurable came out cured, happy, and in perfect health after a thorough treatment with this medicine. I have never used it myself without gaining great benefit. A few doses restores my strength and appetite, and tones up the entire system. Your medicine has been tried and found true, hence I fully endorse it."—MRS. R. A. ANDERSON, 225 Washington St., Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Reed, 2425 E. Cumberland St., Philadelphia, Pa., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to write and tell you the good I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I have been a great sufferer with female trouble, trying different doctors and medicines with no benefit. Two years ago I went under an operation, and it left me in a very weak condition. I had stomach trouble, backache, headache, palpitation of the heart, and was very nervous; in fact, I ached all over. I find yours is the only medicine that reaches such troubles, and would cheerfully recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all suffering women."

When women are troubled with irregular or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition. If in doubt, write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass, as thousands do.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any substitute.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

(No. 508.)

AN ORDINANCE—To Authorize and direct the proper officer or officers in the name and on behalf of the city of Allegheny, to enter into and execute a contract with the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a corporation and of the laws of the state of Pennsylvania, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a like corporation, whereby said Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company may change and elevate a part of the line of its railroad within the limits of the said city.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Allegheny in select and common councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That the proper officer or officers of the said city be and are hereby authorized and directed in the name and on behalf of the city of Allegheny to enter into and execute a contract with the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the following form, to-wit:

CONTRACT.

This agreement made this..... day of ..... A. D. one thousand nine hundred and two, between the city of Allegheny (hereinafter called the "City"), its first party, and the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a corporation under the laws of the state of Pennsylvania (hereinafter called "railroad company") as second party, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a like corporation, lessee of said Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company and joining herein to express its consent to the making of this contract (hereinafter called "lessee"), as third party, Witnesseth:

Whereas, The railroad of the said railroad company enters the limits of the said city and the tracks of the said railroad within the limits of said city are crossed by a number of public streets at grade; and

Whereas, The said railroad company contemplates a change of a portion of its said railroad by elevating its tracks in such manner as to reduce the number of grade crossings and thereby secure the safety of lives and property and promote the interests of said city, and the said city, deeming said change and elevation and reduction of grade crossings resulting therefrom adapted to secure and promote the best interests of the city and of the public, is willing that such change be made; and

Whereas, The said city has heretofore, by written agreement, given its consent to the Pennsylvania Company, operating the railway of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, to relocate, change, elevate and depress its said railroad in said city, between McClure avenue and the Allegheny river bridge; and

Whereas, In and by said recited agreement between the city and the Pennsylvania Company, more particularly in the twentieth and twenty-first paragraphs thereof, provision is made that the tracks of the railroad company shall be raised to an elevation corresponding to that provided in said contract for the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, crossing Anderson and Sandusky streets, and that the said Railroad company should never construct any track or tracks at any grade other than that fixed by the said contract at Anderson street or Sandusky street, or any street west thereof.

NOW THIS AGREEMENT WITNESSETH:

First. The said city hereby assents and agrees that the said railroad company may change the elevation of its tracks between a point about two hundred (200) feet east of Bridge street and the eastern line or side of Federal street, as follows:

Gradually ascending from the point first above mentioned, proceeding westwardly, the railroad shall cross Bridge street at eight tenths (0.8) of a foot above the present grade;

Still ascending, said tracks shall cross McFadden street on a bridge of iron or steel at an elevation of seven (7) feet above the present grade of McFadden street;

Still ascending, and proceeding westwardly, the tracks shall cross over Pine street, at an elevation above the present grade of said Pine street to give a minimum clearance of twelve (12) feet, under side of bridge; and shall cross over Sycamore street with a minimum clearance of thirteen (13) feet above the present grade; and over Chestnut street with a minimum clearance of twelve and fourteenths (12.4) feet above the present grade; and over Madison avenue with a minimum clearance of thirteen (13) feet above the present grade and shall connect with the tracks of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway Company, as elevated under the above recited agreement with the city, at or near the eastern end of the present freight station of the railroad company; proceeding thence over Anderson and Sandusky streets to the eastern line of Federal street with a minimum clearance of thirteen feet at said Sandusky and Anderson streets.

And the city agrees that the said railroad company may elevate, construct, maintain and operate its tracks upon the grade and elevations hereinbefore described, and for this purpose to make, construct and maintain all necessary bridges, piers, posts, pillars, abutments or other work or appliances which may be necessary or proper for this purpose, at the proper cost and expense of it, the said railroad company. The said railroad company shall also have the right, in its judgment, to narrow or move the piers, to place within the curb lines of each of the streets in this contract named iron or steel columns to support said bridges.

Second. The line of McFadden street under the tracks of said railroad company shall be changed as follows: Commencing at the present line of said street at the south side of said tracks, thence to a point at the north side of said tracks twenty-five (25) feet westwardly from the present line of said street; and the said city shall depress the grade of said McFadden street about five (5) feet, so as to give a clearance of ten (10) feet to the under side of said bridge over said street, and revise the grade of the approach to said McFadden street as far as may be required by the aforesaid depression of grade of five (5) feet at the railroad crossing. And said city shall pass all necessary ordinances to establish such grade, and to provide for the grading of said street to said new grade.

Third. Said railroad company agrees to pay the cost of grading and paving McFadden street to said new grade within the limits of said change of grade as fixed by ordinance, and to indemnify and save the city harmless from all lawful claims for damage to property occasioned by or growing out of the said change of grade.

Fourth. The railroad company agrees, at its own cost and expense, to construct and maintain the abutments, necessary supports and superstructures, which, pursuant to this agreement, will be required to carry its tracks between the points designated and at the elevations described —Facing the abutments at Anderson and Sandusky streets with light colored brick; It further agrees to raise the existing stone wall on Ohio street three feet above its present level and to construct thereon a good and substantial fence to be satisfactory to the director of the department of public works of the city of Allegheny, and to maintain the same in perpetual good condition.

Fifth. The said lessee joins as a party hereto for the sole purpose of expressing its consent to the making of this contract.

Sixth. This agreement shall extend to and bind the parties hereto, their successors and assigns respectively.

Witness the corporate seal of the city of Allegheny and the signatures of the city recorder, the director of the department of public works and the city comptroller and the corporate seal of the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and the signatures of its president and secretary, and the corporate seal of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and the signatures of its ..... vice president and ..... secretary, the day and year first above written; this agreement being executed and delivered by and on behalf of the said city of Allegheny pursuant to the ordinance of the said city, entitled: "An ordinance to authorize and direct the proper officer or officers in the name and on behalf of the city of Allegheny to enter into and execute a contract with the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a corporation under the laws of the state of Pennsylvania, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, a like corporation, whereby said Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company may change and elevate a part of the line of its railroad within the limits of said city," and by and on behalf of said Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company under and pursuant to resolutions duly adopted by their respective boards of directors.

SAYS ARTICLE HARMS CHURCH

MUST UPHOLD THE BIBLE

Presbyterian Theologian Says That Suggestion of Errors in Bible Is Dangerous—Baptists Are Active.

The Rev. D. F. McGill of Allegheny delivered an address before the United Presbyterians yesterday morning on "Should the Article on Slavery Be Eliminated From Our Testimony." He gave the history of the article in the judicial testimony, which is as follows: "We declare that slave-holding, that is, holding of men, binding human beings in involuntary bondage, and commanding them as property, subject to be bought and sold, is a violation of the law of God and contrary to the letter and spirit of Christianity."

This declaration was adopted by the associate synod of the church, in 1858. In 1862 the general assembly adopted a resolution to the effect that the rebellion was primarily the result of slavery. The same year a petition was sent to congress appealing for the adoption of competent measures to secure the emancipation of all human beings. After the emancipation proclamation the assembly resolved that the proclamation was in obedience to the voice of God.

Is Harming the Church.

The Rev. McGill said that the question had been a vexed one for 40 years, but that few denominations had expressed themselves so strongly or taken such decisive action as the United Presbyterians. Dr. McGill claimed that the article is doing harm to the church in the south.

The Rev. Dunlop Moore, theologian of the Presbyterian Ministers' union, addressed that body on the "Alleged Errors in the Bible." He gave the deliverances of the assembly on the subject, showing that it stood for the inspiration and truth of the Bible and that it is a very dangerous tendency to suggest the possibility of error in the scriptures.

The Rev. John A. Marquis of Greensburg was present, and many bade him farewell, as he leaves tomorrow night for Redlands, Cal., where he has accepted a call. The Rev. C. W. Wycoff also came in for his share of congratulations on reaching the 30th anniversary of his pastorate in the Bethel Presbyterian church.

Baptists Were Active.

The Baptist Ministers' association held an all-day meeting for ministers of Pittsburgh and adjoining associations. Several missionaries spoke on the missionary campaign. The speakers yesterday morning were the Rev. Henry C. Mable, home secretary of the American Baptist Missionary union; the Rev. Frank S. Dobbins, district secretary; Miss Ella D. McLaurin, secretary young people's department; the Rev. W. M. Uperaft, the Rev. L. W. Cronkhite and the Rev. C. W. Briggs.

At the weekly meeting of the Lutheran Ministerial association the Rev. J. B. Markward of Wilkinsburg read a paper on "The Jew of Today."

The Rev. George Shaffer of Bellevue spoke before the Methodist Protestants on "The Emotional in Religion," in which he said that the old-fashioned shouting in the church had died out.

The Methodist ministers were addressed by the Rev. C. B. Wilson of Hazelwood on "The Value of Written Sermons." He favored the writing of sermons.

Soul's Day was observed in the Roman Catholic church yesterday. All during this week special masses and prayers for the dead will be held.

TESTED AN AIRSHIP.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—It has been known for some time that the brothers Lebaudy and an engineer named Juillot have been constructing a steerable balloon, but secrecy has been observed. A newspaper reporter claims to have witnessed the first experiment with the new balloon yesterday at Robert Lebaudy's country house.

The balloon ascended to a height of about 20 yards, with two persons in the car. It was held down by ropes, and the motor drove the airship against a stiff breeze. After maneuvers lasting half an hour, during which several circuits of the park, where the experiment was conducted, were made, the airship was replaced in its shed. Engineer Juillot, who had charge of the motor, said he was completely satisfied with the test.

The reporter describes the Lebaudy balloon as similar in appearance to, but twice the size of those of Santos-Dumont. It is 64½ yards long and 12 yards in diameter. The car is 7½ yards long, and can hold three persons. The propeller is driven by a motor of 40-horse power.

Just opposite the two ends of the horseshoe sat the hostess, Miss Chambers. At her right was Miss Painter, and at her left Mr. Sloan. The table was lighted with dainty yellow-shaded candles, and exquisite name cards and favors were at each cover.

The guests included members of the bridal party who are in the city: Mrs. H. Hartley Howard, Miss Eleanor Painter and Miss Gladys Painter, all sisters of the bride-elect; Miss Frances D. The luncheon was served at the Painter residence in Irwin avenue, Allegheny, and though simply served was elegant in all its appointments. The luncheon table was placed in the dining room with its beautiful tapestries and magnificent carvings. The decorations were all in green and white, consisting of ferns and smilax and large white chrysanthemums. Among the guests, in addition to the bridesmaids, were Mrs. Frances K. The bride was gowned in white and carried white bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Lottie G. Mawhinney and John Marr, a cousin of the bridegroom, acted as best man. The decorations were pink and white. Following the ceremony supper was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Loy went to their new home, No. 7620 Hamilton avenue, where they will receive their friends after November 22.

Cards in Shadyside.

Mrs. James Robb Wilson and her daughters, the Misses Wilson, entertained at cards yesterday afternoon at their home in St. James street, Shadyside. One hundred invitations were issued, the rooms, which were scattered throughout the rooms on the first floor. The house was handsomely decorated with palms and chrysanthemums. In the dining room and library yellow flowers appeared, while pink and white chrysanthemums prevailed throughout the parlors and the hall. Handsome prizes were given at the close of the game. This afternoon Mrs. Wilson and her daughters will again entertain in the same manner.

MACPHERSON STRUCK IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Death of Joseph McIntyre Brought on by Insult to Girl and Assault on Escort.

Leslie C. Macpherson, accompanied by his father and older brother, last evening surrendered himself to Police Superintendent Muth of Allegheny, saying that on Halloween night he struck in self-defense Joseph McIntyre, who afterward died in the Allegheny General hospital.

An autopsy found a fracture of the skull and possibly other contributing causes.

The boy is 16 years old. He did not care to detail all the facts before a hearing, but said that on the night in question he was taking Miss Pearl Alsten of Sampson street home. At Sampson and Federal streets three men obstructed the sidewalk and as he passed one insulted the young lady. McIntyre stepped from the corner and struck Macpherson. The boy then struck back and felled McIntyre. One of the other two men, none of whom Macpherson knew, came forward and struck the young man. This man was also knocked down, and with his companion fled.

Macpherson regrets the result of the affair, but feels that he acted purely in self-defense. An inquest will be held Thursday.

The young man has borne an excellent reputation. Inasmuch as his blow seems to have been justified his friends hope that the young fellow, who is really a mere boy, will not have to face a court trial.

The Allegheny police had no clue to the identity of the man who struck McIntyre, and it is extremely improbable that young Macpherson would have been arrested.

PRIEST IN DEFENSE OF THE MODERN PLAY

The Rev. Dr. John T. Smith Presents a Novel Lecture in Pittsburgh.

For the first time in its history, Pittsburgh was treated last night to the novelty, startling to many strict churchmen, of a Catholic priest defending the theater from the lecture platform. Rev. Dr. John T. Smith, known as the priest-dramatist, and the author of the much-talked-of drama, the "Baltimore Marriage," held the close attention of an audience, which half filled Carnegie Music hall, while he boldly defended "The Popular Play," with a plainness of English which at times opened the eyes of the Catholic hearers, although they were plainly in sympathy with the talented churchman.

Not only did he show himself a good lecturer and talker, but gave hints of a talent for acting as well, when, to the astonishment of his audience, he stepped about the stage in imitation of Mansfield and other great actors, from whose strength on the stage he freely drew.

Dr. Smith, in referring to the novelty of a priest defending the theater from the lecture platform, stated that he thought it was high time that the popular play, holding such an influence over the people, was studied and directed, in its mission of presenting ideals.

He wanted to be understood distinctly as defending the "decent play of modern times," and not the whole theatrical field.

"No play can be a success," he said, "which does not recognize the highest plane of morality and religion, and in this the stage preaches more successfully than any preacher can hope to."

Realistically acting as well as forcefully talking, Dr. Smith cited Mansfield in the "Parisian Romance" as an example of the strength of the stage as a preacher, bringing before the audience the dying horror of the relentless old roue, who was stricken while toasting the wine cup as his God.

The lecture was the first of a series of six given by the Knights of Columbus, as an educational series.

SOCIETY MEN IMPRISONED.

Member of Proud English Families Sentenced to Penal Servitude.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The excitement yesterday over the reported flight of a peer to the continent was heightened today by the announcement that well-known London society man, Bernard Frazer, had been sentenced at the Norwich Assizes to 10 years' penal servitude. With him was also sentenced Arthur Thorold, the son of a clergyman, connected, as is Frazer, with one of the oldest and proudest families in the United Kingdom.

The prisoners were charged with carrying on a regular campaign to deprave the morals of youths all over the country.

Hawaiian Official Suspended.

HONOLULU, Oct. 26, (via VICTORIA, Nov. 3.)—James H. Boyd, superintendent of public works, returned to Honolulu by the last steamer from San Francisco and has been practically under suspension by order of the governor since his arrival pending an investigation into the books of his department. Secretary of the territory, Henry E. Cooper, continues in charge of the department.

Schwab Takes a Cruise.

GENOA, ITALY, Nov. 3.—The steam yacht Margarita, chartered by Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, sailed at noon today for Cannes.

Beauty and Health

You would not call a girl charming who is loud in talk, or aggressive in manner, who discusses people or private affairs in a loud voice in public, who pushes rudely past others, who seems to fancy that by asserting her own independence she is maintaining her rightful place in the world. Contrast with her the girl with gentle, sweet manners and voice, who talks quietly, who offers graceful little kindnesses, who sacrifices her own comfort and ease rather than inconvenience anyone.

The Woman With Charm.

A girl may not be a beauty, or a brilliant talker, or wonderfully clever, yet she may be so charming that it is a delight to be with her and to count her among our friends. She is winsome, sweet-tempered, full of tactful, considerate ways, genuinely kind and sympathetic, and she has that wholesome sense of humor which helps to smooth away so many of the rough places of life. It is well to love wholesome fun and laughter and to cultivate the power of seeing the humorous side.

One thing to avoid, if you would be charming, is the tendency to talk about grievances. A girl who fancies herself a martyr and who claims that no one understands her or her moods is not on the road toward the possession of charm. A girl who is morbid, self-centered, egotistical, cannot be charming, and she needs to make every effort to overcome these characteristics, or she will become tiresome to her friends and the prey of discontentment.

Try to live in the "sunshine of cheerfulness and the breeze of larger interests," if you would be charming. Say pleasant things. Praise others when you can do so with sincerity. Praise is an encouragement. Be courteous, really polite.

Always think before you speak; thus only can you acquire the habit of speaking to the purpose. Good talkers are generally deliberate talkers. Avoid slang, use correct expressions, and determine to have a well-modulated voice in speaking.

Most fat people should avoid sugar and confectionery, but some can indulge in them very moderately if their livers are in good order.

Excessive drinking and watery foods are also to be avoided; for instance, rich soups and gravies, sauces, oatmeal, cornmeal, hominy, rice, milk, as well as spices and high seasonings, macaroni, sweet potatoes, beets, carrots, parsnips, puddings, pies, cake and starches.

To Remove Superfluous Flesh.

Food that may generally be eaten includes rare beef, mutton, poultry and game, fish of all kinds and eggs, if they agree with the individual, and such vegetables as onions, celery, tomatoes, lettuce, spinach, cauliflower, asparagus, turnips, squash, cress and white cabbage. Fresh acid fruits, such as apples, oranges, pineapples, grapes, berries and cherries may be eaten and lemonade may be drunk more freely than any other drink, but with a minimum of sugar. Coffee with milk may also be taken. Only stale wheat bread should be eaten.

Moderation and temperance are always necessary. Reduce the time of sleeping to a reasonable minimum, choose active occupation rather than sedentary and walk briskly in teh open air as much as possible, increasing the distance gradually. Of course, if the heart is very weak or deranged, violent exercises are to be avoided strictly. Most fat people with strong hearts are good dancers and should seek that form of exercise. Kicking a football about a back yard or an empty room reduces flesh below the waist. Perspiration should always be free and an occasional Turkish or vapor bath taken if possible. These are not exacting rules and attention to them will surely be found beneficial.

Do not attempt pedestrianism in thin kid boots with French heels. Get a stout pair of calfskin, with broad soles and good, low heels, and then you may tramp over hill and dale in perfect comfort whether the weather be wet or dry; and if the rest of your costume is as appropriate as your boots, the state of the weather—unless, of course, it is very stormy—will not prevent your constitutional, which should be taken as regularly as your food, or your bath, or any other necessity of your perfect health. A pedestrian suit of plain mixed cheviot or covert or Oxford suiting or hair-line tailor cloths, a shirt-waist hat and dogskin gloves form a costume in which the daily tramp in search of health and pleasure may be taken with the utmost comfort.

Rules for the Pedestrian.

Riding tends to bring the body to a normal, healthy state; it is the secret of perpetual youth, for it keeps the body, the figure and the heart young. In addition, it teaches self-control, decision, and develops the will power. In short, for a healthy life, strength and the pursuit—and with a good horse the capture—of happiness, take riding.

The Woman on Horseback.

Of course, the degree of excellence reached by a rider, whether she be young or old, depends much upon herself and whether she has been born with an aptitude for horsemanship; but being born with an aptitude is no more sufficient than to be endowed by nature with a beautiful voice or a gift for painting. The voice must be cultivated, the artist must study and so the rider must be trained.

Being a horsewoman and being "horsy" are not synonymous; neither does the one depend upon the other. Just as "fine feathers do not make fine birds," so do stable slang, groomish mannerisms or sporty clothes not indicate a good horsewoman.

Delicate people must be cautious to take cold baths, and children and elderly persons ought never to bathe in water below 70 degrees Fahrenheit. Where cleanliness is the main object, the water should be from 92 degrees to 98 degrees. Where the bath is to serve as a powerful stimulant, as in cases of illness, it should be from 98 degrees to 115 degrees. The temperature of water for a cold bath should range from 32 degrees to 65 degrees.

Bath Temperature.

When washing the hands in the morning the nails should be brushed with a fairly stiff brush and any stains on the fingers removed with a rub of lemon. The cuticle all around the nails should then be gently pushed back with the towel drawn over the thumb of the hand which is employed. If this simple process is attended to daily from childhood there will be little trouble from hangnails or shapely nails. About every fifth day the nails need to be trimmed. Do it with fine scissors when the nails are soft from washing and smooth off with a nail file.

Caring for the Nails.

When making a careful toilet of the nails. There are chamois instruments and special pink powders made for the purpose, but for the busy woman who hasn't time to fuss there is a simple, quick and efficacious expedient. Take a pinch of face powder on the palm of the hand and rub the nails of the other hand on it; a pretty polish is obtained and the superfluous powder around the nails may be brushed off with a soft brush. Never rub the nails until they are hot; do it intermittently.

If the nails are brittle and break frequently they must be softened by the occasional application of oil of bitter almonds or a little linseed oil.

Sometimes white spots appear on the nails. If these are so numerous or so large as to be unsightly they may be removed by a paste made of equal parts of powdered myrrh put on at night.

For Ingrowing Toe Nails.

With a flat probe or a match stick a bit of cotton between the edge of the nail and the inflamed flesh. Another strip of cotton is put across the outer margin of the ulcerated nail, so that the space between these two pieces of cotton, and which is occupied by the ulcer, is thickly powdered with boracic acid powder. The whole is covered with a bandage and the toe bandaged. The dressing is then repeated the following day and every day until the incarcerated edge of the nail is plainly visible. Usually four or five dressings suffice. Then, with patience, the edge of the nail is lifted away from the inflamed flesh, and a bit of cotton is introduced under it to keep it up. As it grows it will gradually take its proper position above the flesh, this having in the meantime shrunk and shriveled by reason of the application of lead nitrate. The lead is to be discontinued as soon as it appears that the exuberance of the fleshy bed of the nail has been overcome. The difficulty seldom recurs. If this does happen it is necessary to repeat the treatment from the beginning.

Work Begins on New Hospital.

Work began yesterday on the new Municipal hospital at Bedford avenue and Francis street. Kerr & Fox, the contractors, had men erecting the office and other temporary buildings. Ground will be broken today. The hospital will cost, according to contract, $80,000.

HOW A BIG STORE PREPARES FOR CHRISTMAS

Holiday Goods Will Soon Become the Foremost Feature.

How much space do you think the typical Christmas things call for in a store as big as Campbell's?

17,200 square feet of floor, with all the shelves, tables and counters that can be arranged in all this room. In other words, enough toys, games, books and other gift goods are bought for the December trade to completely fill a ground floor store 100 feet wide and 172 feet deep.

To make ready for the opening of the holiday line, the day after Thanksgiving, Campbell began yesterday a great November stock-condensing sale of regular merchandise, which will draw like a magnet. The advertisement today is aptly headed "The First Squeeze," and tells in brevis of a hundred fetching bargains. Look for it.

BEFORE THANKSGIVING.

Save your turkey, pumpkin pie and cranberry sauce for Thanksgiving and thus be able to celebrate, with a much keener appetite and enjoyment, the crowning features of this gladsome day, than would be possible if turkey and "fixin's" were an old story. For a fact this bird is not in order until there is a very decided bite of winter in the atmosphere. Then when the succulent celery is tender and crisp, chestnuts, apples and pumpkins gathered in with the cranberry crop in the market place, it is quite time enough to consider ways of serving the turkey. In the meantime the housewife may make complete and agreeable changes in the meat diet with the game in season, the oyster, and if she wishes to practice closer economy in this line, she will find that poultry that has passed the spring chicken stage will furnish very satisfactory eating at this season; and well-grown, well-fed fowl, properly cooked has much more flavor than young turkeys that are hurried into market too soon after their summer rambles.

Brunswick Stew.

Dress, clean and cut a four-pound chicken as for fricassee. Put it into a large stewpan with a small onion, cut in quarters, a ham bone or quarter of a pound of bacon in one piece. Cover with boiling water and simmer gently for one and one-half hours, longer if chicken is tough. Then add a pint of fresh tender Lima beans, one pint of green corn cut from cob (canned corn can be used), one tablespoonful chopped parsley, and salt and pepper to season to taste. Cover and simmer an hour longer, over a moderate fire, stirring if necessary, as it will scorch easily. Remove the ham bone or bacon and serve.

Chicken and Rice Pie.

Take a fowl weighing about five pounds; clean and wash thoroughly outside and wipe the inside with a damp cloth. Joint the fowl and arrange the pieces in a stewpan, with the bony parts in the bottom to serve as a rack for the daintier parts. Pour three pints of boiling water over the meat and if the fowl is young enough to cook tender in one and one-half hours, put one large slice of onion, one slice of carrot, two or three whole cloves and a celery root in with the water, but if fowl is old enough to require three hours' cooking, leave vegetables, etc., out until chicken is half done. Cover the chicken and let simmer until tender. When done add two teaspoonfuls of salt and half a teaspoonful of pepper. Let the chicken stand cooling in the liquor while you prepare the rice. Wash and pick over, one cup of rice and then boil it in three quarts of salted water until it is tender, but not soft. Drain in a colander until quite dry, add more salt, to suit the taste, two well beaten eggs mixed with half a cup of butter and a cup of milk. Put a layer of the chicken in a deep baking dish, then a layer of rice, then more chicken, and so on until all materials are used, having the top layer of the rice mixture. Pour on a pint of the chicken broth and bake in a medium hot oven for half an hour. Serve with a tomato puree.

Chicken Cantonese With Macroni.

Cook half a pound of macaroni in plenty of salted water to keep the pipes separate; then drain in a colander. Pour over it half a cup of highly seasoned tomato sauce. Shred the meat of a small stewed chicken into fibers about as fine as matches; shred four stalks of celery in same manner; mince one Bermuda onion; season with salt, pepper, white and red, a dash of ground ginger, cinnamon and cloves and put all into a pan with a little butter and sauce over a hot fire, stirring to mix the ingredients thoroughly; then let them cook for a few minutes undisturbed until the macaroni touching the bottom and sides of the pan is nicely browned. Turn out carefully into a deep heated dish with browned part uppermost, and serve.

Cutlets of Fowl.

Take a fowl weighing four pounds and joint carefully. Form the wings, legs, breast and "merry thought" into six cutlets, flattening them and giving them a good shape with potato masher or small cleaver. When preparing the fowl, save the liver; pound it in a mortar with a teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter teaspoonful pepper and a teaspoonful of the liquor in which the chicken is cooked. Beat an egg, dip each cutlet in this, then sprinkle with the liver forcemeat, then again with egg; then cover with bread crumbs. Fry a light brown in beef drippings or vegetable fat. Serve with cream sauce. Use the remainder of the fowl for chicken mince or some such dish on a following day.

Fried Steamed Chicken.

This is a southern method of serving a fowl. Select a chicken a year old, not younger; when nicely dressed, steam it whole, putting the neck, gizzard and feet, chopped in the water below the chicken in steamer in which there should be three full cups of broth when chicken is done. When done take out the chicken from steamer and put it down in the water in the pot and let it cool. It should be allowed to stand for some four or five hours and if over night all the better, as the chicken will have finer flavor. When ready to fry, take out the chicken, cut up in joints; put a cup of flour in a soup plate, mix with half a teaspoonful of salt and saltspoon of pepper; roll the pieces of chicken in the flour until well covered, and fry in deep fat until a golden brown. Serve with a brown sauce made from the chicken stock.

Chicken Smothered in Sauerkraut

This requires a covered earthen baking dish to have it done to perfection. Select a small sized chicken less than a year old, dress, singe and draw. Wash well outside and wipe inside with flour and water paste, dust with salt and pepper. Rinse a quart of sweet, fresh sauerkraut in plenty of cold water, drain. Fill the chicken with mash, well seasoned potatoes, place it in a roaster, with two slices of bacon underneath and two slices on each side of the breast, then cover the chicken completely with kraut, add a teaspoonful of salt and half as much pepper. Add a cup of cold water; put on the cover and roast in the oven for three hours with a moderate heat. Do not allow to cook dry, but add boiling water as required to keep bottom of the roasted chicken covered. When done, lift the chicken out on a large platter, mix the sauerkraut around it and garnish with slices of lemon. To the liquid in bottom of roaster add a large tablespoonful of brown flour, a tablespoonful of kitchen bouquet, a cup of veal stock or hot water, boil up and add a tablespoonful of lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste; then serve in separate dish.

INQUIRIES ANSWERED.

Mrs. M. D. N. writes: Please give a recipe for molasses layer cake.

Molasses Layer Cake.

One cup of molasses, half a cup of sugar, two eggs, four tablespoonfuls of butter, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon and cloves, one teaspoonful of soda, half a cup of buttermilk and two cups of flour. For the frosting for putting together, one and one-half cups of sugar, scant half cup of water boiled together until it will thread. Beat white of an egg to a stiff froth, add a cup of chopped raisins, add the boiled syrup slowly into the egg, beating all the time and continue to beat until thick enough to spread.

French Crackers.

For French crackers take a pound and a half of flour, one pound of sugar, quarter of a pound of butter and the whites of five eggs. Mix stiff, roll out, then prick with a fork and bake in a very hot oven.

STOCKS CLOSED STRONG, BUT TRADING WAS LIGHT

Wall Street Full of "Bears" Who Lack the Courage of Their Convictions---Local Bank and Trust Company Shares Strong.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Finanical Editor.

Transactions in the eastern stock market yesterday fell short of 400,000 shares, and the fluctuations in values were in most instances confined to fractions. At the opening some weakness was displayed, due to the lower London quotations, which were accompanied by foreign selling orders. The dealings for foreign account, however, were not large, and later in the day there were repurchases which probably left the account about even. Traders on this side were also inclined to even up over the holiday, and they sold in the morning they bought back in the afternoon, causing a firm market at the close, although not the highest prices of the day. The principal activity was in Manhattan, Missouri Pacific, Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Union Pacific. There was no specially affecting any one of these stocks, the fluctuations were entirely from professional operations. In fact, the regular ante-election market, which betting upon the result of the voting today had as much influence on anything else. Shortly before the final rally in the afternoon a considerable amount of money was available for wagers on the success of the Republican ticket in New York state, and as this money was not "covered," even at favorable odds, by the opposition, Wall street professed to be encouraged over the outlook, shorts covered, and the early losses were wiped out.

Professional Wall street traders are now bearish almost to a man, but they lack the courage of their convictions. Sentiment, however, plays a large part in human affairs, and if the election results today should be less favorable than expected, there is little doubt that tomorrow a strong effort will be made to depress values. If it were not for the difference of opinion held regarding present and prospective values, there would be no speculation in stocks and comparatively little fluctuation in prices. But this opinion can be easily influenced. For months it has been inclined to the "bull" side by the recitation of reports of big earnings, big crops, and industrial activity. The market has now come to a standstill, despite the improvement in the financial situation, and Wall street professionals cannot long endure inactivity. Hence the unfavorable factors in the situation are likely to receive more attention. Just at the moment the only unfavorable factor appears to be the strain upon banking credits. A great deal of attention was devoted today to the address delivered last week by the President, Frank A. Vanderlip of the National City bank. He pointed out that since 1890 there had been an increase of $1,300,000,000 in all kinds of deposits in national banks, while there had been an actual decrease in the amount of legal reserve held by the banks. At the same time our indebtedness to Europe had largely increased. His conclusion was a justification of the policy now being pursued by the banks of restricting rather than stimulating additional demands upon banking credit. Of course these facts were known in a general way last September, the date of the reports from which the figures were taken, but the situation was not so strikingly presented to the public mind. It was pointed out that when an officer of the largest bank in the United States would thus publicly describe one of the weak spots in the situation, it was time for conservatism. The money market remained unchanged at about 5 per cent, and although sterling exchange was firmer, the rate was still below the gold-exporting point.

There was a moderate degree of activity in the local stock market yesterday, and the tendency of values was upward, 15 securities showing net gains for the day, 7 net losses and 6 were unchanged. The principal activity was in National Fire Proofing shares. The common recovered to 29, closing at 28⅝, and the preferred advanced to 39⅝, closing at 39½. These prices compare with the low point of 27 for the common and 37 for the preferred on Saturday. The recent selling of the stock is attributed to the liquidation of margined accounts carried for a recently deceased holder. The selling of this stock, it is said, awakened other margined holdings, causing the slump. The recovery was based upon investment buying and possibly some inside support. Crucible Steel common, after selling at 21¼, recovered to 21⅝, a net gain of ¼, while the preferred was unchanged at 85¾@85⅞. United States Steel common declined to 39⅝ and the preferred to 88. Pittsburgh Coal was fairly active, the common selling at 30½@30⅝, and the preferred at 88¾@88⅞. River Coal common was heavy, selling at 11⅜, while the preferred was a shade firmer at 40⅝. No new developments have occurred in the negotiations for bringing these two companies closer together, but it is expected that some definite arrangement will be completed before the date for making the contracts with large consumers for next year. A number of important contracts expire this year, and it is expected that they will be renewed at a considerable advance. There was very little doing in the Westinghouse stocks, but Electric was a shade firmer, selling at 168⅛. Air-brake was quoted at 175@177. Window Glass sold at 53½@55⅛, but closed firm at 53½ bid for 500 shares. Pittsburgh Plate Glass sold at 138. There was nothing doing in the Philadelphia Company shares, the common being quoted at 47⅜@47⅝, and the preferred at 49½ bid. Brewing stocks were quiet and unchanged.

The principal activity in the bank and trust company list was in American Trust, which opened higher at 144 and advanced to 149, closing at the top. There are persistent rumors that an option on a majority of the stock has been secured at $150 a share, but no official information is obtainable, and a director yesterday professed ignorance of any negotiations pending which would change the status of the company. Within the past three weeks the stock has advanced $24 a share on rather large dealings, a considerable portion of which, however, was undoubtedly speculative, based upon the rumors referred to. Pennsylvania Trust sold at 205, a decline of 3 from the last previous sale. German-American Savings and Trust sold at 165, an advance of 5, and a total advance of 15 points over the subscription price. South Side Trust recovered 1 per cent, selling at 102. A small lot of Colonial Trust sold at 605, a decline of 7 points from the last previous sale. Real Estate Trust did not change hands, but was quoted at 306@307. Federal National bank advanced 2 per cent to 144. Commonwealth Trust, after selling at 230, rallied to 244½ bid. Just before the close of the market, bidding for Columbia National bank pushed the price up to 475, the highest ever quoted and $40 a share over the last sale, about a month ago. The street has been full of rumors connecting this bank with some very ambitious plans for widening its field of usefulness, but every rumor has met denial. There was very little doing in the bond list, and prices were steady and unchanged.

The October output of the Pressed Steel Company amounted to 3,000 cars, or an average of 111 cars a day for each working day. For the year to date the output amounts to 22,402 cars, the value of which approximates $22,400,000.

Two national banks, two trust companies and one savings bank constituted the financial group of financial institutions which one of the big local banks was reported to be about to absorb, or at least bring into close affiliation with itself.

The reports of 47 roads for September showed gross earnings increased 3.71 per cent, expenses increased 7.14 per cent and net earnings decreased 3.61 per cent. The poor showing made by the Anthracite roads is largely responsible for the decrease in net.

Recent private sales of W. M. Laird Company stock are reported at $65 a share, a premium of 30 per cent on par. Both the retail and wholesale departments of the business show a large increase, and the enhancement in value of the extensive real estate holdings of the company is also a factor of strength behind the stock.

Last month's increase of $15,487,000 in bank circulation, as shown by the comptroller's report given out yesterday, is the largest reported in any month, without exception, since the present currency law took effect. It exceeds by $20,564,461 the volume outstanding at this date last year, and makes the total circulation $580,476,336, the highest point yet reached since the establishment of the national bank system.

Yesterday's market was subject to rather conflicting influences, advocates of lower prices basing their position in the market on the recent speech of Mr. Vanderlip, while the optimists pointed out the strong probability of Gov. Odell's re-election, and in support of their opinion cited the fact that the betting was two to one on Odell and that there was more money offered by Republicans than Democrats would take.

R. C. Hall established a new high record for Columbia National bank stock on the exchange yesterday by bidding the price up to 475 at the close of business. Just month at 455, and the advance yesterday amounts to $40 a share. One small lot was offered at 500. Movements of this kind are always accompanied by rumors of deals, and that at this time, when negotiations are pending in a number of important consolidations, it was natural that gossip should be busy with the intentions of the Columbia National. The latter has been forging ahead at a rapid rate during the past year or two under a management that is ambitious and successful—a fact which gives color to some of the stories current as to the institutions which it has been aiming to control.

BRIDGE HEARINGS CALLED.

Owners Given Opportunity to File Objections to Raising.

The owners of the Union bridge will be given an opportunity November 14 to file objections with Capt. Sibert, the government engineer, why that structure should not be raised. On the following day the owners of the Sixth street bridge will be given the same opportunity. Capt. Sibert has advertised that meetings to hear all persons concerned will be held at his office on the above named dates. All objections to the raising of the bridges must be made in writing.

Nothing has been done looking toward the elevating of the Seventh and Ninth street bridges, and nothing will be done, it is said, unless the firemen petition the war department to have them elevated. The calling of public hearings in reference to the Union and Sixth street bridges is the result of petitions sent to the secretary of war. It is proposed to use the same approach to the Union bridge as is now used by the Point bridge, and if the approach is not sufficiently wide to accommod

GREAMERY BUTTER PRICES UNCHANGED

Heavy Hay Receipts but Quotations Steady — Eggs Scarce and Higher.

Hay receipts were larger yesterday than for a long time, even going considerably beyond the regular heavy Monday run, but the line of prices held without wavering, no breaks being noticed anywhere. The proportion of best grades of timothy was not large, however, and top quality was not in as abundant supply as could have been handled. No. 2 was more plentiful and a wider range of quotations is necessary to cover the varying grades, as some run much better than others.

Oats are easier in the west, where quotations have declined, and local prices have gone off about one cent per bushel. While no indications have appeared of any considerable decline, dealers would not be surprised to see figures go down a little. Rye corn is a little easier, and quotations for old are lower. Straw is still very scarce, out of a total list of receipts yesterday amounting to 101 cars, but one was straw. Millfeed and bran are firm, with quoted figures just about representing the market value, conditions being strong with the tendency upward.

Navy beans are holding their own, but are easier, imported stock now offering at figures from 10 to 15 cents lower than this time of week. Red kidney beans are in the market, selling at $2.50 per bushel. Raw sugar and coffee are unchanged. Reports of damage to the Guatamala coffee crop by volcanic eruptions seem to be well grounded. As this is not a large coffee producing country, however, only the particular varieties raised there will be affected.

Sweet Potatoes Lower.

Canned goods are firm, with a decline noticeable in gallon apples. Other lines are steady to firm.

Jersey sweet potatoes are a little easier with the opening of the week, and prices are a shade lower. Irish potatoes are unchanged and steady. Onions being heavy are a little easier, while wax are firmer. Other vegetables opened the week at same prices as ruled last Saturday.

Apples of all grades are lower, the Halloween trade being now over and demand down to normal. Aside from this there is no change in domestic fruit. Quinces are in good supply, and a wider range of prices is made necessary by the quantity of inferior stock which is reaching market.

Poultry opens the week at unchanged prices. Several slight changes are noticed in game, plarndgan, black cock and partridges being cheaper. Rabbits are now offering at 35 cents per pair.

Rather to the surprise of local dealers, who were expecting an advance, creamery butter remained unchanged yesterday, but very firm. Choice is scarce and wanted. Strictly fresh eggs are very scarce and sellers claim to have no trouble in obtaining 25 cents for selects.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 85 cars hay, 8 cars feed, 1 car corn and oats, 1 car oats and rye, 1 car straw, 13 cars oats, 2 cars rye, 1 car corn; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 12 cars hay, 1 car corn; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 27 cars hay, 1 car oats, 1 car rye; Pittsburgh & Western railroad, 19 cars hay, 1 car corn, 1 car oats, 1 car feed, 1 car millfeed; 144 cars hay.

Election Week Influences Also Have Bad Effect on Wall Street Market.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Movements in the stock market today were characterized by the various influences incidental to election week, together with other and perhaps more potent reasons. Sterling exchange reached the highest point in the present movement, some demand bills being sold at $4.87, which is within a quarter of a cent of the figure at which gold can admittedly be exported profitably. Paris exchange on London declined half a cent, while bar gold advanced ¼d in London. The rise in exchange was doubtless in a great measure responsible for the check on stock market operations though the volume of business for the day was not lower than for some days past. Opening prices were lower, the greatest decline being in Louisville & Nashville, which sold off over a point. Less extensive declines were shown by Atchison, Erie & Ohio, Missouri Pacific, St. Paul, Pacific and Reading. Manhattan, feature of last week's pool operations, was a slight fractional decline, and the other tractions were heavy.

Later in the morning fresh selling pressure developed and some of the stocks named went lower. London bought about 10,000 on the decline. The only industrial issue that displayed any activity was United States Steel, the heaviness of which was presumably due to reports of disturbing conditions in the steel and iron industry.

In the final hour a general rallyattack upon the soft coal stocks and St. Paul brought prices to the lowest level of the day. The rally toward the close suggested considerable short covering, as well as a better view of the present situation with the result that a firmer tone was manifested at the end.

Call money was quoted as high as 6 per cent, but most demands were met below that figure. Time money was unchanged and in very light request. The sub-treasury transferred $250,000 to New Orleans.

Prices of bonds were reactionary for the more important issues. Total sales, par value, $1,720,000. United States 3s advanced ½ and the old 4s declined ½ per cent on the last call.

CRACK 30 FEET LONG IN BASIN

Controller Larkin Says a Big Crevice Was Found in New Reservoir.

FILLED UP WITH CEMENT

Controller Larkin is authority for the statement that there was a crack 30 feet long and wide enough to admit a person's hand edgeways in the new Highland reservoir No. 2, which was filled up with cement just before the water was turned into the basin a little over a week ago. Controller Larkin stated yesterday that the crack in the reservoir was only what he expected, and that he would not be surprised if something serious should happen.

"I had a man keeping a watch on the reservoir," said Mr. Larkin, "and he reported that just before the water was let into the basin there was a crack at least 30 feet long and wide enough to put in the edge of a hand. He stated that this crevice was on the side near Negley avenue and extended almost from the top of the reservoir toward the bottom.

Says Job Is "Rotten."

"There was another man with him who saw the crack in the wall and substantiated the statement. What has been discovered is just what I have been expecting all along. Of course, I cannot say much now, as my appeal in the reservoir case has gone to the supreme court, but I have evidence to show that the job is actually rotten."

According to Controller Larkin the crevice discovered on the Negley avenue side of the reservoir has been filled up with cement only. Escaping water would follow the easiest course in gravitating from the reservoir and might travel for 1,000 feet through the interior of the embankment before appearing on the surface, or the flow from the same crevice might issue from a dozen spots in the soil.

This may be the fact in connection with many of the leaks discovered at the new reservoir. The water on the hillsides may come from one leak or it may come from a score of leaks which would be extremely hard to locate, even if the reservoir were drained.

The machine feared that if the reservoir were drained before the election it would lose the ring ticket many votes, and it was decided that the best plan would be to take a desperate chance and postpone an examination until after today's election.

The position of Director McCandless is significant. On Saturday he said that three leaks had been found, and located them. Sunday he gave out a signed statement that the reservoir was perfectly sound and without a single leak. Yesterday he refused to make any statement whatever, for fear of again stultifying himself.

Photographer Was Stoned.

That the machine is desperate and endeavoring to hide the actual condition of the reservoir was shown yesterday by the experience of a photographer from the Gazette, who endeavored to obtain pictures of the water flowing from the reservoir embankments. He proceeded at first to get the lay of the land and establish the locations of the supposed leaks before setting his camera. In making a detour of the reservoir he was greeted by a shower of missiles hurled from the top of the wall.

A large stone struck him on the foot, one passed close to his head and others fell dangerously near. He was making his way through the bushes at the bottom of the embankment in order to get a good view of the streams where they spurt from the ground when, without warning, the assault commenced.

Workmen were on the wall and the rocks were doubtless thrown by persons detailed to drive off inquisitive visitors. The photographer was on public land and outside of the property occupied by the reservoir.

A few minutes later two men came down the embankment and sized him up. One of the men stated that he was the engineer superintending the construction of the basin. He said to the photographer: "You are not the man we were looking for. I thought you were a reporter. If you had been I would have smashed your face." He was accompanied by a gang of Italians, and the photographer congratulated himself on leaving his camera at the park entrance.

After giving this cheerful information the engineer proceeded to explain that the streams, which the photographer had found on the hillsides, did not come from leaks in the basin, but from springs that had been there for years. This statement the photographer disputed, the size of the streams and the condition of the ground showing that the water came from some other source than that claimed by the engineer. The whole hillside was saturated, the water running along beaten foot-paths and over grass and dead leaves.

WILL FORECLOSE MORTGAGE.

Local Window Glass Workers Start Fight on Knights of Labor.

The Window Glass Workers' association, L. A. 300, Knights of Labor, has decided not to send delegates to the general assembly of the order at Niagara Falls, November 11. The announcement was made yesterday by President Simon Burns, in reply to a communication of Henry A. Hicks, general master workman of the order.

The local elected six delegates, but since then General Secretary Hayes has suspended L. A. 300 for non-payment of dues, which bars its delegates from the meeting. President Burns refused to accept the dispensation, and notified the master workman that he will at once take steps to foreclose the mortgage held against the property of the Knights in Washington.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 3.—(Special.)—The suit of the Hallwood Cash Register Company against the National Cash Register Company for $2,296,000 for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law was dismissed in the United States district court today by Judge Thompson.

It was held by the court that the cause of action was insufficient, but the plaintiffs are given the privilege of amending their petition and bringing another action.

COLOMBIAN MINISTER RECEIVES HIS ORDERS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 3.

Colombia has learned that the United States will not endure quibbling over the Panama canal treaty. Minister Concha has been instructed to proceed with the negotiations for the treaty, which he recently delayed because he was displeased at the course of action pursued by Rear Admiral Casey, in command of the naval forces on the isthmus.

Mr. Herran, secretary of the Colombian legation, called at the state department today to learn when Secretary Hay would return to Washington. He was informed that the secretary probably would be at his desk again on Thursday, and this led Mr. Herran to express the hope that the negotiations would be resumed the latter part of this week. He left a note for Mr. Hay.

It is now believed that the negotiations will proceed more smoothly, although at the Colombian legation it is admitted that the Colombian government thinks at least $10,000,000, instead of $7,000,000, should be paid her for her concessions. This may constitute a slight stumbling block, but construction of the canal is such a pressing commercial necessity that a few millions of dollars will not be allowed to block it.

Minister Concha has tendered his resignation to his government. He sent it to Bogota over a month ago, but it was not accepted, and he will, it is generally understood, remain in Washington until the canal negotiations are concluded.

Minister Concha desires to retire. He was disappointed at the non-acceptance of his resignation. Ill-health and a desire to live with his family are the causes of his resignation.

LADRONES MURDER AMERICAN TEACHER

Superintendent of Schools in Philippines Killed, Mutilated and Robbed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

MANILA, Nov. 3.—D. C. Montgomery, superintendent of schools in Oriental Negros, was murdered Friday by ladrones, three miles from Bacoled. Mr. Montgomery was going to Bacoled for a consultation with the retiring superintendent, and to assume control of the division. He had a large sum of money with him. Six natives armed with bolos and spears attacked the superintendent, quickly killed him and then mutilated and robbed him. The constabulary have offered a reward for Mr. Montgomery's murderers, and it is thought they will be captured. Robbery is understood to have been the motive for the crime.

This is the first instance of a teacher in the Philippine islands being harmed while in discharge of his duties. Mr. Montgomery leaves a widow, who is a teacher in the Island of Negros.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Mr. Montgomery was a resident of Lexington, Neb., and sailed for Manila on the transport Thomas, July 23, 1901, with the teachers who were sent out at that time. The war department has received confirmation of the death of Mr. Montgomery.

Hearne May Take Interest.

A rumor which reached the city yesterday that Frank J. Hearne, late president of the National Tube Company, will become largely interested in the Youngstown Iron, Sheet and Tube Company of that city could not be verified. While several of the officials of the National Tube Company in this city had heard of the rumor they stated that they knew nothing in regard to it. "The rumor has probably originated in the fact that the Youngstown plant is at present without a president," remarked one of the National Tube Company officers yesterday.

Negro Confesses Attempting Double Murder and Robbery After Bullet Hits Him.

SALEM, ALA., Nov. 3.—Sam Harris, a negro, entered the home of George Meadows, a planter, today during Mr. Meadows' absence and with an ax struck his wife and 18-year-old daughter on the head, crushing Mrs. Meadows' skull and fracturing that of the daughter. Mrs. Meadows will die.

The negro was placed in custody and held until Miss Meadows had sufficiently recovered to identify him. This she did this afternoon and the negro was taken in charge by about 125 men and his body riddled with bullets.

Harris denied his guilt until the first shot was fired, then confessed. Robbery was the motive.

The Sale of Jardinieres at Half Prices.

Many of those rich Jardinieres found new owners yesterday. They are known as Louwelsa, that handsome pottery so much resembling the famous Rookwood. Although classed as manufacturer's "seconds," people who bought yesterday found their selections perfect, as far as their judgment went. As a matter of fact, it will take a keen eye to note any imperfection whatever, and yet they are sold as "seconds."

Our Great Exhibit of Furs.

We had a frowning sky yesterday and it's just possible we may be on the edge of a real good cold period.

The Fur Coat, madame, that you have discussed pro and con with your husband, might as well be bought now while the variety is at its best. A number of people have already settled this matter and bought here.

You know that a Coat of fine Fur is not to be bought off-handed. We would like you to take time—time to look into the details of each garment that you examine; time to give the quality of the Fur a thorough study.

We have already on several occasions given the full price range of our Fur Coats, Blouses, Sets, Boas and Muffs, and it is now pretty well known that anything and everything that is worthy of Pittsburg women is to be found here.

Any hour of the day we will be pleased to take the matter up with you.

Corduroy in All the New Colors.

Since Velvet and Velveteen came into favor with such a jump, this relative of theirs, Corduroy, is growing immensely popular.

Take a dark blue or pale castor colored Corduroy, make it up into a 7-gored, flared skirt and a blouse or Norfolk jacket—perhaps with a plain velvet collar and cuffs—and you will have one of the prettiest Walking Suits for this Winter.

Do not think blue or castor are the only colors from which to choose—there is about every color shade from black to white.

Plain colored Veluteenas, 75c and $1 up to $2 a yard.
Black Veluteenas, 50c to $2 a yard.

Plain black Velvets, 75c to $7 a yard.

We are selling many lines of fancy Velvets for much less in price than the same qualities are quoted around us.

The Natty Golf Vest.

Naturally the supposition is that these Vests are to be worn only on the green. But they are so pretty and smart that young women have adopted them for general wear.

Our lines are very attractive. There are plain colors as well as contrasting colors. There are single-breasted styles as well as double-breasted. There are trimmings of silk as well as trimmings of brass buttons. Prices range from $1.50 up to $12.

For $2.50 we show a very special Golf Vest in white, black, royal and navy, scarlet and green.

New Silk Waists.

We find very few women coming to this 2d floor department calling for Waists under $5, and a great majority of them want Waists that cost more and are better in every way.

Therefore, our price range on Silk Waists begins at $5 and ends at $75—with a fine list of intermediary prices.

As for styles and designs there is anything that the mind of woman can dictate, from the severely plain tailor-made Waist to the most elaborate and handsome evening Waist from that great center of fashion, Paris.

Every material that enters into the construction of a silk Waist, every color, and every combination of colors.
